CUMBERLAND COMMUNITY 1970 PROPOSAL TAKES WHEELS

The CCAP Staff has completed the Program Proposal for the year 1970. The 'package' was mailed by REA Express Tuesday of this week.

Many hours and lots of skillful planning have been dedicated to this task. Someone commented that "This is the best one that CCAP has had since its existence."

The CCAP staff is proud of the cooperation and support that was given to the program during the time that the date was being gathered and collated for the proposal and hope that more services can be rendered as a result of this support.

More programs will be added pending the approval of the Office of Economic Opportunity, thereby, providing more jobs as well as more and better services.

CONSUMER'S CORNER WHAT IS THE DAY CARE CENTER PROGRAM?

The program of the day care center is much more than a schedule of daily activities. It is the means of which we bring to the child all the center's resources to help him develop as an individual and as a member of his group, his family and the community. The program is the expression of the day care concept. It is the result of combining knowledge about the child and his family with the various professional skills that can make best use of that knowledge.

Today we recognize the interdependence of the child's physical, emotional, intellectual and social growth and the importance of his interrelationships with his family and the center. That is why the program is made up of many different aspects—health, education, welfare, physical care, and relationship with the parents. Each is equally important, and none can be left out. Nor can any one of them be given to the child separately, like doses of medicine. Each part of the program must be incorporated in some way into all of the child's activities at the center.

The program, then, represents the hopes and aspirations of the staff for the child's best development. In essence, it is their combined skills and knowledge; it is planned environment for the child while he is at the center and it is the relationship between the parents and the staff.

Each staff member offers his or her specialized skills. The center's activities, policies, rules and regulations, and schedules are planned jointly by staff members who represent

Youth Council Activities

Prepared By Member of The Fayetteville Youth Council
 Mrs. Angie Davenport, executive director of the Asheville-Buncombe County Youth Council, was our visitor at our Wednesday night meeting. We appreciate her coming to see us. She brought Fayetteville Youth Council several copies of the new Asheville Buncombe Youth Council manual.

The first art show of this school year will be held this weekend at the Anderson Street Library. All schools are participating. We hope the youth of the area will enjoy having their work on display. The hours today will be from 2 to 5 p.m. Do try and get there and see the work of the area high school students.

For our scholarship drive the committee hopes to have Fayetteville Youth Council members sell stuffed animals for Christmas. The drive for the sales will start around Thanksgiving.

The Youth Park is coming along. We have several ideas for beautification and we're planning a clean-up for Nov. 22. Along with our clean-up, we're going to paint the Whale at the children's part of the park. Our first Project Sharp was held last Saturday. The Hi-Youth from Terry and Sanford High School, along with Fayetteville Youth Council members attended. The children came out in a large number and we all enjoyed ourselves. Yesterday the Tri-Hi Youth from Terry Sanford High School had the program.

Suggestions for Youth Council publicity and publications were discussed. Martin Pharr's committee will be coming up with some new projects in the near future. De Grebner's committee on the TV show is ready to start work preparing the program. A date for the TV taping will be announced at a later date.

Youth Council is planning to participate in a Christmas party for children whose fathers are overseas or deceased. The Saint Patrick's Youth Group is co-ordinating this project with the Fort Bragg chaplains. The party will be held on Monday, December 22 at Lee Field House.

The radio show today will be about our public library. Tune in at noon and listen.

each aspect of the program. A day care center's program is much like cooking. When certain ingredients are combined, the result is a new product, different from any of its' components. In cooking, whether the finished dish is what you expected or wanted depends on using all the necessary ingredients in the right proportions, varying the proportions or omitting one or more of the ingredients may produce an entirely different dish. So is it with a day care program. Not only is it necessary to combine the ingredients well, but it is also important to be sure that all the ingredients are included. Otherwise the program will not turn out as expected.
