Negro History
Bafflers

BY NEGRO PRESS INTERNATIONAL

In today's Baffler, eight quotations from our people's great thinkers will be given. In seven of the eight quotations, one word is wrong. The incorrect word may be wrong grammatically or conceptually. You are challenged to find the correct quotation and to identify the wrong word in each of the incorrect quotations.

Scoring: 8-10: excellent; 6-7: good; 4-5: fair; 0-3: poor. Bonus Question count a total of two points. Other questions count one point each. Here's the quiz:

1. W. E. B. Du Bois once wrote:

"After the Egyptian and Indian, the Greek and Roman, the Teuton and Mongolian, the Negro is sort of a seventh son, born with a veil and gifted with second-sight in this American world, -- a world which yields him no true self-consciousness, but only lets him see himself through the revelation of the other world. It is a peculiar sensation, this double-consciousness, this sense of always looking at one's self through the eyes of others, of measuring one's soul by the tape of a world that looks on in amused contempt and pity." 2. Ralph J. Bunche once asked:

"How could anyone in his senses expect young Negroes of this day and age, many of whom are called upon to give a couple of the best years of their lives to Uncle Sam's military service, to have their dignity as human beings upheld and not defend it?"

3. Booker T. Washington once said:

"It is important and right that all privileges of the law be ours, but it is vastly less important that we be prepared for the exercises of these privileges. The opportunity to earn a dollar in a factory just now is worth infinitely more than the opportunity to spend a dollar in an opera house."

4. Langston Hughes once wrote:

"From river to river, / Uptown and down, / There's liable to be justice / When a dream gets kicked around."

5. Countee Cullen once wrote:

"Yet does i marvel at this curious thing: / To make a poet black, and bid him sing!"

6. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., once proclaimed:

"I have a dream that one day on the red hills of Georgia the sons of former slaves and the sons of former slaveowners will be able to sit in together at the table of brotherhood..."

7. Frederick Douglass once said:

"If there is no struggle, there is no progress. Those who profess to favor freedom, and yet deprecate agitation, are men who want crops without plowing up the ground. . . . Power concedes nothing without a request. It never did and never will."

8. Ralph Ellison once wrote:

"I am an indivisible man. No, I am not a spook like those who haunted Edgar Allan Poe: nor am I one of your Hollywood-movie ectoplasms. I am a man of substance, of flesh and bone, fiber and liquids--and I might even be said to possess a mind."

BONUS QUESTIONS: (Each counts one point.) Complete each of the following quotations:

A. Elijah Muhammad once asserted: "Integration is a clever trick of the (-----)."

B. Langston Hughes once asked: "What happens to a dream (-----)?"

ANSWERS: 1. The quotation is correct; 2. The word "assaulted" should replace the word "upheld"; 3. "More," not "less"; 4. "Confusion," not "justice"; 5. "Do," not "does"; 6. "Down," not "in"; 7. "Demand," not "request"; 8. "Invisible," not "indivisible."

BONUS ANSWERS: A. "De-

integration"; B. "dies."
