NEGRO HISTORY BAFFLERS

BY NEGRO PRESS INTERNATIONAL

In today's Baffler, tell where landmarks of particular interest to Black people are located. Go to the Grab Bag toward the end of the Baffler for the names of cities from which to choose.

Scoring: 10: excellent; 9: good; 7-8: fair; 6-6: poor. Bonus Question count a total of two points. Other questions count one point each. Here's the quiz:

1. In what city would you find a street named after the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and a monument on that street memorializing Black soldiers who served in World War I?

2. To what city would you go to see the Emancipation statue in Lincoln park? Former slaves built and paid for the memorial.

3. In what city would you find the home of the Black poet Paul Laurence Dunbar?

4. Where is the predominantly Negro Huston-Thilston College located?

5. In what city would you find the W. C. Handy park, containing a statue of the famous blues composer?

6. To what city would you go to visit the Old Courthouse where a slave named Dred Scott in 1847 brought suit to win his freedom? The U. S. Supreme court later ruled against him.

7. Where would you find the Schomburg collection of Negro art, literature, and history?

8. In what city is the Mother Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church located? The church is the fourth built on the site where Richard Allen and Absalom Jones founded the Free African society in 1787.

New Rabin Novel Helps Youngsters Cope

GIL RABIN

For youngsters who find difficulty in relating to their parents, a new novel by Gil Rabin may help. The book, "False Start," for ages 10 and up, tells how a boy confronts temptation and his father's serious problem, yet finds in trouble not only sadness but also enlightenment and a strengthened mental muscle. The Harper Junior Book has won Rabin plaudits not only for his facile execution, but also for his sensitive perception of how problems look to children.

OMEGA VISITS MARKER SITE - Ellis F. Corbett, Grand Basileus, Omega Psi Phi Fraternity and Felton J. The two fraternity men visited the mayor and presented him a check for $500 from the fraternity. (Photo by Motley).

Homeownership Training Program Is Paying Off In Winston-Salem

WASHINGTON, D. C. - The door-to-door salesman smiled warmly as he explained the wonders of his $140 floor-waxing machine. There was nothing wrong with the waxer; anyone could buy it for $34.95 at an appliance store.

The poor, badly educated members of the family appeared to be the perfect marks for his pitch because they were soon to move into their own home, and they desperately wanted some of the luxuries of modern living.

But the father and mother surprised the salesman as they shot a skillful barrage of questions at him about the need for the machine's shiny chrome; the real cost of buying on the installment plans; and the merits of similar waxers they had seen on shopping expeditions. The sales was never made.

The hapless salesman did not know that his would-be customers had just completed a homeownership training program sponsored by the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Realizing that the poor should have an opportunity for the pride and satisfaction that comes from homeownership, and that they are often ill-equipped to deal with the intricacies of the consumer economy, HUD has established a complete program to take low-income families from rented shanties in the central city to private homes in outlying residential neighborhoods.

The latest project involves the cooperation of 1,000 families in Winston-Salem, N. C., the Extension Division of the North Carolina State University at Raleigh, and the Winston-Salem Housing Authority, Urban Coalition and Community Action agencies.

Under a jointly worked-out plan, HUD has awarded a $250,000 contract to the University Extension for the staffing of a homeownership training program. HUD also will fund the building of 1,000 3- and 4-bedroom private houses by the city Housing Authority.

Henderson News

BY L. B. RUSSELL

HENDERSON - The weather is fair and beautiful in Henderson on the eve of the opening of the tobacco market and schools in Vance County and the city of Henderson Tuesday, September 2. As this reporter moves around from place to place, it is noted that a large percentage of the tobacco crops are unharvested and in the field. It would be a good example on the part of the Board of Education to delay opening for a few days in order for the parents of children not to be hindered because of their leaving for school.

I am sure that I voice the sentiments of the good people of Henderson, that we all regret the resignation of Prof. L. E. Spencer, which appeared in the local Daily Dispatch paper here, August 29, Superintendent A. Woodrow Taylor threw around him the proper garment when he said, "He has been a dynamic leader in the field of education for 36 years. One of the greatest characteristics of any leader is the power of concension and that is what Mr. Spencer possessed. Regardless of how high the pinnacle, he could come down and listen to what the least person had to say. Mr. Spencer still resides at the Delta Place with his wife, Mrs. Alma D., who is still a teacher in the Vance County System. Mr. Spencer's Christian qualities, as well as his mental ability can be of a greater service to the people of the community.

Mrs. Elizabeth Rainey of 784 Chestnut Street will be leaving Monday, September 8 for Asheville, where she will begin a five-week course in the Child Development Program, a project of the Opportunity Corporation of Madison and Buncombe Counties, 170 Woodfin Street, Asheville. If anyone would like to go to this training center with an open mind and is willing to share with others your own knowledge of working with children, then you may enroll by sending your application to the above named address. If you have children twelve years old or under, the program will pay you $15.00 per week, for two children.

You will also receive pay while you are working to qualify for the Child Development Training Program.

Mrs. Mittle Elizabeth Carroll of Warren County, took a trip during the month of August to Hartford, Conn., where she spent very happy moments of her life visiting her children and grandchildren. Some of her visits were with her daughter, Mrs. Emma Seaward and son, Willie Carroll. She stated that her most exciting experience was her seventeen-mile ride out in the Atlantic Ocean, where she had the privilege of fishing which is her hobby. Mrs. Carroll, in her 73rd year is one of the oldest readers of the Warren County. She also is a faithful member of the Snow Hill Baptist Church and sings in the senior choir and is an ardent worker with the Missionary Department of the church. Rev. L. B. Wilson is her pastor.

Miss Katie Davis, a native of the Mobile Section is at home this weekend visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McKnight of Hawkins Drive. Miss Davis is from Philadelphia, Pa., she stated.

On the sick list is the wife of Mr. Robert Gooch, who is still confined to the Granville County Memorial Hospital. The friends of Mrs. Gooch are still praying and looking forward to her recovery.

Miss Elvora Russell Grice of New York City and Richard Russell, of Washington, D. C. spent Saturday night with their parents, Rev. and Mrs. L. B. Russell Mrs. Grice was on her way back to New York from Sedalia, where she had enroll-

BY MISS VICKIE FIELDS

HENDERSON - The St. Andrews United Church of Christ held Sunday School from 10 a.m. until 11. The topic of the lesson was, "God's People in Confusion." The lesson scripture was taken from the Book of Judges. The memory selection was "In those days there was no king in Israel; every man did what was right in his own eyes. Judges 21:25. We had an attendance of 96 and 1 visitor, Rev. P. Jones.

Our morning worship service was opened with the consecrational prayer service, from 11 until 11:30. After this, the mission offering was lifted and our pastor came forth and made the call to worship. The choir sang, "There's A Mountain Filled With Blood." Rev. Jones read the scripture from the Book of Daniels 1:1-6, Prayer was given by Deacon Minter. The choir then sang "It's So Sweet" and "Walk in the Light." Rev. Wilson's text was from the third chapter of Daniel, 12th verse, "Somebody is Watching You," was his subject. "There are certain Jews whom thou hast set over the affairs of the province of Babylon: Shadaiach, Meshach and Abednego. These men, O King, have not regarded Thee; they serve not thy gods, nor worship the golden image Thou hast set up."

After the sermon, prayer was held around the altar, afterwards the offering was lifted by Deacons Alston, Watson and Hicks.

Visiting with us were members from Brookston Baptist Church of Henderson, Mr. Sheldon Steed, and one of our old members from Washington, D. C., Mrs. Long and children.

Miss Irma Hargrove of Breckinridge Street here, was married to Mr. Robert Williams of Merriman St. on Sunday, August 31 at St. Andrews Christian Church at 4 p.m. The wedding was performed by Rev. White of Oak Level Christian Church. A solo was rendered by Miss Joan Hargrove and the pianist was Mrs. Adams, a music teacher at Henderson Institute. The bridesmaids were Miss Frances Williams, Miss Artelia Harris and Miss Ann Gales.

The ushers were Messers Kenneth Williams, James Stewart and Vandergriff. Mr. Ronnie Williams, the groom's youngest brother was the ring bearer, Rev. James Hargrove gave his daughter in marriage. The mothers, Mrs. Louise Williams and Mrs. Van Hargrove, were dressed in blue. A reception was held at the Holiday Inn.
