

DEAR SALLY

BY SALLY SHAW

DEAR SALLY: I'm a married woman of 39, and very much concerned about my unmarried kid brother. He has been chasing around with a young, red-headed divorcee -- entirely the wrong kind of woman for him, and I'm sure she goes with him only because he happens to be well fixed financially and can spend a lot of money on good times for her. I've tried by best to reason with him, but he refuses to accept the fact that my eight years of seniority over him should make me more qualified than he to judge such things. What else can I do to get across to him? BIG SISTER.

DEAR BIG SISTER: Your brother at 31 is NOT "a kid," and if at this age he still doesn't know how to manage his life, then he never will. In any event, my advice to you is to stay out of this and let him live his life as he pleases.

DEAR SALLY: I am in love with a fine young man of 24 who is not yet financially solid, and has a position with a large company with excellent prospects but which at present pays him comparatively little. He is filled with all sorts of ambition and confidence that some day he will rise high in the company. He wants very much for us to be married, but I keep wondering if it wouldn't be smarter for us to wait until he is more firmly established. HESITANT.

DEAR HESITANT: Why wait until AFTER he's arrived? This could stretch into a long time. If you're in love with each other and he's armed with all that ambition and confidence, you could enjoy a good and happy marriage SHARING in his climb up the ladder of success. DEAR SALLY: A very attractive man I have been dating for some time has shocked me through and through with the news that he is married! He followed this news with the explanation that his wife is a bed ridden invalid, has been for several years, and this hungry for the companionship of a good woman. He says I can give him much happiness just by going out with him, that we could keep everything strictly on a "friendship basis." Do you think this would work out? C. C.

DEAR C. C.: No. Steer clear of involvement with a man who seems to have forgotten completely the sacred vow he once took to cherish his wife "in sickness and in health."

DEAR SALLY: My girlfriend and I are about to become engaged, and she has told me that her father will soon be wanting to have a little heart-to-heart talk with me, regarding my financial status and my ability to provide for her. I have nothing to hide or to be ashamed of in this respect, but still I am wondering if such a discussion between a girl's father and his future son-in-law isn't somewhat on the old-fashioned or out-of-date side. SOON A GROOM.

DEAR SOON: Although this sort of discussion between a father and his prospective son-in-law is not so common as in yesteryear, still it cannot be called "old-fashioned" or "out-of-date" for any father to be concerned about his daughter's future happiness and well-being.

Q -- I will be released from service this month. How soon must I begin training under the G. I. Bill?

If you hire part-time help on your farm this summer, you may have to report the wages for social security purposes. This is the word from Robert A. Flynn, District Manager of the Raleigh Social Security Office.

A -- Veterans released from active duty after June 1, 1946, have eight years from the date of release from active duty in which to complete their G. I. Bill education and training. There is no deadline for starting training, nor are there any restriction against interruptions.

He said not all farm wages are subject to social security tax, but much of it is. He gave these simple rules to follow: (1) If you pay a farm laborer as much as $150.00 in cash in the year you must report his wages for social security purposes, (2) If you hire a farm laborer on a time basis, and if the worker works on 20 different days in the year, you must report his wages for social security purposes. The amount paid does not affect the need for this report.

Q -- My husband, a World War II veteran, died in 1948. We did not have any children. My application for a widow's pension was denied at that time because I had been married to my husband for only three years. I am now unable to work because of a disability. Will this be a consideration if I should reapply for a pension?

If you have any questions about reporting farm wages, get in touch with the Social Security Office at 1122 Hillsborough Street, Raleigh, N. C. They are open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Thursday and from 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Friday.

A -- In itself, your disability would not be a consideration. However, a law passed in 1947 liberalized the five-year marriage requirement in effect at the time of your husband's death. Now a widow needs to have been married to the veteran only one year before

Meat Loaf and Macaroni Bake is the perfect back-to-school supper menu idea. Kids love the moist, juicy meat loaf and the protein-packed macaroni and cheese mixture. Velvety evaporated milk makes them both extra-good. Use it for all your cooking needs.

MEAT LOAF AND MACARONI BAKE (Makes about 8 servings)

- 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 1 cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk
- 2 pounds ground chuck
- 1/2 cup finely chopped celery
- 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper
- 1 tablespoon catsup
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Combine all ingredients in large bowl. Mix lightly but thoroughly. Press mixture into 12x7 1/2 x 2-inch baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) 45 minutes. Remove from oven. Drain off fat. Top meat with Macaroni and Cheese. Return to oven and bake 10 minutes longer or until macaroni is set. Cut into squares and serve immediately.

MACARONI AND CHEESE

Cook 8-ounce package elbow macaroni according to package directions. Drain and return to saucepan. Stir in 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Mix well. Heat until butter melts. Beat 1 egg and 1 cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk together. Add to macaroni. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add 1 cup grated process American cheese. Stir until melted. Spoon over baked meat loaf.
