Come to Church

At evening, when the sun was set, the sick, O Lord, around Thee lay, Oh in what divers pain they met. O what joy they went away. Once more 'tis evening-tide, and we oppressed with various ills draw near. What if they form we cannot see we know and feel that Thou art here. Thy touch has still its ancient power. No words from Thee can fruitless fail, O Lord, how often we call to remember the former days and Thine infinite patience with us. Help us not to lose our victory now by casting away our confidence.

Guard us against the evil of unbelief. We know that the secret of the Lord is with them that fear Him. Thou hast called us Thy friends. Thou art the same yesterday, today and forever. O gracious Lord, help us to look forward, remembering the recompense of the reward so soon to come, and hold fast our confidence. Thou are the author and finisher of our faith and we will trust Thee till the end, in Thy name, Amen.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Why does some hair break off when combing?

Your hair is precious and delicate... and none of us like to see it break off for any reason. Scientists tell us that excessive use of hot combs and over-processing of hair with chemicals often are major causes of brittleness resulting in hair breakage. But hair that is naturally curly and tangles easily frequently breaks off in everyday combing. Notice how irritated your scalp becomes when you comb in contrast to the way your beautician does? Your professional beautician knows that curly hair mats and tangles so easily that it should be softened before combing. Otherwise, unnecessary irritation to the scalp and damage to the shaft and ends of the hair occurs. To achieve this needed softening and a temporary relaxing effect that prevents breakage on all human hair (including wigs), most beauticians rely on Clairol® Hair-So-New™ spray on creme rinse. For combing ease and for beautifying your hair in many other ways, trained beauticians stock a complete family of fine Clairol products for your specific needs.
