Unidentified Woman Sought In Holdup

Allen Jailed For Investigation

ALLEN

Local Man Must Face Charges

When Anthony Wade Allen, 19, took off sometime Friday night, driving a car, without a license he had no idea what he would encounter before he would return to his home, 1104 E. Martin St.

The youngster was picked up about 1:30 Saturday morning, by officers, who decided that the car and its occupants needed to be questioned. Upon stopping the car it was found that Allen did not have a driver's license.

The officers became suspicious when Allen told several different stories about several different things. Perhaps what really got him in a pickle was the fact that there was a new double-barreled Revelation 12-gauge shotgun in the car. Allen was not able to give the officers a good explanation as to why the gun was in the car, but the most damaging part was the fact he could not satisfy the officers as to how the gun got into the car.

Allen was taken to the Wake County jail, where he was confined under $1,000 bond, to await further action by the court, or courts, of Wake County. Upon being arrested the officers decided that he needed some investigation and proceeded to do that. Information led them to believe that he might be the answer to a lot of unsolved crimes in the Raleigh area.

William Henry Powell and Albert Crowder were listed as passengers in the car, driven by Allen, in the early hours of Saturday morning.

Among their demands were that Carvie Oldham, executive director of the authority, and his assistant, Bill Walton, be dismissed from their positions, and that a $65 maximum rental fee be charged all tenants of public housing, regardless of income.

They also asked that a 60- (See STRIKERS, P. 2)

Dignity Added To House Job

In an effort to put dignity into the work of domestic workers, a group of Raleigh citizens have organized to train a number of persons to properly perform the duties attendant to, and to make a position out of the work, instead of a service that is looked down upon, by many.

To this end Domestic Services, Inc., met Wednesday morning in the Employment Security Building, Hargett Street, and outlined plans that are destined to put class in the profession. Domestic Service, Inc. has a board, which is composed of Mesdames Presel Robinson, John Caldwell, Bernard Herman, Watt Huntley, James Boyer and William Jasper. The consultants are Mrs. David Spough and Herman Aldridge.

The program has claimed the attention of Washington to the extent that Mrs. Lois Harper, executive director, National Committee of Household Employment, visited Raleigh this week and counseled with representatives of the new agency, in an effort to implement its work and to give it assistance from the national body, which is composed of 22 volunteer organizations, throughout the country.

The national committee was formed when a commission, appointed by the late President Kennedy, reported such a dismal picture as it related to the status of women. The report showed that there were many unsatisfactory aspects, among them being wage rates, working conditions, lack of standards, inferior training and too little recognition of the services rendered, especially by domestics. It was also (See DOMESTICS, P. 2)

DR. HAWKINS

Hawkins Outlines Campaign

CHARLOTTE - Dr. Reginald Hawkins made up his mind Saturday that he would enter the race for governor of the state, subject to the May primary. He thus joins Bob Scott and J. Melville Broughton for the coveted spot to meet James Gardner or John Stickle in the November general election.

The Charlotte dentist made it clear that he was going into the campaign with his sleeves rolled up and that he would bar no holes, in making the bid for the nomination.

His willingness to tackle the whiskey - by - the drink issue, that has been kicked back and forth since the 1964 campaign is said to have put him in good stead with those who would like to see the matter brought out into the open. Some political dopsters say that there have been politicians who have been throwing bricks and hiding their (See HAWKINS, P. 2)

Robbery Baffles Officers

SHARPSBURG - This little farming town has not had as much excitement for a long time as it had Monday about 1:15 p. m., when it is alleged that a woman, believed to be a Negro, dressed like a man, scooped up $14,050, tied up two bank tellers and escaped.

Officers are not too sure, even of the accused person's sex, due to the fact that the job did not appear as that of a novice. Even after the robbery was said to have been over, it was not determined definitely whether the person who held up the bank, got lost in the street, or left the scene in a get-away car.

Persons who theorized that statement of the two victims that they heard the robber say "Charlie get the car ready" are not too sure where, nor which way the robber went.

It becomes more complicated to investigating officers, due to the fact the alleged robber is said to have worn a nylon stocking over her face and had on a checkered cap, a leather jacket and long pants.

The reported movements of the person, who alleged to have packed a gun, aroused much interest. The fact that a Mrs. Crossman, one of the employees, was able to detect that she was in trouble the minute the robber is supposed to have entered the bank, projects the thinking that the job was well planned.

The fact that the robber demanded that all the doors be locked and then tied the two women up in the bank and fled, adds to the dilemma. It was not reported how the woman got out of the bank, after tying the two bank women up. It is thought that most bank doors must be opened with a key and the report does not say anything about the unlocking of the door and does not say whether (See HOLDUP, P. 2)

W. Anderson Fished Out

Officers are still trying to determine how William H. Anderson, 43, 533 E. Edenton Street, met his death in 8-10" of water, Friday night or Saturday morning, in a branch back of the house, in which he lived.

Two persons, said to have been with him Friday night were interviewed by police, in an attempt to ascertain what happened. Police reported that John Ivory Clark, 209 Heck St., and John Lee Anderson, a brother of the dead man, also of the Heck St. address (See ANDERSON, P. 2)

23 Million To Be Spent To Aid Neighborhoods

WASHINGTON - The heads of 4 Federal agencies have announced approval of $23,737,419 to launch an intensive Neighborhood Services Program for residents of poverty areas in 11 cities.

The cooperative effort is being undertaken in response to President Johnson's call for establishing "in every ghetto in America" a neighborhood center "to service the people who live there."

Boston, Chattanooga, Chicago, Cincinnati, Dallas, Detroit, Louisville, Minneapolis, Philadelphia, St. Louis and Washington, D. C., are the first 14 cities that will receive the Federal funds.

Approval for the remaining cities in the pilot demonstration program -- Jacksonville, N. Y. and Oakland -- is expected within the next month.

The heads of the agencies involved in the interagency cooperative effort are: (See NEIGHBORHOOD, P. 2)

King Plans For 3000 In March

ATLANTA - Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said today his "massive civil disobedience" campaign in Washington would begin during the first week of April with a corps of 3,000 trained demonstrators.

King said he dispatched about 30 veteran civil rights workers, most of them Negroes, to nine cities and six states to recruit the 3,000 "initial demonstrators."

King refused to disclose the specific targets on march routes in the Washington campaign. He said they probably will not be revealed until the campaign begins.

King's recruiters went to Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Newark, New York, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, the Carolinas and Virginia.

"This campaign will be non-violently conceived and non-violently executed," King insisted. He denied reports that he had told former Congressman Adam Clayton Powell that he had given up the non-violent approach to civil rights.

Five Fire Victims Buried In 2 Graves

ZEBULON - Tuesday could easily be termed "fire day" in the area around Wakefield as the memories of the funeral of five fire victims linger, which was held in Wakefield Baptist Church, at 3 p. m.

Five caskets, telling the story of the ravages of an early Sunday morning fire, in silence, containing the bodies of 92-yr.-old, Mrs. Callie Parks; Aulinda Kay Parks, 8; Angela Michelle Parks, 7; Lisa Diane Parks, 1-yr. 11-months and Barbara Parks, 8, were lined in the front of the church. Rev. A. M. Wiggins conducted the funeral, while members of the family and the community stared at the mute evidence of the results of a fire, that got out of hand. (See GRAVES, P. 2)

Raleigh Investigating Fires

Assistant Fire Chief A. C. Puryear told the CAROLINIAN Tuesday that at no time has he told anyone that arson attended the three fires that have occurred at 117 N. Swain Street, in less than one month. The second in command of Raleigh's fire fighters said that the fires like all occurring in the Raleigh area, are being investigated for two reasons. The first one to ascertain the causes so as to try to prevent recurrence and the second to keep a record to see what improvement has been made in fire prevention. It was his thinking that such record enabled those in charge of the program to make better headway against the flaming monster.

The interview revealed that (See INVESTIGATING, P. 2)

Kinston Fire Razed 2 Homes

KINSTON - Death by fire began Wednesday, in eastern North Carolina when two sisters died without being touched by flames. The story of this death taking fire tells how Mesdames Phenia Murphy and Mary C. King, died in an early morning fire in their home.

The two elderly sisters, both in their sixties, are said to have suffocated. Firemen, who attended the fire, said they found one of the sisters sitting on the side of the bed and the other was crumpled near the bedroom door.

On Tuesday morning, Jan. 16, fire continued to sweep through eastern North Carolina and down at Conway, in Northampton County, took the lives of four more children.

The sheriff of Northampton County, in a telephone interview with the CAROLINIAN, in describing the fire said "The house, like most of the colored homes, in this area, whose walls (See RAZED, P. 2)

Apex Fire Claims 2 Sisters

APEX - Two Apex area homes were burned by fire recently. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus H. Jones, Rt. 1, was completely destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon.

There were seven children in the house when the fire broke out. They all escaped unharmed. Most of the household furnishings were saved. The cause of the fire was not determined.

Fire struck again Monday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alus Richardson, Apex, doing considerable damage to the house and contents. Most of the damage was attributed to smoke and water.

There were two children, but they were able to get out of the house, without suffering any injury. The fire is said to have been caused by faulty wiring.

$220 Available In Sweepstakes

Certainly there is a need to look at your Sweepstakes ticket this week. There is $220 in the pot and your chances of winning is far better than even. All one has to do is to go into one of the stores participating in Sweepstakes and get one ticket. The merchant will be happy to give you the ticket, after you have visited the store.

There is no doubt that Sweepstakes is the craze of the Raleigh community. Merchants report that many customers come back again and again during the week. It is not necessary to get but one ticket, from a store, during a given week. Persons who have more than one ticket, from a given store, forfeit their right to win. It should also be kept in mind that those who go into the stores and pick up their tickets are also jeopardizing their chances of winning.

The rules are simple and can be easily complied with. When you shall have completed your visit in one of the stores, shown on the Sweepstakes page, ask the clerk for a ticket. Compare the number on the ticket with the ones shown above. If you have either one of those you are a winner.

There was only one winner (See SWEEPSTAKES, P. 2)
