Candidates' Stands To Be Aired At YMCA Fri.

The Political Action Committee of the Raleigh Citizen Association will sponsor a meeting at the Bloodworth Street YMCA, Friday evening, May 1, at 8 p.m. The purpose of this meeting is to acquaint the voting public with the issues involved in the May 2 primary election. Inasmuch as four members of the Wake County Board of County Commissioners, six members of the next N. C. general Assembly, two members of the Wake County Board of Education, one Judge of the court of Appeals and the 10th District Solicitor are to be selected to run in the coming November election, it is felt that the voters of Raleigh and

Wake County should be given the opportunity to be appraised of the attitudes, abilities and the over all qualifications of the several candidates aspiring to represent the voters.

It is to be noted that there is a black candidate, Douglas F. Brown of Apex, in the race. Brown, purchasing agent for a large chemical firm, is running against incumbent, William J. Booth, a white man, to represent District No. 3 on the Wake County Board of County Commissioners. Voters of Raleigh and Wake County are eligible to vote for all County Commissioners regardless of the particular County District he is

Methodists Increase Gifts To Churches; Now Giving $400,000

NEW YORK-The National Division of the United Methodist Board of Missions has increased to $400,000 the amount it has set aside for ecumenical church-extension loans to black churches.

Church Extension, at a recent meeting, authorized $100,000 from its Revolving Loan Fund to be made available to the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church for building loans, according to Dr. B. P. Murphy, New York, Division assistant general secretary of Church Extension.

Other Division loan programs serving black churches, Dr. Murphy said, include: $100,000 for evangelical "storefront" churches in New York City; $100,000 for the same purpose in cooperation with the American Baptist Convention, the United Presbyterian Church in the USA and the United Church

Ban On Jailing Is Asked

WASHINGTON, D. C. - The constitutionality of imprisoning a pauper beyond the maximum time set for his offense in order to pay off a fine was challenged this week in the U. S. Supreme Court by attorneys of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF) and the Community Legal Council of Chicago.

"This action extends the Committee's financial participation in loans to black ecumenical church structures to $400,000," Dr. Murphy said, adding that loans are made to black churches at their invitation only. (The United Methodist Church has a history of cooperation with the CME Church.)

In addition to its ecumenical involvements, the National Division continues to make loans regularly to black United Methodist churches. Dr. Murphy said.

Owens Raps Separatism

NEW YORK-Black militants are attacked as "professional haters" by famed Olympic runner Jesse Owens, who says "it's a lie" that black men and women don't have much chance to succeed.

Arguing in behalf of Willie E. Williams, an indigent who was tried and convicted without legal counsel on charges of petty theft (less than $150 in value), the attorneys contended that the Illinois law authorizing an additional sentence for non-payment of the fine--despite his willingness to pay it if given the opportunity--violates the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment in placing "a far heavier burden on the poor" than on the wealthy.

Mr. Williams was sentenced to the maximum term of one year in jail and a fine of $505 which, in default of payment, was to be "worked off" in prison.

Spaulding Advocates Increases

DURHAM-Dr. Asa T. Spaulding, retired president of the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company and a Director of W. T. Grant Company, a bank, and a savings and loan association, and a trustee of two Universities and a Technical Institute, is pushing for more black representation on the Boards of Directors of the nation's leading business and industrial corporations.

In a letter to the President and/or Chairman of the Board of 109 of the Country's leading and most respected corporations, Spaulding said:

"I can think of nothing which I believe would be a more convincing proof of your total commitment in this area (equal opportunity employment), and increase minority and public confidence in your determination to provide forward looking leadership all the way, than for your company to put a competent
