

STUDENTS DEMONSTRATE - Raleigh: Several hundred young Negroes march towards the District Court at the Municipal Auditorium January 31 to protest a death sentence given a 17-year-old girl and to demonstrate at a hearing of a white man accused of killing a Negro. No incidents and no arrests were reported. (UPI).

Fund For Kitchens Started

For the purpose of giving some relief to the family of the late George Edward Kitchen, 30-year-old insurance man and former school teacher, who was shot to death here late in January, friends of the family and "just plain concerned and interested citizens" have established "The Kitchen Fund."

A committee was set up this week, consisting of the following members: M. Grant Batey, Sr., James E. Cheek, Romallus O. Murphy, J. J. Sanson, Jr., Harold Webb and Mrs. J. Owen White.

These persons, along with the (See KITCHEN, P. 2)

MOUNT AIRY - Fifty degree murder charges were filed here Tuesday morning against four young Negro men in the Monday night pistol murders of two police officers of Pilot Mountain, near here, according to information released by Jim Taylor, sheriff of Surry County.

Sheriff Taylor also said he would transfer the men sometime Tuesday from the Winston-Salem jail to the Surry County Jail here.

Charged are Charles Edward Monroe, 20, his brother James Arthur Monroe, 21, Lankie Sanders, 20, and his older brother Perry Sanders, 21, all of Sanford.

Arrest of these four came about midnight Monday, about an hour after the bodies of the officers were found near their patrol car on U.S. 52 one mile from Pilot Mountain's main street.

The officers were Gleen Branscome, 47, the father of three children, and 60-year-old Ralph East, the father of five children. Both were veteran lawmen.

Between 9:30 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. two Forsyth County service stations were robbed-one of them in Winston-Salem, the other in Rural Hall.

In the Rural Hall robbery two young Negroes entered, threatened the night attendant with pistols and demanded the day's receipts.

The attendant, Wesley Hunsucker, gave the bandits $700 and was then struck several times on the head with a pistol. The bandits left after taking a (See HOLD FOUR, P. 2)

NEW "AMBASSADOR" - Raleigh: North Carolina Governor Bob Scott announced January 31 that Fred L. Cooper of Murfreesboro will be the chairman of the Good Neighbor Council, Cooper, who has recently resigned as executive director of the Chouinok Area Development Association, will replace Dr. James C. Taylor who has served as acting chairman of the Council. (UPI).

Fayetteville Area Poor Seeking "Decent Water"

BY CLIFTON ROBINSON AND LOIS MOSES FAYETTEVILLE - The Wilkes Road Neighborhood Council has been trying for several years to get drinkable water in the area. The water in our area is polluted, whether from a deep or a shallow well, due to the swampy ground and the number of privies in the area. Dr. Foster, the former director of the County Health Dept., has said the water is undrinkable and a health hazard. The present water situation is disgraceful in a wealthy county like Cumberland County.

Finally in the fall of 1968, the County Commissioners and the PWC agreed to run a city waterline into the area, provided 80% of the houses were signed up for the line by March 1, 1969 at a rate of $210.00 per house.

There are approximately 120 houses along the proposed (See FAYETTEVILLE, P. 2)

Asks New Governor For Help

Raleigh's Committee of Seventeen, whose acting chairman is Willie L. Bryant, appealed last Saturday to Governor Robert Walter (Bob) Scott, protesting the probability of relocating Camp Polk Youth Center on the Rock Quarry Road.

Last August, this same organization urged the then Governor Daniel Killian Moore to halt the proposed move, concluding with, "It is our opinion that whereas a prison camp is undesirable in a white community, it is equally undesirable in a black community." This statement was contained in a petition, bearing more than 1,500 signatures.

Bryant, who is assistant registrar at Saint Augustine's College here, said his Committee of Seventeen is hopeful of either having a meeting with Scott or receiving encouraging correspondence from its communication with him.

He also said that Moore, last year, gave him the "run-around," by stating that no site has been settled on, "But the Rock Quarry Road location is the only one that has been discussed," Mr. Bryant said.

Camp Polk is now located near the State Fairgrounds, about two miles west of Meredith College.

W-S State Receives Funds For Top Quality Education

Opens Door To Integration

$390,000 Given To College

WINSTON-SALEM - Industry came to the forefront last Saturday in the first major step to integrate the state colleges of North Carolina as the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, headquartered here, announced an initial grant to Winston-Salem State's College of $390,000 during Scholar's Day ceremonies. The announcement was made by Winfield Blackwell, local attorney and chairman of the college's board of trustees.

The program, aimed at strengthening the school's curriculum, faculty and student body, to be known as the Winston-Salem State College Scholastic Achievement Program, was announced by Dr. Kenneth R. Williams, WSSC president during a Luncheon honoring twelve of the college's most outstanding students, (all with a 3.5 average or better out of (See W-S STATE, P. 2)

Black NC Lawyers Set Meet

DURHAM - A conference on the role of the black lawyer and the black law school will attract students from schools across North Carolina to North Carolina College, Friday and Saturday, February 21 and 22.

Donald Pitts, chairman of the NCC chapter of the Law Students Civil Rights Research Council, which sponsors the event, described the purpose of the program as being "to increase the interests of black undergraduate students in the (See BLACK LAWYERS, P. 2)

'March On Raleigh' To Start Sun.

Willie Bolton, an official of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), founded by the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., advised top State agencies Monday morning of plans for a bus caravan from Swan Quarter to come to this city to protest racial policies.

He said the march is slated to start Sunday, February 9 and arrive in the city on Friday, February 14.

Bolton, of Atlanta, Ga., called on the Governor's office, the Highway Patrol and the Good Neighbor Council.

He said the marchers also intended to call on the State's superintendent of public instruction, Craig Phillips, but confirmation of this could not be ascertained at CAROLINIAN press time. (See MARCH ON, P. 2)

Status Of NCTA Told By Palmer

BY ELLIOTT B. PALMER

"Merger negotiations in North Carolina are at an impasse. Negotiations have been halted and no dates established for any future negotiations." This is as brief as one could describe the status of merger in North Carolina, yet, one would be remiss if one did not reveal the background activities which have led up to this (NCTA GIVES, P. 2)

WOULD-BE HIJACKERS - Miami: Michael A. Peparo (R), of Cold Spring, N. Y., and Tamsin R. Fitzgerald (L), of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., both shown shortly after their arrest here February 3, were lodged in the Dade County Jail under $100,000 bond each facing charges of air piracy. Peparo, 21, a student at Duthess Community College in Poughkeepsie, and his 18-year-old girlfriend were accused of attempting to force the crew of National Airlines flight 11 to fly to Havana. They were foiled in their attempt by the smooth-talking crew and the plane landed safely in Miami. (UPI).

FROM RALEIGH'S OFFICIAL POLICE FILE

SAYS RAPE ATTEMPTED
Miss Mildred Taylor, 36, 513 Patterson Lane, told Officer W. B. Harrington at 2:22 a.m. Saturday, that she was walking in the 500 block of E. Cabarrus Street, on her way home, when two colored males jumped on her and assaulted her by throwing her to the ground and trying to rape her.

The woman, who "was assaulted by the hands and fists of the two unidentified men," said one was "Jay" or "Jake," address unknown. However, she reported he is about 20 years old, five feet, seven inches tall and weighs about 150 pounds. (See CRIME BEAT, P. 3)

PLAGUED BY BAD LUCK

Miss Dorothy Jackson, 310 E. Worth Street, reported to Officers Joseph Blaylock and D. C. Jones at 1:07 a.m. Sunday, that she was coming out of Burnett's Grill, 300 block of W. South Street when she saw a male she once knew. She said the unidentified man started cursing her, but she kept walking. He then came up to her and struck her on the back and she fell down and broke loose "a couple of stitches, placed there last week after she was stabbed in the back." She told the officers that she would sign an assault on a female warrant later. The stitches were resewn. (See CRIME BEAT, P. 3)

STEWARDESSES REVEAL "NEW LOOK" - New York: Six American Airlines stewardesses show off their new "Americana Collection" attire during a press conference February 4 at a Manhattan restaurant. American, drawing on such historic American touches as Daniel Boone's raccoon hat and a New England innkeeper's weskit, has designed a new American Look for its 4,000 stewardesses. (UPI).
