He is the first Negro ever to run for governor of North Carolina. Julian Bond, member of the Georgia State Legislature, who keyed the meet Saturday. It is to be remembered that Bond was refused seating, following his first election, but won the battle, through the courts. He is serving his second term. Ron Karenga, founder-leader of "US" Los Angeles based black movements, says he is telling them "Like It

"TIS." He spelled out Black Power in all its ramifications. His address is said to have been misinterpreted by some. Le-Roi Jones, nationally known black power advocate, is addressing a Monday workshop. On the left look on as Willie Jones, right, greets Dr. Nathan Wright, after he had spoken to a Sunday morning audience, in the gymnasium. Jones is president of the Shaw University Student Council. The last picture shows Lucius Walker, a graduate of Shaw and who also served as the president of the Student Council, while at the Baptist college. Dr. Hawkins Says

"Not Madness, Smartness Don't Squawk, Vote Hawk"

Dr. Reginald Hawkins, Charlotte minister-dentist and the first black man to seek the governorship of North Carolina since the turn of the century, told delegates to the Congress for the Unity of Black Students, now convening at Shaw University, "This is one of the greatest occasions to be taking place at this time. This conference is an asset to North Carolina and the world as a whole."

The C. C. Spaulding Gymnasium was the scene of the (See DR. HAWKINS, P. 8)

Dr. Cheek Says
"Struggle For Rights Just Now Beginning"

Shaw University President, Dr. James E. Cheek, in officially opening the first Congress for the Unity of Black Students Saturday, April 20, at 2 p. m., informed the delegates from institutions all over the country, and the press: "No other generation of young black Americans has borne so heavily the responsibilities and duties of achieving the freedom and the equality of which our forefathers dreamed" than you.

"But they left a legacy. And that legacy has been uttered (See DR. CHEEK, P. 8)

Dr. Wright Says
Black Power Is Not Anti-White At All"

"Black power is not anti-white. If you're born white, it's simply natural that you act white. But we as black people must not take being knocked down lightly every time. We sometimes have to make our own power known." Declaring that Aristotle was the first man to talk about Black Power, Dr. Nathan Wright, speaking at the General Religious Convocation (Religious Unity) Sunday, April 21, at 11 a. m. in Spaulding Gymnasium, added, without power, there is no life worthy (See DR. WRIGHT, P. 8)

FSC Defies Threat Of Extremists

FAYETTEVILLE - The 91st celebration of Fayetteville State College Founders Day went off on schedule Sunday even though it had been announced that there might be trouble from the Black Power boys. It was reported that there would be trouble and this was evident in view of the fact very few of the students were in attendance.

There was information that the seniors had been instructed that they better not attend certain proponents of Black Power had announced that they would take over the front doors

Racial Tensions Flare Here

According to a complaint filed by William Hunter Cooper, Jr., 19, 2131 Gilliam Ln., there was a show of tempers at a Charcoal Broiler Restaurant, which the records have listed as being located on Hillsboro St., when he entered the place at 1:21 a. m. Sunday.

The report shows that Cooper spotted an empty seat next to a white girl and he approached her and asked if the seat was taken. The report states that the girl (whose name did not appear in the report) replied that the seat was taken and she proceeded to put her hand on the seat.

Spencer Balthus, whose address was shown as 109 S. Hall, Shaw University, told Cooper the seat was not occupied and that it had not been for 4 or 5 minutes. The report further shows that Cooper ap- (See BALTHUS, P. 2)

22-Caliber Gun Used In Suicide

The body of Mack William Akins, 44, well-known Raleigh mail carrier and citizen, was found in his car, a 1953 Chevrolet, in the 300 block of Parrish Street Friday morning and investigated by Officer, O. C. Pratt, opined that he died as the result of a shot, inflicted by himself, about 1 a. m., the same morning.

Dearl Joseph Webster told the officer that he passed the car early that morning, after closing his place of business and recognized it as being that of Akins. On his way back to work he noticed the car had not been moved and he decided to investigate. When he went to the car he saw Akins and called police. The police found a 22-caliber pistol beside Akins and a bullet hole in his head. (See MURKIN, P. 2)

King's Date Holds Good For Protest

ATLANTA - Dr. Martin Luther King's timetable for the Poor People's Campaign will be followed after all. Initially, it was planned to delay the campaign's start by two weeks. However, SCLC leaders have decided, instead, to hold the drive on April 29 - the date Dr. King selected.

During the campaign, SCLC officials and scores of others will call on Congressmen and government officials to discuss their demands that poverty be eased and racism ended.

A memorial march from Memphis to Washington has been added to the agenda, according to Dr. Ralph D. Abernathy, who succeeded Dr. King as SCLC president.

The march will tee off May 2 from the Lorraine motel, where Dr. King was assassinated last April 4. Marchers expect to reach the capital late in May after linking up with other demonstrators along the route.

Thus, the nation is in for a considerable period of protest this spring -- which is likely to spur anti-poverty measures or end in rioting, as one of the Memphis demonstrators did. What would come of the protests depends largely on what control is maintained by SCLC over them.

Bayard Rustin, who earlier criticized the D. C. campaign now see hope that the demonstrations will accomplish their purpose. Believing that Dr. King's death may cause a re-evaluation of how the marches are being carried out, Rustin says he'll probably take part in them.

Chapel Hill Nearing Open Housing

CHAPEL HILL - Persons who know this town were not surprised in the least that it would come up with a housing law that would even dwarf the federal law. When the Board of Aldermen announced that it would come into effect in approximately two weeks there was no drum beating or acts of grandeur shown.

Towns people have long since lived in an open housing atmosphere. Open housing, like many other changes brought on by integration, has been the practice instead of the exception, for sometime.

Violation of the ordinance constitutes a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of up to $50 or 30 days in jail, at the discretion of the judge of the recorder's court. The initiative for bringing a complaint is with the person who claims to be the victim of discrimination.

The ordinance provides that "No owner of real property shall discriminate against any other person because of religion, race, color, or national origin or ancestry of other such person" in the "sale or rental of or dealings concerning real property located within the town of Chapel Hill. The law exempts the rental of a room or rooms to three or fewer persons in a single dwelling unit, if the remainder of the unit is occupied by the owner or member of his immediate family, or a person leasing the entire unit.

The law does not require an owner to offer his property to the public at large before selling it or renting it. If the property is offered to the public in any way, however, the owner is subject to the ordinance.

WEATHER

Temperatures during the period Thursday through Monday will average near normal. Daytime highs are expected to average in the 70s in the mountains and from 75 to 85 elsewhere. Nighttime lows are expected to average in the 50s, except for 50 in the mountains. Cooler weather Thursday followed by warm weather following Friday and continuing through most of the weekend. Precipitation will total up to 1/2 an inch according to scattered showers or thunder showers about Sunday. Normal high and low for the period 25 and 52.

Dr. Abernathy Challenges

Dr. Abernathy challenges the new SCLC leader challenged white America to honor Dr. King by liberating black Americans, and all the poor, black and white. But regardless of what whites do, SCLC's freedom battle will continue, he intimated. "We are pledged to continue our fight for the liberation of all oppressed peoples - even more ardently than in the past," he said. "What does this struggle amount to? According to the Rev. C. T. Vivian, an aide to the late Dr. King, SCLC plans to raise millions of dollars to carry on the civil rights battle." (See CHALLENGE, P. 2)

Don't Let Assassination Turn Freedom Struggle Around

ATLANTA - The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy is a man with a heavy burden on his shoulders. Carrying on the work of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., he has the challenge of keeping the freedom struggle strong and healthy, without letting it turn into an interracial brawl, on the one hand, or allowing it to fade away, on the other. Can this be done, without Dr. King as SCLC president? Dr. Abernathy believes so. In fact, he wants the organization to be "more militant than ever," going so far, if necessary, to endorse political candidates. "If we find a (Presidential) candidate who will address himself to the issues and come forward with a program, we are going to give him our support," said Dr. Abernathy. The new SCLC leader challenged white America to honor Dr. King by liberating black Americans, and all the poor, black and white. But regardless of what whites do, SCLC's freedom battle will continue, he intimated. "We are pledged to continue our fight for the liberation of all oppressed peoples - even more ardently than in the past," he said. "What does this struggle amount to? According to the Rev. C. T.
