Ossie Davis Will Direct 'Cotton Comes To Harlem'

NEW YORK - Ossie Davis, the playwright-actor, will direct "Cotton Comes to Harlem," Samuel Goldwyn Jr.'s production. The picture starts filming in Harlem late in April and will be released by United Artists.

"Cotton Comes to Harlem" is the film directing debut for Davis, who starred in such as "The Scalp Hunters" (UA), "The Hill" and "Sam Whiskey" (UA). He has appeared in many television shows and also is known for his plays, among them "Purlie Victorious," which he wrote and directed. "Cotton Comes to Harlem" was written for the screen by Arnold Perl and Davis, based on the novel by Chester Himes. It is a story of two tough, trigger-happy, trouble-making Harlem detectives, Grave Digger Jones and Coffin Ed. Johnson, involved in the theft of a bale of cotton containing a large sum of money.

FASHION EDITOR HERE FRIDAY - Miss Carol Denmark, above, started her career at the top. She criss-crossed the country for two years as an airlines stewardess before coming down to earth to an equally glamorous career as fashion editor of Ebony and Tan Magazines. Miss Denmark will appear in Raleigh Friday morning for an interview on "Femme Fare," a daily television show, hosted by Betty Elliott, over a local television station. The stewardess-turned-model is now representing the Colgate-Palmolive Company, makers of a nationally-distributed cold water detergent. The television interview is set for 10 a.m. after which Miss Denmark is slated to be interviewed by a representative of The Carolinian.

Negro Construction Firm Gets Woolworth Contract In N. Y.

NEW YORK - Officials of the F. W. Woolworth Co. have signed an approximately $1 million contract with a Negro contracting firm for the construction of a major store in the heart of Harlem.

When completed, the entire project will be valued at more than $2 million. It is part of the unique sale-leaseback arrangement under which a black group, Harlem Freedom Associates, bought the property and will lease the completed store to Woolworth.

'Speed Kills' Is More Than Mere Slogan

"Speed Kills" is more than a traffic safety slogan in North Carolina. It is a well established fact.

Figures compiled by the Driver Education and Accident Record Division of the Department of Motor Vehicles show that during 1962 excessive speed was the primary cause in more than one-third of all fatal accidents in the state.

Investigating officers listed speed as the cause in 570 of the 1,417 fatal accidents in which cause could be established.

The second most prevalent cause of fatal accidents during the past year was driving to the left of the center line. Officers cited this violation as the primary reason for 339 accidents involving deaths.

Falling to yield the right of way and reckless driving were the next most frequent causes with 123 and 97 accidents respectively.

FSC Adds Telegraph Services

FAYETTEVILLE - Fayetteville State College has joined a list of colleges offering on-campus telegraphic service, President Rudolph Jones announced this week.

Adding to the services means that the FSC faculty staff and students can now receive all messages via Western Union. Dr. Jones emphasized that persons receiving money order will have their checks, disbursed on campus, thus eliminating a trip to the central office in Fayetteville.

The service is situated in the college Information-Switchboard booth, Smith Administration Building.

Hours of the telegraphic service will be from 8:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. daily.

Cash Tip Income Subject to Withholding

Greensboro, N. C. - Employees who receive cash tips of $20 or more in any calendar month, while working for one employer, must report the amount of tips received to that employer.

J. E. Wall, District Director of Internal Revenue for North Carolina, pointed out that cash tips are subject to withholding of income and Social Security taxes and must be reported to the employer on or before the 10th day of the following month.

The Internal Revenue Service has available free of charge Document 5635, "Employee's Daily Record of Tips and Report of Tips to Employer," which explains briefly the requirements of the law and the forms needed to make the necessary report.

COLLEGE BOUND

by Patricia Pirolli

Patricia Pirolli, graduate of Monmouth College, Monmouth, Illinois, and now an admissions counselor for the college, answers some typical questions by high school students about college.

Q. When is the best time to begin looking for a college?
A. The best time is during your junior year in high school. This way, you and your parents can look at many schools before narrowing the decision down to three or four. Concentrate on these schools during your remaining year in high school, and then make your final decision.

Q. Who should make the decision of what college I am to attend?
A. Ultimately the student should. After talking it over with your parents, your high school counselor, and a representative of the college, and carefully considering all other factors, you make the decision.

Q. Before I make up my mind, should I visit the campus?
A. Definitely. Every campus has a different atmosphere, and you may not like it. The time to find out is before you arrive on campus to begin studies. At Monmouth, we encourage prospective students to come to the campus

Q. If I have a very detailed question about a college, who should I see?
A. Your high school counselor will be able to help. Or you can ask your high school counselor how to contact the college's counselor. If you have a question about Monmouth College, I would be glad to help. Talk to your high school counselor and he will tell you how to reach me.

Never Say Die

LOUISVILLE, Ky. - Old Wallace never die. They just form a new political organization they hope will develop into a national conservative party. Right-wing remnants of the backers of Presidential candidate George C. Wallace held a two-day meeting in this city where their president, William K. Shearer, told them: "We are on the way to saving America." The name approved for the new party was "the National Committee of Autonomous State parties known as the American Independent party, the Conservative party, the Constitution party, the Courage party, and such other political parties as desire to affiliate with this national committee." There wasn't too much chance that the lengthy designation would become a household word.

Child Care Payments Discussed

GREENSBORO - Some confusion has been noted by IRS officials in the tax returns filed thus far by taxpayers who claim a deduction for "Child Care" payments, according to J. E. Wall, IRS Director in North Carolina.

"This confusion is probably a matter of semantics," Wall said. He noted that some taxpayers who are making child support payments to their estranged spouses for the support of their children have deducted such payments as though they were Child Care payments. "Child Care payments," Wall noted, "are payments made to someone who cares for the taxpayer's child or children to enable the taxpayer to work or to seek employment. Under certain circumstances these payments can be deducted on the return of the taxpayer."

Here, crepe, which ordinarily "collapses," has been given extra body by bonding it permanently to a second fabric. And... you can tell it's a quality bond by the COIN tag... a tag awarded only to bonded fabrics that meet the most rigid testing standards. So, party it up. The woman who wears the pants at the party is undoubtedly the reason you bought this year!

Here's a word for people who still hang their clothes out to dry:

A-CHOO!

Suffering with the sniffles is no fun. And lugging clothes to and from the clothesline in bone-chilling winter weather doesn't help. We'd like to suggest a remedy. It's called a flameless electric dryer. It works when the sun doesn't. Clothes dried electrically come out fluffily and fresh; permanent press fabrics are ready to wear with little or no ironing. Stop the sneezes before they start this winter. And enjoy 365 day-a-year drying weather. See your electric appliance dealer right away. And while you're there, pick up your free copy of the new booklet "Weather or not," the do's and don'ts of electric drying.
