NAACP Is Scouting Job Sites

WASHINGTON, D. C.-Every day in 50 major cities across the country a small army of volunteers is out scouting construction sites, looking for a particular type of contractor. When they find a minority contractor -- Negro, Mexican-American, American Indian, whatever -- they ask him a few questions, such as his name, type of work he can handle, and number of his employees. The answers they get will be used to create the first comprehensive Registry of Minority Contractors and Subcontractors ever put together in the United States. The first edition of this Registry, which will be maintained and distributed by the U. S. Dept. of Labor. (See NAACP SCOUTS, P. 2)

Meharry Has A Detailed Plan To Relieve Shortage Of Physicians

NASHVILLE, Tenn.-At least one medical school has a detailed plan to relieve the acute shortage of Negro physicians in the United States--a shortage which was pointed out in a recent Journal of the American Medical Association which stated that only 2 percent of the nation's physicians are black. That school is Meharry Medical College in Nashville which already has graduated almost half of the black physicians and dentists now practicing in the country. Meharry, the country's only private, predominantly black medical school, three years ago set about reorganizing its teaching methods and course material to attract progressive-minded students. As part of its revision, Meharry set up two programs specifically designed to attract more college students into medicine and dentistry, whether at Meharry or elsewhere. One program, the College Biomedical Science Program, administered by Dean of Research and Graduate Studies Dr. C. W. Johnson, gives college students an intensive summer course in subjects related to those they may encounter the first year in medical school. Twenty students from five Tennessee colleges enrolled in the 10-week course last summer. They are being counseled during the academic year in what subjects to study, outside reading to supplement their biomedical preparation, and are being encouraged to pursue health careers. One immediate expectation of the biomedical students is that they will score higher on the medical or dental college aptitude tests after having been in the program from one to three summers. In addition to an allowance of $500 for room, board and other expenses, the students receive $500 each as a stipend, which is about the amount they might have made working during the summer, according to MEHARRY, P. 2)

City Seeks Funds Extension

Raleigh Mayor Seby Jones sent a letter to the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) requesting (on behalf of the City of Raleigh) an extension of the deadline usage of funds reserved for the City. HUD had set aside funds to be used for urban renewal in Southside. However, without an extension for HUD, the funds will not be available after January 29, 1970. The Raleigh City Council is attempting to lay groundwork for public hearings on the Southside renewal program. The Council has tentatively scheduled December 9 and December 17 as dates in Memorial Auditorium in which suggestions on re-evaluating the project will be aired. The Council's November 26 meeting focuses around the public hearing plans.

New Fund For Fayette Revealed

FAYETTE, Miss.-Seventeen prominent Americans--including former Attorney General Ramsey Clark and ex-White House aide Theodore C. Sorensen--have joined with Mayor Charles Evers to form a new national fund to develop Fayette, Miss., and its surrounding county, Mayor Evers announced last week. The new organization--The Medgar Evers Fund, Inc.--is named after Mayor Evers' late brother, who was slain on June 12, 1963, in Mississippi while leading a campaign to register Negro voters. He was immediately succeeded as NAACP State Field Secretary for Mississippi by Charles Evers, who continued the campaign which ultimately witnessed the registration of almost 250,000 black Mississippi voters. One consequence of their civil rights efforts has been the election of more than eighty Negroes to public office in Mississippi in the past four years, including Charles Evers' election on May 13th as Mayor of Fayette. Evers is the first black man to be elected mayor of a multi-racial town in Mississippi since Reconstruction. The Town of Fayette--the second oldest in the state--is located in Jefferson County, the fourth poorest county in America. (See NEW FUND, P. 2)

LDF Files 2 Muhammad Cases In NY

NEW YORK--Muhammad Ali's right to box in New York State was called for in a suit filed this week in U. S. District Court here by the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF). The State Athletic Commission "arbitrarily, capriciously, and unreasonably refused to renew plaintiff's professional boxer's license for a reason which has no rational connection with plaintiff's fitness or capacity to discharge the duties of the boxing profession," LDF attorneys asserted. (Meanwhile, in the U. S. Court of Appeals in New Orleans, LDF attorneys sought reversal of the draft evasion conviction of Mr. Ali.) (They challenged the legality of the government's practice of wire tapping as used in Mr. Ali's case.) (See LDF FILES, P. 2)

Says Nixon's Policy Threatens

NEW YORK, N. Y. - The Nixon Administration's policy of polarization threatens to plunge the nation into more pernicious McCarthyism than the country has ever known -- and a violent reaction to it that may tear the American people apart. This warning was sounded Monday, November 24, by Howard M. Squadron, co-chairman of the American Jewish Congress national governing council, in an address to the Society of Guardians of the Organization's national women's division. In his talk, Mr. Squadron said that a "dangerous polarization" was developing "not only between black and white but also between doves and hawks, right and left, young and old." He continued: "The opposition of philosophies and viewpoints is not new, but it has always been the genius of democracies to compromise and reconcile such opposition through free discussion and debate. "That process is not working today, primarily because the Nixon Administration seems to be deliberately polarizing the nation. (See NIXON'S POLICY, P. 2)
