The American Museum of Negro History in the Charles Street Meeting House abounds with Black history including copies of Freedom's Journal, America's first Black newspaper, published by John Russworm; the letters of Frederick Douglass, and a heroic piece of Black art, "The Talking Skull," sculptured by Meta Warrick Fuller in 1937. (Pages 57 & 58).

NEW ORLEANS

The beautiful Iron grillwork that is part of New Orleans personality was brought here by Blacks from Africa. (Pages 58 & 59).
The Presbytere Museum houses the paintings of John J. Audubon, America's first and most famous bird artist, who was of Afro-Creole origins and came to this country from Haiti. (Page 59).

Xavier University of New Orleans was founded in 1915 by the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament and is the only Catholic institution for the higher education of Black people in the U. S. A. (Page 59).
Chalmerte National Historical Park was the site of the crucial struggle in the Battle of 1812 when the largest number of Black troops ever to fight before that time (in this country) were assembled under Andrew Jackson. (Page 59).

The New Orleans Jazz displays the first horn Louis Armstrong learned to play, a bugle, and the first horn he ever owned, a cornet. There can also be found pictures of other Jazz greats including Jelly Roll Morton, W. C. Handy, and Huddie "Lead-belly" Ledbetter. (Page 61).

lems confronting the country today, delegates heard Mayor Carl B. Stokes of Cleveland, in the first general session Thursday Evening, June 10, Stokes urged the YMCA to organize "Youth: Now" pulling together the nation youth serving organizations such as the Boy Scouts, Boy's Clubs, the Jewish Community Centers and the Catholic youth organizations into a program that will "look to young people for its ideas and specific activities, but will be financed by a national drive among all the traditional supporters of youth."

Proceeding Stokes, a group from the YMCA Student Caucus in a last-minute arrangement with Y leaders, presented what they termed "guerrilla theatre". The final act portrayed two youths, one representing a Government official and another an officer of Dow Chemical Company discussing the production of napalm for use in Vietnam. This and other acts of the "theater" were intended to make convention delegates more aware of the problems with which young persons today are concerned.

In the two morning sessions, delegates were shown filmed confrontations of YMCA leaders and youth, episodes focussing on such problems as youth representation on boards, YMCA action in the urban crisis, and other controversial issues. IBM machines tabulated the opinions of the delegates from around the country to the issue shown.
Other speakers at the Convention included Rev. Paul C. Reinert, S. J., President of St. Louis University, Alan Geyer, editor of "The Christian Century," James F. Bunting, Executive Director of the National Council of the YMCA's, and other YMCA leaders.

A large group of delegates, and their families were at Bush Stadium, Thursday noon to see J. Clinton Hawkins, chairman of Convention '69, present a citation from the YMCA to commemorate the 50th Anniversary of the "Knot Hole Gang," Mr. Hawkins was a member of the original "gang".

Saturday evening, Art Linkletter, radio-TV personality and longtime layman connected with the YMCA, was master-of-ceremonies at an evening presenting a thousand youths from around the country. Art Linkletter received an award from the YMCA for service to youth. It was presented by J. Clinton Hawkins, convention chairman.

FACE SUIT

sonally assured by HEW Secretary Finch, on March 16, that the guidelines would not be rewritten or evaded.

The letter criticized HEW's handling of desegregation in 21 school districts in South Carolina, saying that its proposals were helping to thwart implementation of the Supreme Court's school decisions.
It also noted that The Supreme Court in decisions last year and this, abundantly supported the Administration's power to require desegregation by September, 1969; desegregation of school facilities; and abandonment of freedom of choice plans where they fail to bring about elimination of dual school system.

The Leadership Conference is coalition of 126 national civil rights, labor, religious and civic groups, working for the enactment and enforcement of effective civil rights and welfare legislation. The Conference coordinated the national campaigns in support of all the major civil rights bills including the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which required desegregation of the schools.

The text of Mr. Wilkins' letter to the President follows:
TEXT WILKINS' TO PRESIDENT

Today the goal of equal education in a single school system is in peril; it now appears that the Federal government may be party to a flagrant denial of constitutional rights. News and other reports suggest that your administration is countenancing a delay. We understand the Department of Health, Education and Welfare is about to postpone the deadline for school desegregation indefinitely even though the Department's guidelines call for desegregation by the start of the school year, 1969-70. On the issue, representatives of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights were personally assured by HEW Secretary Finch on March 16, that the guidelines would not be rewritten or evaded.

Reports of the plans drafted by the Department of HEW for most of 21 school districts in South Carolina at the request of the Federal District Courts indicate the Department is ignoring its own guidelines in formulating its proposals. Under the guise of assisting the court, the Department is helping to thwart implementation of the Supreme Court's school decisions.
This is a shameful and discouraging state of affairs. If the reports are true, the Department will be betraying the trust placed in it by the Congress when it passed Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Repeatedly you have declared that your Administration is dedicated to law and order, and will not permit this evasion of the law.

There is no doubt anymore about what needs to be done. The Supreme Court in 1968 and 1969 clarified the law; desegregation must be effected in 1969; desegregation of school facilities must be effected; freedom of choice plans must be considered inadequate where they fail to bring about elimination of the dual school system.
The organizations united in the Leadership Conference are determined to stop erosion of school desegregation in the name of expediency. If this means suits against the government, we are prepared to bring them. We shall do all in our power to arouse the conscience of America to keep the nation from falling back.
Before any change in the guidelines is carried forward, we urgently request an opportunity to meet with you, Mr.

President, to discuss the implications of such a move.
Respectfully,
Roy Wilkins

head with a dinner plate, causing serious bodily damage. Another witness, Rudolph McCullom, who resides at 319 Idlewild Avenue, informed Wilson that he also saw Mrs. Morehead strike the complainant with the dinner plate.

The incident occurred in the bedroom of the Morehead residence.

Morehead suffered lacerations of the scalp and right temple, receiving a six-inch semi-circular wound.

Mrs. Morehead was arrested on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon and is now confined to the Wake County Jail (Central Prison).

Mr. Morehead has a long police record, dating back to May 30, 1948, when he was accused of the larceny of a truck. He was found not guilty, however, on this rap.
On November 11, 1948, he was investigated and released the same day. Other charges which Morehead has faced include: May 22, 1951, assault and battery, 1951, he appealed a charge of assault on a female and the rap was not pressed with leave; February 20, 1956, affray, 30 days suspended, $10 and costs of court; May 18, 1957, engaging in an affray where a deadly weapon was used; called and failed to appear in court on June 4, 1957.

On December 25, 1957, the suspect was again picked up on the charge of engaging in an affray with a deadly weapon and damage to property; November 22, 1959, drunk; March 27, 1959, drunk and disorderly, 30 days, suspended upon payment of costs; April 8, 1963, inadequate support; September 26, 1963, capias, Domestic Relations Court.

His final five offenses included: December 21, 1963, disorderly conduct, 30 days, suspended, one year probation; January 23, 1964, failing to comply with a Domestic Court Order; February 24, 1964, failing to comply with a Domestic Court order; April 5, 1969, trespassing; and March 27, 1968, forcible trespassing.

Mrs. Morehead is expected to appear before Wake District Court Judge S. Pretlow Winborne to answer the charges of assault with a deadly weapon when her mate is able to testify.

in the church: A piece of the action." Is this year's convention theme, announced James T. Harris, Jr., executive director of NCCCL.
Top speakers scheduled include Rev. Jesse Jackson, head of Operation Breadbasket, economic arm of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference; State Rep. Julian Bond of Georgia, rising "new politics" star of the Democratic party; Cesar Chavez, leader of the grape boycott and head of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, AFL-CIO, and Rev. Lucius Walker, executive director of the Interreligious Foundation for Community Organization, under whose sponsorship the controversial black economic development conference was held.
Background and position papers on the social use of religious wealth and power will be prepared for convention participants, Harris said.
"This will be an action-oriented, working conference aimed at coming up with practical solutions in this sensitive and crucial arena," he said. "The speakers and their topics were carefully selected to stimulate our thinking and performance in the workshops and group discussions that constitute the business end of the meeting."
Registrations for the convention — and charter-flight reservations — can be made by writing Ken Cunniff, convention coordinator, NCCCL, 1307 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60605.

Hosts for the convention will be Loyola University of Los Angeles, Marymount College, Catholic Human Relations Council of Los Angeles and the Los Angeles Association of Laymen.

SHRINERS SET

Mr. Mackay is public relations director. The Lord Baltimore Hotel will be convention headquarters.

Extensive plans have been made to welcome the invading Shriners and their guests. Some 3,300 housing reservations have already been made — all within the Baltimore Beltway, Shriners landing at Friendship International Airport and at railroad and bus stations will be greeted by special committees who will guide them to their hotel destinations.
Imperial potentate of the order is John Henry Hester of Atlantic City; Booker T. Alexander, Detroit, is imperial recorder; Walter Dyett, Chicago, imperial promotion director, Rogers C. Moore is illustrious potentate of the host temple, Baltimore.

Prince Hall Shriners have contributed almost $300,000 to hospitals, universities and medical research societies to combat tuberculosis and cancer. Since 1950, the organization has given $80,000 in scholarship grants to high school and college students.

The purpose of the order, according to Imperial Potentate Hester, is to "contribute to the welfare of the communities in which its members are located, as well as on the national level, by disbursing charity where needed, by encouraging participation in civic activities and by assisting the economic development of such communities and the nation."

Center for Metropolitan Studies this week.
"Just as the philosophies of equal employment change, the focuses of public concern shift from year to year. One of the most popular is the current crusade among businessmen to rehabilitate the so-called hard-core unemployed. Although the publicity that pours from corporate Public Relations offices would have us believe so, the hard-core unemployed are not some exotic species; they are made, not born. The people to whom some one affixed this label are man and woman who are unable now to hold a steady job largely because steady employment is a labor market. Instead of aiming all its efforts at 'rehabilitating' them, industry should concentrate on how to stop creating them.
"I share with many others the opinion that the current emphasis on hiring the hard-core unemployed — while necessary and long overdue — is being exploited by some companies as a stalling tactic to postpone providing genuine equal opportunity all the way up the job ladder.

"To achieve equal employment opportunity in industry means the elimination of those practices whose effect, regardless of intent, is to exclude minority groups from meaningful positions in the workforce. It means an honest evaluation of whether the claimed scarcity of qualified job applicants is truly a scarcity or merely a reflection of the failure to put to productive use resources which do exist."

Freshman

Honor List

FAYETTEVILLE — A freshman, Brenda Gayle Watson, topped Fayetteville State College's academic honors list for the second semester 1968-69, according to report released by Dr. Odell Uzzell, academic dean; last week.

Miss Watson, an English major from Durham, gained a straight A average in six courses for a perfect 4.0 mark. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Watson and graduated from Hillside High School.

A total of 68-persons made the coveted list with 19 students coming from Fayetteville. The list includes 10-freshman, 13-sophomores, 15-juniors and 30-seniors.

Those from Fayetteville on the list are Kathann E. Eaglin and Deborah Ellis Jones, freshmen; Belinda K. Bryant, Brenda L. Carroll, Ethel Maxine Shiver, and Rosa B. Wardlaw, sophomores; Charles P. 700 Meet On Rehabilitation Of Disabled, Disadvantaged

WASHINGTON—Described by HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch as "a major adventure on behalf of our nation's disabled and disadvantaged citizens," the first National Citizens Conference on Rehabilitation of the Disabled and Disadvantaged opened here June 24.

Virtually every category of disabled and disadvantaged people will be represented, including reformed convicts, laryngectomy cases, former drug addicts, alcoholics, American Indians, sharecroppers, retarded children, and many others.

The 700 participants in the three-day meeting at the Mayflower Hotel will be a unique blend of both providers and consumers of rehabilitation services for Americans who are handicapped, through physical and mental disability or otherwise, in obtaining education, training, jobs, or medical care. Secretary Finch expressed the hope that by bringing together the two groups, the Conference will eliminate some roadblocks to meeting people's needs and stimulate action in states and communities. "Many of today's public and private programs," the Secretary said in a message of welcome to conference participants, "do not meet people's needs as well as they should."

The Conference opened with greetings Tuesday night from HEW under Secretary John G. Veneman; Dr. Howard Rusk, Director, Institute of Rehabilitation Medicine, N. Y. Medical Center, and general chairman of the conference; Mary E. Switzer, Administrator, Social and Rehabilitation Service, HEW, and co-chairman of the conference planning committee; and W. Scott Allan, Assistant Vice-President, Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., also co-chairman of the planning committee. Nanette Fabray, musical comedy star, who was deaf before an operation enabled her to hear, sang "The Impossible Dream."

LIFE SAVED BY GOVERNOR — Sacramento Gov. Ronald Reagan, a former life guard, dove into a swimming pool fully clothed and rescued a 7-year-old girl, Alicia Berry, during a staff party at his home June 15. The little girl, who cannot swim, was playing in the shallow end of the pool when he went to her assistance. (UPI).
