Last rites were observed at the Ebenezer Baptist Church, Chilesburg, Va.

Apex District Credit Union Begins Campaign

APEX - The Apex District credit Union (ADCU), Apex, recently launched a county-wide membership drive. Operating much the same as a savings and loan organization, the ADCU embraces all of Western Wake County-Apex, New Hill, Cary, Morrisville, Hatchet Grove, Holly Springs and Fuquay.

Founded in August of 1968, it is especially geared to low income families. The founders of the ADCU envisioned a program where low income residents could have regularly and subsequently borrow money at interest rates substantially lower than other lending institutions.

Membership in the Credit Union is obtained through the purchase of shares. A person buys a share for $5.00 and becomes a voting member. The share is really a savings certificate and goes into a savings account for the purchaser.

The membership drive now under way has a two-fold function. New members are eagerly being sought, and present ADCU members are being encouraged to increase their savings by buying more shares. The drive terminates on Sunday, November 9.

The ADCU's Membership Committee has scheduled a culmination program for the drive. The program features gospel groups from the churches in the area. A "Miss Apex District Credit Union" will be crowned to top off the events. Missed Addie Underwood, Barbara Gilbert, Deborah Harris, Joannet Lee, Roselyn Price, Sheryl Council, Joan Baker, Virginia Thomas and Mrs. Peggie Henden are all candidates for "Miss ADCU." The program will be held at the Apex Baptist Church, S. Salem Street, Apex, 7:30 p.m., November 9. The public is invited to attend.

The ADCU is located at 190 1/2 N. Salem Street, Apex. Any individual living in Western Wake County is eligible to join the credit union. Membership applications and additional information may be obtained from the credit union office.
