

Youth Council Activities

Prepared by Members of The Fayetteville Youth Council

New members elected to the Fayetteville Youth Council from Massey Hill High School are Ronnie Howard, Jean Bolton, and Diane Brock. Margaret Ann Doxey and Don Baer are the new members from the sophomore class at Terry Sanford High School. Reid Ross High School has elected Kerry Kinikin and Malinda Jobson to represent their sophomore class. Sue Melvin of Reid Ross High School has completed her 25 hours and is now an associate member of FYC.

Mrs. Frank Shaw and Mrs. Thomas McCoy, from the Hands chapter, gave the FYC members information on possible locations and the cost of improving these sites for a Youth Park. Pre Melchoir will present all of her information on a Youth Park to the FYC Board next week.

John Page, of the Arts Committee, painted a turtle to be entered in the mayor's turtle race that was held in Lillington on Friday. A Youth Art Show is being planned by the Arts Committee for the last of October or the first of November.

The radio show today at noon will be on "Youth and the Church." The Rev. Keith Pevee of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church was the adult guest for today's program. Woody Myatt, Elizabeth Gambill, David Freeman, Bobby Lancaster and Sheila Young were the Youth Council members on the panel.

David Freeman attended part of the Raleigh Youth Council's Youth Week program last week-end. Part of the week-end schedule was a movie night, a Be-In, a dance and on Sunday an hour service was held in Meredith College Amphitheater, with youth of all denominations taking part in the service.

Deborah Joel will have the monthly school calendars published next week. These will include information from all four high schools and other events that are of interest to the area youth. This will inform all teenagers of the happenings of the month.

CUMBERLAND COUNTY-WIDE ADVENTURE

About 600 youngsters from the Cumberland County area will participate in a county-wide trip to the Cumberland County Fair. A group of about 300 will take a trip to the North Carolina State Fair in Raleigh.

Both trips will include transportation (for rural areas only to the county fair), insurance coverage, food, rides and the youngsters will be supervised by persons who are 18 or older. All children who attend the fair will be 6 to 14 years of age.

The total grant request for both trips is: County Fair 6-55.00, State Fair 637.90, Total $1,292.90.

The age span for the participants going to the State Fair will differ. All children attending will be age 13 to 17, but there will be participants from all of the geographical areas. All chaperones will be compensated for food and rides if they desire. Transportation buses will leave from the House of Commons, 401 East Russell Street at 9 a.m. on Friday, October 17, whereas the children who attend the county fair will leave the pick-up station in their area at 12 noon on Saturday, October 11.

This project was tried last year on a smaller basis, and proved extremely successful in providing low-income children with entertainment, as well as providing a vehicle for the organization of low income families. By expanding the project on a county-wide basis, we hope to multiply the benefits achieved in last year's
