Economic Growth

NEW YORK - All over country, black people are taking steps to improve their economic conditions through their own sweat and blood.

Their goal is, not to get something for nothing, but to get their own, without having to ask someone else for it. One such effort was made in New York, where the NAACP presented a $75,000 check to Jackie Robinson, board chairman, Harlem's Freedom National Bank.

According to NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins, the organization has been making deposits in Negro owned banks and savings and loan associations.

Among the present repositories of NAACP funds are financial institutions located (See BLACKS SEEK, P. 2)

HUD Helps Non-White Businessmen

WASHINGTON, D. C. - With help and encouragement from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, a number of leading non-white businessmen in five southeastern states have taken advantage of urban renewal developments.

Seven southeastern cities with urban renewal programs have obtained non-white sponsors for a variety of projects ranging from complete shopping centers to multi-story office buildings. While some of the projects are in the planning stage, others have already been completed. The cities involved include Greensboro, Winston-Salem and Durham in North Carolina; Tampa, Fla.; Atlanta, Ga.; Mobile, Ala.;

(See MUD MELPS, P. 2) WEATHER

Temperatures during the period, Thursday through Monday, will average below normal, except for near normal here and along the coast. bond in the Franklin County Jail Sunday was Johnny H. Hartsfield, 33, who went on a shooting spree, killed one man and wounded two other persons. The murder and shootings took place Saturday night.

Police Chief Earl Tharrington said Monday that Hartsfield, who lives at Rt. 1, Louisburg, also faces two counts of assault with intent to kill.

He was charged in the murder of Willie Pate Thomas, his 42-year-old brother - in-law, who died instantly. Wounded were Mrs. Margaret Williams, 35, and Otis Williams, Il, both of Louisburg. Both were shot in the leg. The bullets passed completely through, however, and both the women and boy were treated at Franklin Memorial Hospital here and releas-

The Harris Elementary School area on Highway 98 was the scene of Hartsfield's arrest after Chief Tharrington and Sheriff William Dement reportedly received a tip and following an intensive search for the suspect. Hartsfield was driving away from a service station when the arrest was made, the officers declared.

The alleged killer is said to have gone to a nearby night spot, looking for a Miss Carrie Joyner, 42, who earlier was alleged to have stabbed Hartsfield's 31-year-old brother, Winzell Hartsfield.

The elder Hartsfield is said to have gone from the night spot to his car, removed an automatic .22 calibre rifle from the trunk, aimed the rifle in the direction of the Joyner woman's home and let loose with a barrage of 15 rounds of gun-is John Cobb, shown at right in front of some of his followers. On Wednesday morning, Cobb met with city officials and said the men had agreed to a salary increase proposed Tuesday. The workers are expected to return to their jobs by the weekend.

Although Fewer Men In 1955, Strike Effective

The current three-day-old strike by the city's garbagemen and street workers brings to mind a situation which occurred in the Spring, thirteen years ago, when some 45 to 50 garbage collectors, staged a 12-day strike here. At that time - in 1955- the workers also sought a raise in pay. They were averaging below $50 per week minimum salaries,

After negotiations with ci fathers, the pay scale for the the present leader, John Cobb collectors was raised some $10 father of eleven children and a per week for the beginning garbage collectors.

Holding meetings at the Bloodworth Street Young Men's Christian Association, the collectors were advised by the late Rev. George A. Fisher, then rector of St. Ambrose Episcopal Church, when it was located on S. Wilmington St. In the 1955 strikes there were no demonstrations. Tuesday morning, more than 100 workers marched on City Hall. All were colored. All of the striking men were solidly behind the 1955 strike leader, Ira Sinclair, as they city truck driver. Mr. Cobb has been with the city for some 15 years. Sinclair, who left the city's employ shortly after the strike was over, is not employed in Clayton.

In the 1955 strike, the workers won part of their objectives - a pay raise and decent body gear for bad weather. At a meeting with city officials early Wednesday, Mi Cobb said his followers had agreed to accept the wages ofered earlier by the city's Wage Review Board. "Salary is no longer an object," Cobb stated. (See STRIKE RECALLS, P. 2)

Barnes, general chairman of the Membership Committee, Durham Branch, NAACP. chargedthis week that the white pastors of the city and the white lawyers missed a glorious opportunity to set up the kind of line of communication that would have avoided much of the recent racial misunderstanding in Durham.

The charge was made as the 1968 membership drive tion, which Barnes termed the most successful group in the field of race relations and human rights, in America. He attributed this statement to the fact that the NAACP had been able to get things done without violence and bloodshed. Barnes displayed copies of letters that he sent to the white pastors and the white lawyers, in which he sought their membership in the or-(See BLASTS WHITE, P. 2)

Similar in nature to studies undertaken by the Council is 1964 and 1966, this survey is a compilation of questionaires completed by all State agencies listing male and female Negro employees by job title. This survey reveals that both the number and the rate of Negro employment has in creased since the 1966 survey Some 1,500 new non-white emplovees have found employ ment with the State in the last two years, representing a dramatically improved new hire rate of 28 plus percent.

Where are these Negromen and women employed? Only 3 out of every 8 Negro employees is in a predominantly Negro institution, whereas one-half of all Negroes were similarly situated in 1966. As in 1964 and 1966 more than 80% of the Negro employees are concentrated in the areas of education, and health and hospitals. Twenty -seven of the fifty-seven non-education or health connected agencies had no Negro employees. Most of these were small. however, and only 2.4% of all State employees worked in allwhite offices Thenine largest non-education or health connected agencies employed
