

HONORED FOR SERVICE - Mrs. Beatrice Maye, Greenville, receives plaque from Nathan G. Perry, president of the Goldsboro-Wayne County A&T State University Alumni Chapter for Mrs. Maye's ailing husband, John Maye. Mr. Maye was honored for his service to the Midwestern Region of the alumni association.

DEAR SALLY

BY SALLY SHAW

DEAR SALLY: I'm a girl of 24 who still blushes like a 15-year-old, and this habit of mine is making life miserable for me. The girls and fellows in the office where I work continually kid me about this, and the more they kid and joke about it the redder my face becomes. It makes me feel so juvenile. Is there any way at all to control or cure blushing?

DEAR ROYAL FLUSH: There is no specific cure or preventive for blushing, so far as I know. However, on the other hand, I see nothing wrong with blushing, and certainly nothing to be ashamed of or embarrassed about. Instead of fighting this, accept it as a part of your personality. When others laugh or kid you, laugh and kid with them. Your blushing and your readiness to laugh about them will add to your charm and popularity.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a fellow of 18, a senior in high school, and have been considering enrolling next fall in an all-male college. The only thing that bothers me is that my isolation in such an institution will cut my social life with the opposite sex down to nothing. And since I'm a normal, healthy male, I like the company of girls every now and then. What do you think about this?

DEAR HAL: Depends. On the one hand, almost every men's college I know of is situated fairly near a similar institution for women, and even the most isolated college is close enough to civilization for weekend dates. On the other hand, if you're the kind of fellow who's happier when he's consoling and fainting company, you'd better enroll at a coed school.

DEAR SALLY: The husband of a very good friend of mine is chasing around with another woman who works in his office. He confided this to my husband, who passed it on to me. I'm heartsick about this, and wonder if as a friend I should tell his wife what is going on behind her back.

DEAR INFORMED: No. A real friend doesn't deliver this kind of news, the kind of news that is sure to hurt. Stay out of this. It's none of your business.

DEAR SALLY: Early one evening recently, as we were preparing to entertain some guests in our home, my husband's aunt and uncle dropped in unexpectedly. They're extremely nice people, and at first I was at a complete loss as to what to do when they seated themselves in our living room seemingly prepared to spend the evening there chatting with us. Finally, though, I told them outright that I was very sorry, but we were expecting guests and I still had a number of preparations to make. They took their leave looking somewhat hurt. Honestly, though, what else could I have done? MRS. T. G.

DEAR MRS. T. G.: Nothing. People who drop in unexpectedly are always taking the chance of running into situations like this, and they should not resent it. This is why it's always smart to phone in advance of such a visit.

Music Prof At A&T Is Praised

GREENSBORO - Mrs. Patricia Johnson Trice, pianist and assistant professor of music at A&T State University, was given a warm reception for her faculty recital presented here recently.

Mrs. Trice, also the organist at century-old Providence Baptist Church, opened her program with "Toccata in C Minor," by J. S. Bach. This was followed by "Sonata in F Minor, Op. 57" by Ludwig van Beethoven.

After intermission, Mrs. Trice played "Sonata pour piano (1924)" by Igor Stravinsky. She concluded her program with "Images, 1905" by Claude Debussy. This work included "Reflets dans l'eau," "Hommage a Rameau," and "Movement."

A resident of Greensboro, Mrs. Trice holds the M. S. B. from Oberlin, a M. A. degree from the University of Illinois and the M. S. degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

ROSALIE SCOTT, STAFF ASSISTANT

By Mary Blake, CARNATION HOME SERVICE DIRECTOR

Tempt appetites with Springtime Macaroni Salad. Velvety evaporated milk keeps it moist and delicious. Serve it outside where everything tastes even better. A platterful of rolled cold cuts and cheese and ice-cold soft drinks make this menu sure to please.

SPRINGTIME MACARONI SALAD
(Makes 8 to 10 servings)

- 3/4 cup mayonnaise
- 3/4 teaspoon hot dry mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 cup lemon juice
- 3/4 cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk
- 5 cups hot cooked macaroni
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- 1/2 cup chopped sweet pickles
- 1/2 cup cubed process American cheese
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped pimientos
- 1 cup drained red kidney beans

Combine mayonnaise, mustards, salt and pepper. Add lemon juice to Carnation Evaporated Milk, stirring until evaporated milk is thickened. Add to mayonnaise mixture. Mix well. Combine hot macaroni, celery, onion, green pepper, pickles, cheese, pimientos and beans in large bowl. Pour salad dressing over mixture. Toss well. Serve warm or chilled (about 2 hours).
