CCAP STAFF LOOKS TOWARD PY-1970

FAYETTEVILLE-The Cumberland County Community Action Program staff has been "as busy as bees" for the past two months compiling information for the Program Year 1970 (PY-1970). The entire proposal has been prepared and submitted to the Board of Directors for its approval. The Board will make necessary changes, comments, etc. (if any) before it is sent to GEO in Washington, D. C.

Up to this point, despite public criticism, the CCAP has done a marvelous job for the low income residents of Cumberland County and surrounding area. To mention our newest component, Emergency Food and Medical Program, has helped a total of 176 needy persons since its beginning in August 1969. Another example of the true strength of the CCAP is the Child Development Program, which seems to be getting to the very root of the poverty "cancer", is now in a better position to handle the needs of the poor under the full-day,

Full-Year operation.

Scores of comments could be presented at this time regarding the effect and impact which CCAP has on the Cumberland County area.

PY-1970 will offer an even better opportunity for the benefit of the poor, which is the main concern of the Cumberland County Community Action Program, Inc. CHILD DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM: CROSS CREEK & SAVANNAH CENTERS

The children from these two centers took a bus trip to Granis Field Airport, Thursday, October 2. The children were very excited and thrilled to see the Piedmont Airline Jet come in for a landing. They were also taken on a tour of the new airport terminal.

One-hundred and sixty-five pupils and approximately twenty parents attended the Cumberland County Fair October 3, at 2 p.m. Each child received free rides and hot dogs and drinks. The staff of the Child Development Program wish to extend their thanks to the Shriners of Cumberland County for reducing the prices of the hot dogs and drinks for our children.

SOCIAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT

In conjunction with their "Community Mental Health" class at Fayetteville Technical Institute, the social worker and aides of the Child Development Program are attending the "Round-Table" discussions at the Mental Health Clinic each Wednesday morning from 10 'til 12 noon. They have heard interesting and educational discussions on alcoholism and MMPI Test (Minnesota Multi-phase Personality Inventory Test). The above in-service training will be most beneficial to the social worker and aides in their work with parents and children in the program.

MEDICAL SERVICE

Mrs. Jessye Vick, Social Worker of the Child Development Program, is happy to report that the Crippled Children's Association of North Carolina and the Welfare Department will assist in the cost of a tonsillectomy for a pupil of the Legion Road Center. Dr. James D. Bundy, surgeon, will perform the operation on October 30th.

The Social Worker and aides are busy taking children to the doctors and dentists for their physical and dental examinations. Twenty children of the Beaver Creek Center were taken to the dentist for "follow-up" dental work. These children had cavities filled and teeth extracted by the dentist.

Human Relations Seminar Set

FAYETTEVILLE - A Human Relations Seminar on "Law, Order and Justice" will be held on October 20, at 8 p.m. in District Court Room No. 5, City Hall, Fayetteville, North Carolina. This program will be aired live over radio station WFAI.

Human Relations Director, Ottie L. West, will moderate the program and receive written questions from the audience for the various participants. Persons listening over WFAI may call in their questions at 483-2819.

Participants on the panel are: Charles Dunn, Director of SBI; Police Chief L. F. Worrell; Sheriff W. G. Clark; Superior Court Solicitor Doran J. Berry; Atty. Mitchel Gadsden; Superior Court Judge Derb Carter; Rev. C. H. Thomas, and Atty. Marland C. Reid.

Topics to be discussed are: "Human Relations and the Professional Agitator," "Law Enforcement and Human Relations," "Human Dignity While Under Police Custody," "The Rule of Law," "Civil Order and Individual Rights," "The Legal Meaning of Justice," "Justice and Human Restoration," "Law, Order and Justice--John Q. Public."

This Seminar grows out of several allegations of police brutality during recent protest

Youth Council Activities

Prepared By Members of The Fayetteville Youth Council

A regular meeting of the Fayetteville Youth Council was held Wednesday night at the Honeycutt Recreation Center. All of our meetings will be held there from now on. We want to thank everyone at the YMCA for their kindness to us over the last three years. We now have such good attendance that we "outgrew" the room at the YMCA. Without the help of the good folks at the YMCA, our program could never have made the progress that we did over the past three years. Again, we say "Thank you."

Members of the FYC were asked to usher at the basketball game between the Carolina Cougars and the New York Nets at the Cumberland County Auditorium on Wednesday, October 15. They did a good job helping people find their seats and looked real sharp in their white jackets.

De Grebner gave a report on the last City Council meeting. Connie Cole, Sally Shaw, and Harriet Lancaster will attend the next City Council meeting which will be held at 4 p.m. on Oct. 22.

Stephanie McKinney reported that the FYC dance that was to have been held on Nov. 1 has been postponed, due to a conflict. She will announce the new date for the dance soon.

The Youth Council voted to work on the beautification of the Rowan Park as one of their projects. Their first project in the park will be the painting of the whale, under the direction of John Page. Wanda Feemster presented the work plan for the park to the Council.

Project SHARP, under the direction Wanda Feemster, will have their first program on Oct. 25 at Cape Fear Court Recreation Center. Mike Fogler and Debbie Wertheim will be the FYC members attending. The program will be under the supervision of the H-Y from Terry Sanford High School the first week. This is for children in grades one through four. The hours will be from 10 a.m. until noon.

Alice Jones has been appointed chairman of the Dropout Committee. She is at present working on letters that will be sent out.

Wayne Jackson, station manager, of WECT (Channel 6) has invited the FYC to do a monthly half-hour TV show. This is under study by the board of directors. This would be an excellent opportunity for FYC to present the views of youth. We certainly appreciate the offer from Mr. Jackson. Our main problem would be getting to Wilmington once a month to do the show.
