SEABOARD ELKS CELE-BRATE RELIGIOUSLY

This Northampton County community, bordering Virginia, celebrated with dignity and much pleasure and fellowship the 19th annual IBPO Elks of the World Religion: Festival to be observed here since Jack Willis Faison came home and organized the local Progressive Elks Lodge No. 1280 and

Elks Unity Temple No. 914, Starting at high noon, Sunday, the Daughter-Elks co-directed by Mrs. Jennie Sledge and Mrs. N. K. Dunn of Weldon and Beaufort, the devotionals were conducted. Exalted Ruler Lawrence Parker gave the welcome which was responed to by Elks dist. deputy Charles Foster of Elizabeth City, who lauded the program as being "one of the best religious festivals" he had attended. (The writer compares them favorably with the camp-meetings of Lincoln and Catawba counties in the western Piedmont area.)

Mrs. Estelle Anthony Smith of Scotland Neck, responded to the welcome extended by Mrs. Jennie Sledge on behalf of the Daughter - Elks. Elks Grand Auditor Jack W. Faison (Daddy of the Seaboard Elks) presented several Elks personalities, some of whom had traveled 250 to over 300 miles for the occasion.

Heading this group were N. C. Elks prexy Sherwood T. Enloe of Shelby and Mrs. Letitia, Daughter - Elks president of Hickory. Among others were Julius Haywood, A. J. Turner, A. Vance, Raleigh; John Chambers, Statesville, who, although blind, is rated as a most honest man in his position as exalted ruler of his local lodge and chief deputy of Tarheelia. That accolade comes from Grand Exalted Ruler Hobson R. Reynolds via Tar Heel Elks president Enloe.

The sermon was delivered by former Weldon Baptist pastor, Rev Clyde Johnson, now stationed at Petersburg, Va., who spoke on "The Call To Unity." Mr. Johnson, who was quite active in civil rights and voterregistration while at Weldon, scored the failure of modernday parents to exercise proper discipline over their children these days. The family should be the beginning of unity, he said, and then it will spread to the school, community, state and nation, all of it tying in with common courtesy one individual to another.

Rev. Johnson said; "The need for brotherhood, the need for love, and the need for understanding among men present the greatest problems of our man is in greater need of these qualities than every before." We are so lacking in these qualities, he stated, at a time when America and the world have greater material prosperity despite hunger amid wastefulness - than ever.

Johnson said: Jesus called for unity when he told the dying thief on the cross, "This day shalt thou be with me in Paradise:" when He told Zacheus to come down out of the tree for He (the Master) was to dine at Zacheus' home. Again, Johnson reminded parents that they have relaxed the chastisement of their children to the point where many parents are afraid of and have to run from their children to the point where their own children. (This sad truth is revealed almost daily, certainly weekly, in the press. Witness a nephew being charged with the murder of his uncle in Wake County because the old man allegedly refused to play the guitar.)

The First Baptist Men's Crorus of Weldon and T. S. Cooper furnished additional music. Present also was John Taylor, executive director, Choanoke Development Community organization, which handles some two million dollars a year with an interracial staff. Taylor, according to Jack Faison. succeeded to his present post when his white boss was appointed as head of the N. C. Good Neighbor Council. Well, I stole a march on my good friend "Hal" Syms last week and rightfully so. Charles Walker had told me a few days before that one Mrs. Vivian Nichols Richardson, was in town and was visiting with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sanders, Cotton Place. I put it off almost to my regret. I called on them Thursday night. She was leaving on Friday morning for her home in Daytona Beach, Fla. As a result of the telephone call, I hurried over and what a confab all of us enjoyed. Her husband, an outstanding AME minister, had recently passed. It was nice to see Vivian for it had been some years since I had last seen her. We had lived as neighbors in the same community and she had not forgotten the old gang. There was Hal, Edward, Burt and Henry Syms, Ruby and Sarah Syms, Lillian, Everette and David "Sporty" Ricks, Joe and Leonard Weaver, Joe, Pete and Dit Wilder, Frank Hinton, Joe and Mary Eliza Maye, Lewyn Hayes, "Wash" Hayes, Hubert Hayes, Ethel and Martha Hayes, Robert Tucker, Cullen and Irving Hunt, Arthur Perry, Britt, John and Henry Perry, Louise, Mary Louise and Marianna Haytion only a few. Mrs. Myrtle Massenberg, of Chavis Heights, previously reported as a shut-in at Wake Memorial, is recuperating nicely at home. Her friends will be happy to note the change of address.

Mrs. Helen Thomas, the wife of the late Mr. George Thomas, left the city last week to join the family of Mrs. George Thomas, Jr., in Durham, thence to Champagne, Ill., where they will make their home.

Weekly Horoscope by OLGA

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Temptation in week ahead, Aries, will be to curl up in a ball and face the wall. Don't do it. Face up to life. In fact week ahead could be most productive, if you give yourself half a chance. You may also feel that you are entering into a vicious cycle. You're not. Trust your hunches. Trust Olga. Trust the stars.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Both the blasphemous and the beatific are in the stars for you in week ahead, Taurus. And you won't need any outside help. You'll be exhausted when the week is over, but what the heck, life is to be lived . . not avoided.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Gem, if in the past you have been cold and unresponsive sometime during week ahead, you will relax, and tensions will fade. You will be able to commit yourself emotionally. Physical pain will be relieved as well. After all, they do go hand and glove. . . the body and the spirit. CANCER (June 21-July 22): Oh Moonchild, your social' world is a regular jungle of polite but phoney predatory animals. Why don't you use week ahead to get away from it all? At least make plans. Your psyche could stand a bit of isolation. LEO (July 23-August 22): Now see here, Leo, just because last week Oiga told you to "swing along with your upward trend" doesn't mean you're to go whole hawg. No quick grabs at intimacy are ever really wise. You tend to see-saw from Leo-The-Inhibited to Leo-The-Lionhearted. Make up your mind. VIRGO (August 23-September 22): You may of late have had the feeling that you're never gointo quite "make it." If so, bear in mind that only YOU can alter the status quo. Only YOU can alter the thinking of those who seem to control your future. Use a little vision. Be imaginative. And stop sweating. LIBRA (September 23-October 22): Bridge the gap between responsible understanding and total capitulation as far as one who has been annoying you of late. Put yourself in a vulnerable position on last two days of week and an exciting discovery which may affect you deeply could occur. Live, Libra, live!

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21): Your threshold of boredom will be extremely low in days ahead, Scorp. Don't let it get you down to the point where you are ruthless toward those with whom you come into daily contact. Especially your family. On last day of week, you may indulge in a touch of whimsy if you like. Give some thought in week ahead toward finding a new emotional escape hatch. The old one is getting rather tatty.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21): You have much to give, Sagittarius, yet those around you usually see the worst rather than the better side of your nature. Do you ever wonder why? In week ahead you may feel emotionally tense concerning a new business or personal goal. Relax. Those who are necessary to your plans will see eye to eye with you. NOW will you relax?

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19): Your public and your private personalities will be at war with one another in week ahead. And don't for a minute think that you don't have two sides to your nature. Everyone does, you ninny. However, out of this intellectual and emotional tussie will come a fresh perspective concerning a troublesome affair.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18): Time for Aquarius to do a bit of double-checking concerning mate or partner. No need to push the panic button, you understand, just do a little quiet checking. Just because your behavior is above reproach is no reason to go blithely drifting along on a cloud of illusion.

PISCES (February 19-March 20): Do not misuse power in week ahead for irrelevant reasons. You'll be tempted, but don't give in. You're facing a long, hot summer, and there is no sense in getting things all goofed up even before June has had a chance to get off the calendar. Week ends on note of doubt. Abstract concepts confuse you somewhat.
