

Durham To Stage 2 Parades

Blacks And Whites To Sts. Friday

DURHAM - Come 9 a. m. Friday, Nov. 29, this tobacco town will witness another "first" in strained race relations when the Black Solidarity Committee will form a parade at the Fayetteville Street Branch of the Mechanics & Farmers Bank, which has been dubbed the "Black Parade" and the Durham Merchants Association will form its "White Parade."

The Black Parade will follow the line to the Negro populace that lives across the railroad tracks. It will move along Fayetteville Street to Fowler Ave. back into the new Fayetteville Street and continue to Durham Business College. This is reported to be about one mile. The "White Parade" is expected to follow the traditional route, beginning at Sears-Roebuck's parking lot and continue through Main Street to Five Points.

The Black Parade will not feature any bands, but according to Ben Ruffin, executive director, United Organizations for Community Improvement, it will feature a bevy of beautiful black women, who are expected to ride in cars.

It was first announced that bands from Hillside and Whitted Schools would show their wares, along with the fast-stepping majorettes and members of the famed North Carolina College Marching Band. An announcement, made Monday, revealed that neither of the bands would take part in either parade.

The Black Parade is another of the protest demonstrations that have been going on here for 18 weeks. The purpose of the parade is to keep black people from going down town and even being tempted to go into the stores that have been the object of the protest.

It was reported that many of the Durham people brought their children to Raleigh Monday night to see the Raleigh parade. Scores of Durham people are seen in Raleigh stores daily. This is expected to continue until after the Christmas holidays.

There is also another aspect that is gaining in momentum. There are those, especially members of the clergy, who are calling attention to the fact that Christ has been taken out of Christmas, and even though it is said to be the celebration that marks His advent, the true spirit has been replaced by a selling spree and a season of merriment, instead of spiritual observance of the coming of the Christ.

NAMED UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT - Dr. Walter C. Daniel, director of the Division of Humanities at A&T State University, has been named president of Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Mo. He will assume the post next July 1.

WEATHER REPORT
Temperatures during the period, Thursday through Monday, will average near normal. Daytime highs will be 48 to 54 in the mountains, 53-61 elsewhere, except 60-61 degrees along the southeastern North Carolina and eastern South Carolina coasts. Lows at night will be 26-32 in the mountains, 30-41 elsewhere, except 32-48 along the coast. A warming trend is expected early in the period with cooler weather prevailing over the weekend. Precipitation will total about one-half inch, with locally heavier amounts, occurring as showers and occasional rain Thursday, Friday and again early next week.

Ambassador From Ghana Talks Here

"The view of the past stems from a deliberate distortion of history and a flagrant suppression of part of it," the Ghana ambassador to the U. S. said in Raleigh Saturday, Nov. 23. E. M. Debrah spoke at the Afro-American Festival, a week long program at St. Augustine's College which concluded Saturday.

"Men inhabiting the African continent," Debrah said, "evolved a civilization more brilliant and more vital than any to be found within miles of Rome or Constantinople; they advanced learning, they made contributions to science and literature."

"On the subject of Africa's natural resources, the ambassador said, 'What we are asking the world to do is to help us exploit this wealth. If the United States does not feel inclined to accept our invitation, to help develop this wealth for our mutual advantage, then the

Man, 60, Is Burned To Death

The life of McKinley M. Lucas, 60-year-old Raleigh resident, ended violently early Sunday morning when his burned body was discovered amid the ashes of what once had been his bedroom at 1110 Holmes St. (formerly S. Hayward).

A 16-year-old occupant of the same house, Miss Joanne Alston, was burned and cut after jumping through a window to escape the flames. At Wake Memorial Hospital, a spokesman said the girl suffered second and third degree burns on her body. Her condition at CAROLINIAN press time was described as fair.

Assistant Fire Chief C. R. Puryear told a CAROLINIAN newsman early Wednesday morning that, "I actually don't think the fire started in Mr. Lucas' room. It appeared to have started in the dining room or hall, because the flames were all up against his door." He also said the man could have been trying to get out of Lucas' room. Is The Black Church Aim Of Militants Now?

GREENSBORO - Will the Negro church be the next target of the black power militants? Negro author Louis Lomax hinted this action in an address last Sunday at A&T State University.

"I am sick and tired of seeing only pictures of persons with blonde hair and blue eyes, even in the Bible," said Lomax. Perhaps it is time for us to save the black church if they can't give us a religion we can relate to."

Lomax said he has just returned from a trip to the Holy Land. "From what I saw

Girl, 15, Murdered In Durham

DURHAM - Teenagers screamed, relatives cried and sighed here Tuesday afternoon at Mt. Calvary United Church of Christ, as the minister delivered the final rites for 15-year-old Miss Yvonne Baker, who was found murdered in the back of the Whitted School playground.

The com- MISS BAKER munity in and around the 200 block of Dunston St., crowded to the area about 1:15 p. m. Saturday when an unidentified woman is reported that the girl's body was lying in a ditch, near a path that led through a thicket to the back of Whitted Junior High School, located on Umstead St.

It was not long before scores of officers arrived on the scene

PROTEST ECHOES - Columbia, S. C.: Students from South Carolina State College in Orangeburg, S. C. with fist raised marched around the State Highway Department building across from the state house Nov. 25 chanting "Justice" and "Black Power." More than 100 students staged the protest march protesting the slaying of three Negroes at Orangeburg last Feb. 8th in a clash with Highway Patrolmen. (UPI PHOTO).

Dr. Dowdy A 'First' In Position

GREENSBORO - Five administrators of A&T State University have been elected to commissions of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges.

At the annual meeting in Washington, D. C., Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy president of A&T, was elected secretary of the Council of Presidents, a group composed of the chief executives from 99 major state universities and land-grant institutions in the United States and Puerto Rico.

Dr. Dowdy will serve one year as secretary of the group, then become the first Negro ever to serve as president of the body.

Elected to the executive committee of the Council of Academic Deans was Dr. Glenn F. Rankin, dean of academic affairs at A&T. He was also named a delegate to the Senate of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges.

GETS BRIEFING - Swan Quarter: The president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, Rev. Ralph Abernathy (L) gets a briefing from his North Carolina coordinator, Golden Frinks during a visit here last night. Abernathy, who was scheduled to lead a protest march in support of local Negroes in their dispute with authorities over school integration, complained of a virus infection and is scheduled to be examined by doctors in nearby Washington, N. C. later today (Nov. 27). Speculation is that Abernathy will return to Atlanta without participating in the march. (UPI PHOTO).

Rev. Abernathy Comes To Town, Warns NC Officials

SWAN QUARTER - The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy arrived here Tuesday night and promised to intensify the drive and demonstrations here "until we get all of what we are entitled to. He made the statement as he addressed approximately 600 persons, mostly Negroes and white newsmen.

The president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), since the April 4 assassination of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Abernathy said, "Let us stand as one people and tell the pharaoh of North Carolina in one loud voice that we are sick and

SCEF Blasts J. Edgar Hoover

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. - The Southern Conference Educational Fund (SCEF) has taken J. Edgar Hoover to task for saying that "justice is merely incidental to law and order."

The FBI chief was criticized at the fall board meeting of SCEF, an interracial group working to end poverty, racial discrimination, and other injustices in the South. It has about 5,000 members in the South and an equal number of supporters in the North.

The board declared: "With this statement, Mr. Hoover has put the seal of approval on the current frightening trend toward silencing dissent by force and violence.

"It is this attitude which has alienated the races and made armed camps of our national political conventions. The need, real or imagined, for law and order must not continue to be used as a pretext for the suppression of demands for peace and justice."

The Rev. Fred Shuttlesworth, SCEF president, said the board

GIRLFRIEND USES STICK
Willie Lee Short, 28, told Officer W. A. Hall at 3:31 p. m. Saturday, that he and several other males and females were at 702 E. Hargett Street drinking whiskey about 10 a. m. He said that about 1 p. m. he started to leave the room when he was "conked" twice over the head with a stick by his girlfriend.

He was treated and released at Wake Memorial Hospital and advised to sign an assault and battery warrant against Miss Mary Frances McRay, 36, 319 E. Martin, the alleged girlfriend.

ROY NORWOOD CHOKED
Roy Hayward Norwood, G-9 Washington Terrace, informed two cops at 12:17 a. m. Thursday, that he got out of his car in the 800 block of S. Bloodworth St., and while turning to close the door, he was grabbed from behind by an unidentified man who squeezed him around the neck with his hands.

Norwood said he managed to get away, but suffered a scratch on the back of the neck and exhibited an injured little finger on the right hand.
