

City Garbage Strike Looming

Union Head, Others Hold Talks Here

Leon Manning, president of the Raleigh Union of the American Federation State, County and Municipal Employees, said Tuesday that sanitation men and other municipal employees are planning to strike against the city. He did not say when the strike would begin, however.

Speaking to newsmen, Mr. Manning said, "We're going to have a strike, I know when it will be, but I can't tell you yet. He also said officials of the city were aware of the threatened action.

He announced the coming strike following a meeting of one hour with City Manager W. H. Carper. Also present were over 100 sanitation, street repair and maintenance workers. The meeting took place in the sanitation department garage, located on N. West Street.

After the meeting with Carper, which ended at 8:15 a.m., the sanitation men considered and rejected a proposal to strike this morning. It was 9:10 a.m. before the last group of sanitation men left on their rounds. Normally, the crews leave between 7:15 and 7:30 a.m.

Breakfast Free For 150 Kids

BY EDDIE LEE

Editor's Note: Free breakfasts are served to any child in the Southside area, who desires them. The meals are available at Savoy's Cafe, 204 W. South Street, and are served from 7 a.m. until 8:30, thereby giving the child time to make it to school on time. Kids are picked up in a bus, furnished by the Black Missionary Organization. Herbert Wright is the person who made the bus available. He also drives it.

Before we go into the breakfast program itself let me explain who we are and what we stand for. Each member of the Black Missionary Party is now or has been a male resident of Southside. We feel that the only way we can function properly is to have members who have actually lived, worked, and felt the physical conditions of Southside. The patch we wear is a symbol of our beliefs. The cross represents all the Black people that have been crucified and persecuted through the years. The red represents all the blood these same people have shed and are still shedding, and last the black background represents us, the Black People. All of these combined make up the patch.

Now we get down to the basic facts behind the Breakfast Program. The idea behind our program is to feed as many of the children in Southside as is humanly possible. To do this we need to have (1) a larger fund raising effort to be able to expand into other areas that are trapped into the same situation, (2) a larger and more dependable staff to help control and maintain some semblance of order, (3) a more plausible means of transportation, and (4) a better means of co-operation and help from (A) the black businessman (B) the black community, and (C) the other agencies and groups that are working in the Southside area, trying to obtain a common goal. That goal being the betterment of the Southside community.

In order for our program to succeed, we need your help. To the residents of Southside the Breakfast Program is a unique idea. The majority of these children really don't have a (See BREAKFAST. P. 2)

Involve Blacks-Burrell

NEW YORK—The president of one of the nation's very few interracially managed public companies called today for a greater number of black businessmen to form companies with the potential of "going public."

Berkeley G. Burrell, president of the Merchant Prince Corporation, a black greeting card company, said that "too few black firms presently have the scope or structure to become major public companies."

Mr. Burrell, who is also president of the National Business League and a key black business advisor to the Nixon Administration, said that "black capitalism on a sizeable scale would only result when blacks have created companies with substantial economic power. Despite this problem, it might take many years to transform today's smaller companies into important factors in their industries and the economy in general."

Burrell, speaking at a press conference held by Merchant Prince Corp. in the Hotel Roosevelt here, also said that all-black managed companies can have certain advantages when they serve an ethnic or limited market but firms seeking to become larger and even public companies should be necessity be operated by interracial management with an aim to develop products for the entire market.

He said that the Merchant Prince, since its formation in early 1969, was taking an interracial approach. "Our officers and directors consist of two blacks, two whites. This (See INVOLVE BLACK, P. 2)
