Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Can your hair be damaged from brushing, alone?

All hair becomes damaged from exposure to sun and natural elements. Certain greasy compounds and many chemicals, improperly used, also take their toll... not to mention simple attempts at beautifying the hair with any brush not made of natural bristles. The results are brittleness, breakage, dry and dull looking hair. Your professional beautician knows how artificial bristles actually brush away a great deal of the "lubricants" of the hair that give it body, lustre and protection. And trained beauticians claim that nothing beats Clairol's condition Beauty Pack Treatment for overcoming brittleness, dryness and breakage... leaving hair lively and easy to manage. condition is an easy-to-work-with cream which can be applied during a chemical straightening retouch to prevent drying of hair that has been previously relaxed. condition is the ultimate in repairing deep-down damage. And, when time is a factor for their customers, hairdressers turn to new Clairol's Hair Dew - the lotion conditioner that penetrates so fast many think of it as an instant conditioner. When applied regularly by your beautician, Clairol Hair Dew adds body, softens and gives a glowing new look to your hair that many friends will notice and admire. Damage can come from using brushes with artificial bristles. But damage to every woman's hair comes from so many other causes that all human hair (including wigs) needs to be revitalized periodically. Visit your professional beautician and ask this expert to check the condition of your hair. Only your professional beautician knows the answer for sure.

Come to Church

BY MRS. MAY L. BROADIE

Our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the great redemption we attained through Christ, the Savior of the world. Give us the guidance and power of the Holy Spirit that we may walk in liberty and serve one another in love, until we come into Thine eternal presence. Fill our hearts with Thy love. O God, so that our actions will be motivated by love for those around us. Trouble us in conscience if we fail to feel our brother's wounds, help us to know and accept the patience as well as the trials, that the love as well as the trials, that are all a part of doing Thy will. We thank Thee, O Lord, for the lives of those who, through the years have built for eternity. May the building blocks we put into our own lives today be everlasting. And, may be build in accordance with Thy will and then, O God, we have done what we can, grant us Thy wisdom to leave the outcome in Thy hands, through Christ, Our Lord, and Master, we pray, Amen.

Eastside Reminders

The Lenten Season is, as we know, a forty-day season of fasting observed by many Christians in preparation for Easter. It is also a season which allows us to take a self-examination of ourselves as Christians, review our short comings and endeavor to bring ourselves in the Christian life-light as being a true Christian involved in many of the accents of life which should always be considered.

Reviewed, James Z. Alexander filled the pulpit at Davie Street United Presbyterian Church last Sunday. He is a wonderful speaker. He brought to his audience a message on "Two Views of the Moon," bringing his message in close connection with the recent astronaut trip. Mrs. Daisy W. Robson of North Carolina College served as consultant to the Wayne County Public Schools, along with other consultants from the University of North Carolina and East Carolina University recently. This was a part of the program provided for under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act in which eight visits were made. The purpose of the consultants' visits was to help teachers and administrators improve the instructional programs, primarily in the areas of Language Arts. Emphasis was placed on knowing today's children, a deeper understanding of them, innovative instruction and multi-thematic approach to text books and supplementary materials.

At the beginning of the program, the consultants held a conference with the principals, supervisors and teachers to formulate plans, determine needs and set up a workable schedule. Classrooms, school libraries and the Wayne County Diagnostic Center were visited in order to identify needs and become familiar with available materials. Afternoon meetings were held with teachers for discussions and demonstrations. Each session was devoted to work in the areas of emphasis. Opportunities were given them to draw pen portraits of children, to examine instruments that are more realistic in pupil evaluation, and to re-examine materials to use in instructing today's children. Attention was also given to centers of interest an enriched learning environment and to individualized instruction.

The last visit was devoted to an arranged display of mirrored images of how children learn; recent adopted basal texts by State Department Multi-ethnic approach and new supplementary books; instruments for assessment, etc., formal and informal; audio visual aids and the like. The consultants have been asked to assess the total instructional program and to make written recommendations for further study and improvement. Death again was with us during the past week, bringing home a former citizen, Mrs. Minnie Frances Burns, who for the past few years had made her home in Washington, D.C., with her daughter, Mrs. Jessie Snowden and family. Last Tuesday, March 11, God called her to enter His beautiful Garden. Memorial services were beautifully rendered for Mrs. Burns Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at the First Baptist Church. Her pastor, the Rev. Dr. C. W. Ward, officiating. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Jessie Snowden, two grandchildren, an aunt and two cousins.

Yes, We All Talk

BY MARCUS H. BOULWARE FLOURISHING OF PUBLIC SPEAKING

People have said that oratory is a lost art, that oratory or public speaking has passed away. This is not true, because as long as there are causes and movements to advance, oratory will be among us. It is one type or another it will live and influence the people. It is the firebrand of liberty.

It is to the interest of many to cripple the public speaking or leaders, and debilitate every species of eloquence. Democracies, therefore, have a duty to foster the art of public speaking. In its present form, oratory means effective public speaking. The term is broad enough to include both the classical style of ancient orators and the conversational manner of modern speakers. The great Wendell Phillips, who introduced conversational speaking in this country, demonstrated how effective this kind of speaking can be, eloquent, clear, concise, elegant, and simple.

American Legion News

BY MRS. EDNA HAYWOOD

At the close of the First World War, members of the United States wanted an organization to keep alive their comradeship and to honor the memory of their dead. The first step was taken at a meeting in Paris, France in March of 1919.

Further organization work was done at a meeting in St. Louis, Mo. in May of 1919. This was the beginning of the American Legion. The first annual convention was held in Minneapolis, Ind., November 1919, at which time the formal organization was completed and a constitution and bylaws were adopted.

When the U. S. entered the second World War, in December 1941, the American Legion began an important new phase in its history. In September of 1942, the 24th annual convention was held in Kansas City, Mo. It opened its ranks to veterans of the second World War. This membership policy became official the following October when Congress amended the eligibility clause of the Legion charter. Ever since its founding, the Legion has been a powerful force in American life. It has helped many veterans to obtain work, hospital care and compensation. A campaign during 1925 and '26 produced a $5,000,000 endowment fund to support rehabilitation and child welfare work.

In education, the work of the Legion includes school awards, citizenship for the foreign born, flag education, and occupational guidance for boys. Women belonging to various branches of the armed services in either first or second World War are eligible for membership in the Legion.

The eligibility is extended, however, only to members and not to auxiliaries in the forces, wives, sisters, mothers, and daughters of Legionnaires have banded together in the American Legion auxiliary, which help the Legion in many activities.

The purposes of the American Legion are: to uphold and defend the Constitution of the U. S. of America, to maintain law and order, to preserve the memories and incidents of our association during the great wars, to inculcate a sense of individual obligation, to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses, to make right the master of might, to promote peace and goodwill on earth, to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom, and democracy, to participate in and contribute to the accomplishments of the aims and purposes of the American Legion, to consecrate and sanctify our association, by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.

So this brings the Legion up to its 50th year of 100 percent Americanism. The ladies of the auxiliary entertained the comrades on March 15 with a birthday party second to none.

A three-tier birthday cake was made and decorated with three gold bells, gold leaves, 50 gold miniature candles and white frosting. Refreshments were served.

Past Commander Charles Irving, who is one of our honored senior citizens of the city, was the principle speaker for the evening. We were blessed with a wonderful prayer by our chaplain, Comrade Joe Hines, Our Commander, Plummet Vines made encouraging remarks, telling the importance of sticking together. Mrs. Violette Pullen made the welcome address for the auxiliary and post. She is president of the auxiliary. After the address, each one "did his thing," and I must say that we really had a talent show.
