

HAYWOOD

After serving four years in France and Germany where he attained the rank of Staff Sergeant, Haywood returned to his native Raleigh and began an active and continuous participation in state Elksdom. This participation has resulted in the state honor to be conferred upon him this weekend. Without army official credentials, but because he wanted to know what being an Elk really meant, Haywood attended his first state Elk Convention in Tarboro in May, 1947. He states, "I was strongly influenced and inspired by such Elk statements as Hubert Townes, Reverend K. P. Battle, L. S. Wilcox and James (Big Time) Kearney.

Haywood's subsequent rise among the antlered herd of Elksdom has been rapid and continuous. He was a charter member of the N. C. Antlered Guard and became its Exalted Ruler in 1955. In 1949 he was elevated to the Appointee Club of North Carolina. In 1955, Haywood was named Grand District Deputy for District No. 5 and in 1960, National Grand Exalted Ruler, Robert Johnson, made him Grand Exalted Ruler of District 5. Haywood was third vice State President in 1959, second vice State President in 1961 and first vice President in 1963. He has served two (2) year terms as State Chief Coordinator, served as State Deputy, Assistant State Director of N. C. Social Session and as Assistant Director of the Elks Department of Education under Grand National Exalted Rulers, James T. Hawkins and L. E. Reynolds. In 1968, Haywood was made chairman of the Elks State Trustee Board, beginning in 1965, he has served continuously as the Exalted Ruler of Raleigh Fidelity Lodge No. 177. Haywood, now looking forward to her retirement from the strenuous task of office holding, looks back fondly to his first committee appointment, Committee of Time and Place and to his first Wk office as Esteemed Lecturer Knight.

STATE ELKS

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) the jump and will begin certain secret operations on Saturday afternoon, when they confer degrees on many who are anxious to gain more light on the mysteries and precepts of the organization. In an effort to promote more interest the State Association added a new feature for the annual meet. It was decided that the one person who showed the greatest interest in improving the principals of Elksdom would be named the "Elk of the Year". Due to the fine work done by Mr. Haywood, he was given his honor. He will be honored at a banquet that will be held 8 p.m., Saturday, in the ballroom of the Goldsboro Hotel & Motor Inn. A special church program is scheduled for 11 a.m. Sunday. There will be a welcome program at 2 p.m., when local leaders and organizations will welcome the visitors. Exalted Ruler Hargrave will preside. The Civil Liberties Department, headed by Alexander Barnes, Durham, which has contended that the black man's future will be determined by his interest in politics and that his ineptness toward same, is featuring a public program Sunday night. Music is under the direction of Mrs. Laura J. Foster, with the assistance of Mrs. Sadie Artis. Rev. G. J. Hill will be in charge of the devotion. B. A. McGeachy, Fayetteville will be the master of ceremonies.

The theme of this program is "Economics in Politics." Charles Raper Jonas, Jr., Charlotte Reynolds Company representative, will deliver the address, he will be introduced by Mayor C. T. Gibson. Mr. Jonas is the son of veteran N. C. congressman, Charles Raper Jonas, Sr.

The Elk's interest in the controversial abortion issue will be discussed, in connection with their health program, which is directed by Dr. J. E. Jones, Elizabeth City. There will be a film on "Contraceptive Medicine." A Cancer Clinic is being planned. Dr. Jones is also an assistant Grand Lodge Health Officer.

The Order has long since been recognized as a leader in offering aid to education. It was one of the first organizations to make scholarships available to worthy students. Many students, of both races have been recipients of grants from the Elks. An implemented program will be announced Tuesday night, when the oratorical contest, featuring contestants from throughout the state, will be held. This program will also honor L. M. Hatton, former Henderson school principal, and immediate past-director of the Educational Department. It is to be remembered that Mr. Hatton was recently given a position with the Presbyterian Church. Hobson Reynolds, Philadelphia, Pa., who heads the 75,000-member organization and a native of N. C., is expected to address the convention Tuesday. Developments on the plans to build a shrine on a vast acreage, near Ahsokite, are expected to be discussed by Reynolds.

Dupree said he was also "re-lieved" of two $5 bills, a undetermined amount of $1 bills, one pocket knife, one cigarette lighter and one Hamilton wrist watch. Police are on the lookout for the assailants. Mr. Dupree suffered bruises over the left eye, on the left side and on an arm.

DR. MAYS
(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) he was elected to the Atlanta Board of Education in a city-wide election. In January of this year he was elected President of the Atlanta Board. Doctor Mays has served as a trustee of the Fanforth Foundation and of the National Fund for Medical Education. He is presently serving as a consultant to the Ford Foundation and the Office of Education in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. A native of Epworth, South Carolina, Mays graduated from the high school department of South Carolina State College, as class valedictorian. He received the Bachelor of Arts degree with honors from Bates College in Lewiston, Maine. He earned the Master of Arts and Ph. D. degrees at the University of Chicago.

Among his many organizational affiliations, Doctor Mays holds membership in Delta Sigma Rho, Delta Theta Chi and Omega Psi Phi Fraternities, and Phi Beta Kappa National Honor Society. He is also a member of the Board of Southern Education Foundation.

All of them relate directly to the everyday life of all of the citizens of Wake County. Black people have a large stake in this election and are therefore urged to come to this meeting and be briefed about the candidates espousing to represent you.

The Reverend Mr. Benjamin Fost is president of the Raleigh Citizens Association. Mr. John Winters is chairman of the RCA Political Action Committee.

DURHAM TO

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) by low-income people. The $300,000 is the second installment of a total $700,000 which OEO has set aside for Black economic development in Durham. The grant was originally slated to be sent to the Foundation for Community Development. However, political and racial opposition to FCD persuaded OEO to switch the grant directly to UDI.

Top officials at UDI and FCD said the new arrangement will not affect the Black economic development plans of their organizations. Niles Thompson, president of UDI, and Nathan Garrett, executive director of FCD, issued a joint statement saying they welcomed release of the funds. The statement said, "FCD is pleased that the grant will be made directly to UDI, Nathan Garrett... suggested some time ago that this arrangement be made in order that the grant money be put to work for the poor of Durham.

"FCD is confident that the United Durham board will base its future activities on service to the low-income community, not on fear of losing the grant money." FCD is the author of the original proposal which established UDI. The FCD economic development staff has been working with UDI on plans for the modular house factory, a discount supermarket for poor people and other projects. FCD presently is working on economic development of Black communities in four target areas: Raleigh-Durham-Chapel Hill; Greensboro-High Point; the city of Fayetteville; and Wilson-Rocky Mount-Tarboro. FCD corporations in these target areas will be modeled after UDI, which has a board of directors of 16 poor and 8 non-poor persons; a one-man, one vote stock plan; and a policy of establishing ventures which provide a product or service that is useful to poor people. UDI is one of several Black economic development projects that have had trouble in getting money released from the federal government. Community corporations in Harlem, Bedford-Stuyvesant, Cleveland and other cities have had their grants delayed in Washington for some time. Reliable sources say the problem is that the Nixon administration does not want to release the resources necessary to create strong, profitable corporations owned and operated by large groups of black people.

The joint statement from UDI and FCD referred to this situation by noting, "We trust that these corporations which are working for the low-income community in their cities will be able to obtain the kind of support which OEO has demonstrated for United Durham by releasing the grant installment."

Mrs. Brown was arrested, but Mrs. Todd was treated and released at Wake Memorial Hospital, then released to her husband, who picked her up before the police department had been notified of her arrest. Mrs. Todd suffered a cut on the face.

The attorneys maintained that such inequity is compounded by the fact that imposition of a fine indicates jail is not necessary for the gravity of the offense or for the safety of the community or the offender. This is one of several LDF cases challenging discriminatory treatment of the poor in the criminal law process.

OWENS RAPS

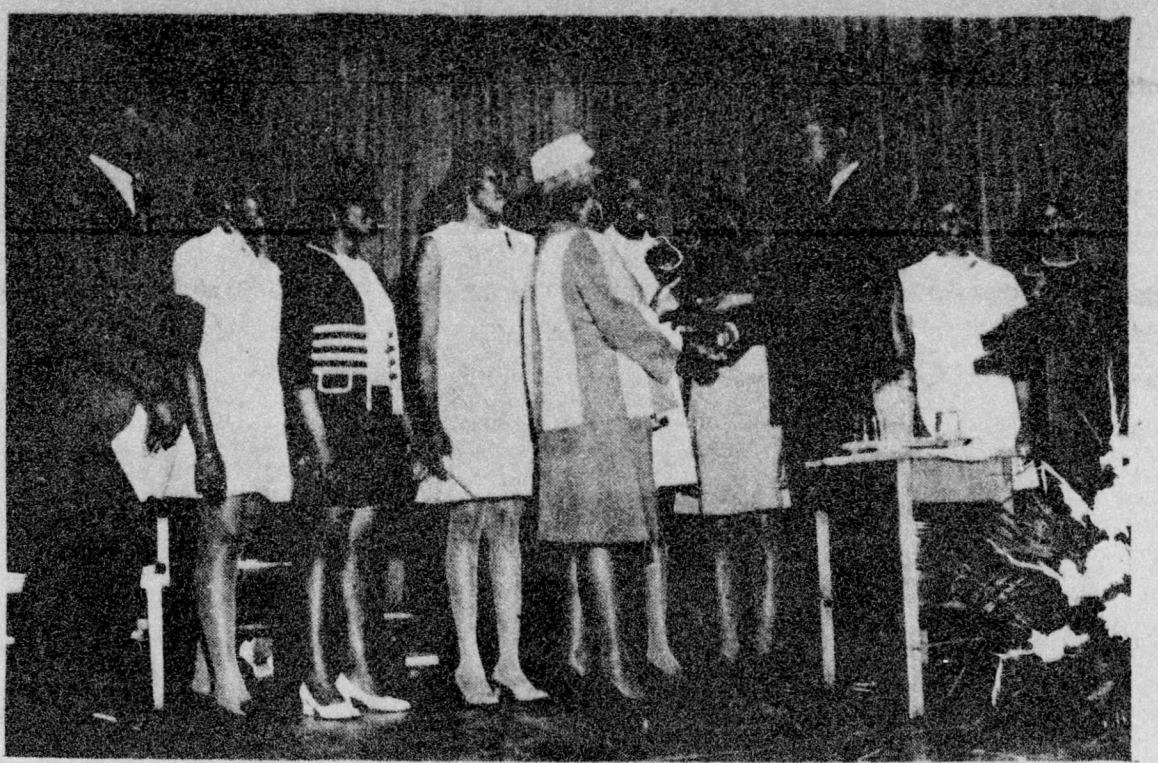

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) were in our Oakvilles. The soapboxing blackthinkers, the angry extremists, the nationalists represent a minute of today's Negroes." While acknowledging that blacks "my have to fight harder to make equality work," Owens insists that American Negroes have made "tremendous progress."

"What we need is self-control, true assertiveness and long-range planning," he writes. Owens adds a footnote to history by revealing that it was his chief German opponent, Lutz Long, who urged him to draw the famous "short line" in his third try to qualify for the broad-jump competition during the 1936 Olympics.

During the qualifying trials, Long had broken the Olympic record on his first try. "When my turn came," Owens writes, "Hitler rose from his box and walked out. Mad, hate-mad, I fouled out on my first try. On my second, I didn't jump far enough to qualify." With just one try left to him, Owens says, panic set in. He began to shake. Then Long, who had been chatting with friends, walked over and put a hand on his arm. "You are a better jumper than this," the German said. "You must qualify."

"Long steadied me, suggested that I draw a line short of the takeoff board and jump from there - and the panic emptied out of me like a cloudburst. On my third and last try, I qualified by more than a foot." Owens went on to win a gold medal in the broad jump; he also took three other gold medals: in the 100-meter and 200-meter dashes, and in the relay.

"Thanks to Lutz Long," Owens writes, "I was one step farther from blackthink and hate." Long was later killed in World War II, but not before he and Owens developed what the American Negro calls "as fine a friendship as I would ever have with a white man."

SHRINERS

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) p.m., Saturday, when the mammoth parade will take place. Two out-of-state units, Roaring Thunder, a crack motorcycle stunt aggregation, Mecca Temple, Washington, D. C., and a high-stepping marching squad from Arabia Temple, Portsmouth, Va., are expected to exhibit such antics as Goldsboro has never seen. It is expected that there will be marching teams from practically all the Temples of North Carolina. The marching teams will start their drill at 8 a. m., Saturday. The parade will exhibit thrills and drills performed by young and old. The Sunday activities will begin with a breakfast at the Goldsboro Hotel Motor Inn, with the Imperial officers and state officials in attendance. Mayor G. T. Gibson will give the official welcome. After the breakfast, a motorcade will form and go to the First African Baptist Church, where an impressive religious service will be held. Past Immediate-Potentate, Dr. John H. Hester, will deliver the sermon. He had gained a national reputation as a Baptist preacher.

The Best Grove Choir, under the direction of Benjamin Johnson, will render the music. Members of the Temples and Courts will be the guests of the church. The public is invited to share this service with the Shriners. Federal Insurance Administrator George K. Bernstein has been conducting two studies pursuant to the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 and is preparing reports with recommendations to be submitted by June 30 of this year. The studies seek to assure an adequate market for burglary, theft and other property insurance and adequate availability of surety bonds for construction contractors.

SPAULDING

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) and responsible Negro on its Board of Directors. "Such action would definitely place your company in the vanguard of the major corporations on the wave of the future. Furthermore, such a person could bring to your deliberations a point of view interpretation which might not otherwise be adequately understood, and considered in proper perspective.

"Good racial attitudes and relations may well be one of the essential keys to the stability of our form of government and to the economic progress of the country in the years ahead." Spaulding has already received replies from sixty two of the 109 companies written. The first two replies came within a week and read in part as follows: Number 1. "I suspect that every member of our Board would agree with the sentiment expressed in your letter of February 4. Would you be good enough to suggest six or more able and responsible Negroes whom I might bring to the attention of the Board?" Number 2. "If you have in mind any Negroes who you think are worthy of consideration, I would be delighted to have their names."

Mr. Spaulding says the responses have been so favorable that he senses the need for developing a kind of "Bank" of qualified blacks and other minorities for corporate directorships and other top level positions, and from which business and industry might draw. This is now being considered.

New Anthology By Black Writers To Be Published

BY FAWCETT PREMIER NEW YORK—"In the long run, a work of art is important in itself, is a social action in itself, and if it succeeds or fails it does so on its merits, not because the author did or did not fight some ideological battle. In the long run the basic unity of human experience," Ralph Ellison has said, "is the supreme goal; to disregard this is to deny one's social responsibility. The celebration of human life takes precedence over all else." This quote from ON BEING BLACK: Writings by Afro-Americans from Frederick Douglass to the Present, edited by Charles T. Davis and Daniel Walden, expresses in many ways what this anthology is all about. Fawcett Premier will publish this new book of Afro-American writings as an original paperback in April (1970).

Romney Calls All-Industry Property Insurance Confab

Representatives of principal insurance trade organizations and of large unaffiliated insurers, as well as insurance agents and brokers and State insurance authorities, will be invited to participate in the meetings to be held in HUT headquarters. "We have reached a number of significant conclusions regarding insurance availability problems in these areas," Mr. Bernstein said, "and believe that a full and open discussion of alternative approaches could be profitable. Because of the magnitude and complexity of the problems, the full cooperation and support of both State regulatory authorities and of the property insurance industry are necessary; advance discussion of possible lines of action can provide a valuable airing of views and an opportunity to winnow out unfeasible ideas or recommendations."

A&T Receives $68,000 NSF Grant In Biology

GREENSBORO - A&T State University was notified Tuesday that the University has been approved for a National Science Foundation of $68,724 to conduct a nine-week institute for high school biology teachers. Announcement of the grant was made by President Lewis C. Dowdy, who said the Institute, involving 50 teachers, will be held June 8 to August 8.

Director of the program will be Dr. Artis P. Graves, chairman of the Department of Biology at A&T. "This Institute will be designed primarily to improve the quality of high school instruction in biology," said Graves. "With better instruction, we hope to inspire in high school students a greater desire for careers in the area of biological science."
