

WORLD PAYS HOMAGE TO DR. M. L. KING, JR.

☆☆☆☆ ☆☆☆☆ ☆☆☆☆ ☆☆☆☆ ☆☆☆☆ ☆☆☆☆ ☆☆☆☆ ☆☆☆☆

Died That America Might Live More Abundantly

Entire Universe Stops To Bid King Farewell

By STAFF CORRESPONDENT
 ATLANTA, Ga.—Auburn Avenue (Tuesday) 10:00 A.M. The crowd thronged the street since early morning and not since the body of John Wesley Dobbs was brought through "Sweet Old Auburn Avenue" has there been such a demonstration of respect for an Atlanta citizen. (See WORLD PAGE 2)

THE CAROLINIAN

North Carolina's Leading Weekly
 VOL. 27, NO. 20 RALEIGH, N. C., SATURDAY, APRIL 13, 1968 PRICE 15c

Raleigh Suffers Jolt Of Assassination

Curfew Lifted By Mayor

Mayor Travis Tomlinson took some of the tension off of Raleigh Wednesday when he said there would be no curfew Wednesday night unless a new situation arose. This meant that not since last Thursday night have Raleigh people been able to go where they wanted and do what they wanted to do, at night.

The matter of further use of the National Guard had not been determined and also the opening of ABC Stores. Governor Moore received pressure from perhaps three groups, urging him to remove the troops. The greatest pressure for opening of the liquor stores have come from Jewish rabbis, who say wine is highly essential to a fast-approaching religious observance. Governor Moore's office told the CAROLINIAN he would make a press announcement at 2 p. m., but would not give an inkling as to what he would deal with.

As Raleigh settled down Wednesday morning to make a survey of the real intangible losses the community has suffered since Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., fell mortally wounded at a Memphis, Tenn. Motel last Thursday evening the economy-minded and the business-conscious people have little consolation.

The burning and looting, in (See RALEIGH, P. 2)

WHAT PRICE FREEDOM?

Not by might, but by My power, saith the Lord, portrays the life of Martin Luther King more than anyone since the advent of Jesus Christ. Martin Luther King was the symbol of this biblical saying.

He leaves a rich heritage for those of us who are left behind, "Love your enemies and do good to those who despitefully use you". It is our belief that were King permitted to pass sentence on the man who aimed his sight on him, at the Lorraine Motel last Thursday, he would say, "Leave him go free for he knows not what he doeth".

Martin Luther King represented the very height of concern over underprivileged people. He paid the supreme penalty for this cause. He was able to face his adversaries and not hate. He was able to say to his followers the battle for freedom cannot be won with violence, but with love and compassion. He was able to ask God to help those who despised him.

It is a travesty on the lipped-philosophy of the American way of life that all men are created equal, that Martin Luther King had to die to focus attention on the unfair treatment that has attended the Negro and poor whites. In the fight, Martin Luther King stuck steadfastly to the credo that men who fight with the sword will die by the sword.

Less than 2000 years ago Jesus Christ was crucified for teaching non-violence. A little better than 100 years ago Abraham Lincoln was assassinated for lifting manual bondage from 3 million slaves. Almost four years ago John F. Kennedy was assassinated for lending aid to the impovish- (See WHAT PRICE, P. 2)

Shaw Host To CUBS April 20-24

"We (Negroes) have contributed massively to helping our nation become the most powerful and influential nation on earth. We have answered every call to bear arms in defense of liberties we never had, and we have sacrificed around the world to preserve a democracy we never enjoyed." Shaw University President James E. Cheek, told a press conference here Friday morning in announcing the first national Congress for the Unity of Black Students (CUBS), which will convene on the Shaw Campus April 20-24.

Dr. Cheek told the newsmen, "A Year ago when the outbreak of violence began on the campuses of predominantly Negro colleges, I began discussing with a group of Shaw students the necessity for the students of these institutions to come together to evaluate discuss and review the issues and questions involved in the struggle of the Negro to achieve full equality as American citizens."

The Shaw President went on to say, "Our discussions led us to the consideration of the possibility that Shaw University students might call a national conference of Negro students for this purpose with the hope that the foundation might be laid for the creation and establishment of a Black student movement." (See SHAW HOST, P. 2)

Story Of Compassion Exemplified By Leader

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The relentless efforts of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., to convince America that freedom could be achieved through non-violence paid off in rich dividends Tuesday.

It seemed that all the world stopped to let King get off, in a glaze of glory, believed to be the greatest ever afforded a martyr, at his death.

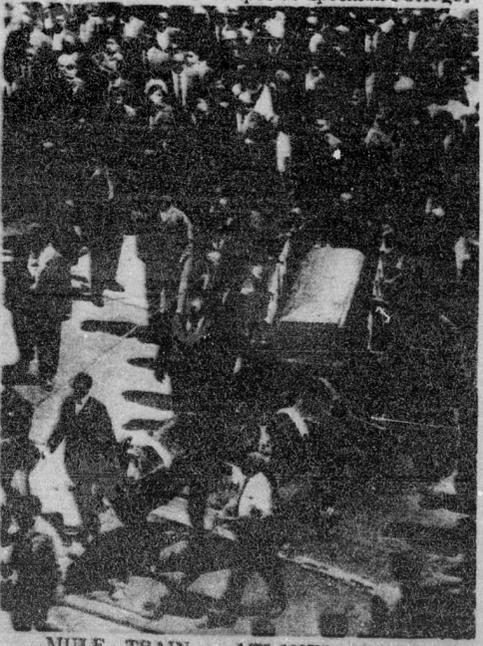

(See SHAW HOST, P. 2)

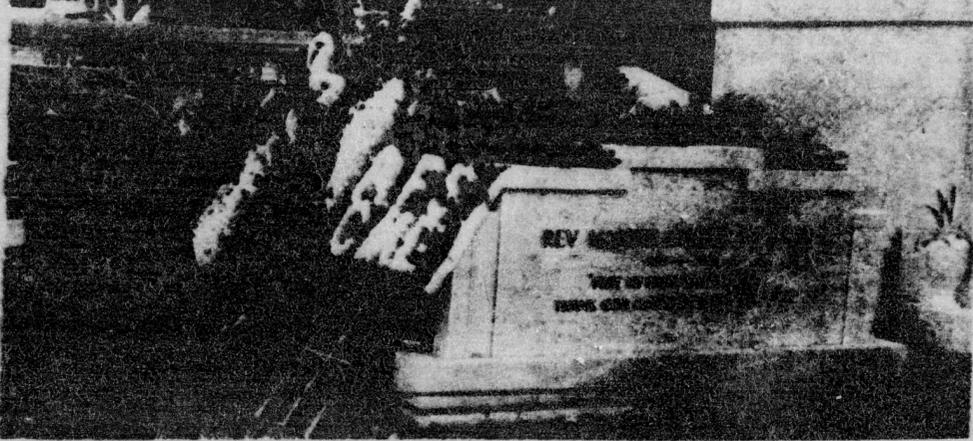

JUST BEFORE - MEMPHIS, Tenn.: Caught in a somber mood, Dr. Martin Luther King addresses some 2,000 people April 3 night on the eve of his death.

GETS CLOSE LOOK - ATLANTA: Rev. Hosea Williams, one of Dr. Martin Luther King's chief aides in his civil rights battles, bends over to get a close look at Dr. King's body as it lay in state at Sister's Chapel at Spelman College.

MULE TRAIN - ATLANTA: Mule-drawn caisson carrying the casket of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., is followed by dignitaries and aides as it moves toward the campus of Morehead College for a memorial service.

FREE AT LAST - ATLANTA: Cemetery workers etch the final words on the vault of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., April 8. A marble company executive said that a burial vault such as this would normally take 90-days to complete....this one has taken less than two days.

GRIEF STRICKEN - ATLANTA: Flowers, covering the tomb of fallen civil rights leader, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., fill the foreground as his father (l), Rev. Martin Luther King Sr., and mother (c) hold back tears. Dr. King's brother, A. D. King (r) weeps uncontrollably as the casket is placed inside the tomb.

IN FIRST STATEMENT - Mrs. King reads a prepared statement April 6 at a news conference. In her first public statement since her husband's assassination, Mrs. King issued a plea for his supporters to cling to the precept of non-violence.

READS STATEMENT - Mrs. Martin Luther King, Jr. reads a prepared statement as she sits beneath the pulpit of her late husband's pastorate, the Ebenezer Baptist Church.

ENROUTE TO PRIVATE FUNERAL - Mrs. King leaves her home April 9 in a heavy veil enroute to attend private funeral services for her husband.