J-State Students In Program

JACKSON, Mississippi - Sixteen junior students from eight predominantly Negro colleges and universities will participate in a summer program in business orientation June 22 through August 14, at the University of Cincinnati.

The program is designed to attract greater numbers of black students to business careers and to assist third-year students by increasing their understanding of an capacities for careers in industry. Participants' time will be divided between classwork and study at UC and business/industry orientation and training at Procter and Gamble.

UC will conduct two non-profit courses in business communications and business quantitative methods. P&G will provide project type experiences which will be related as closely as possible to the interest and training of each student. The company will also give the students an overview of business organization through seminar sessions and business simulation exercises.

Room, board, tuition, fees and books will be provided each student, in addition to a $20 per week stipend for local expenses. At the end of the eight-week period, each student will receive an educational stipend of $640, which may be used for his college expenses next year.

Coordinator of the program is Dr. Lawrence C. Hawkins, dean of UC's College of Community Services. Participants were selected from among well-rounded students, one year away from a bachelor's degree, in business, engineering or arts and sciences, with an expressed interest in entering business or industry after graduation.

Students participating from Jackson State College are: Robert Funches, Monticello, Miss., and Hattie Williams, Hattiesburg, Miss.

Vice President Kee Announces Shaw University's Four Scholarship Winners

According to Thomas E. Kee, Vice President for Student Affairs at Shaw University, four Shaw students will receive scholarships this fall from the Gulf Oil Corporation.

A first year, second year, third year and fourth year student in the School of Urban Sciences, majoring in Business Administration will be selected by the Academic Affairs Council to receive the Gulf Honors Scholarships. The grant to the senior will be for one year, but the grants to the others may be renewed until they complete the normal four years of undergraduate study or until they receive the baccalaureate degree whichever is less. An incoming freshman will be selected in each subsequent year so that Gulf will have four continuing scholarships in force at Shaw each year.

When the program was set up last year, Gulf had planned to introduce one Honors Scholarship a year to a freshman so that by 1972 and in subsequent years four students would be benefiting from this program. But, according to E. L. Butcher, Secretary to Gulf's Aid to Education Committee, "Since it now appears that there is a very serious need for scholarship support on campuses, Gulf has decided to speed up the procedure by making all four scholarships available immediately."

The Shaw University students will be among 98 receiving Gulf grants in 26 departments of 23 colleges and universities in the United States. Butcher said that there were some 250 colleges and universities originally submitted to Gulf. In "wedding" out those originally submitted, "we saw Shaw University continuously 'crop up' more than any of the others."

In all cases, the students will have their tuition, books and fees paid to a maximum of $1,500 per year, renewable if they maintain satisfactory progress in their programs of study. This means that Shaw will receive $6,000 per year. This is the second grants from Gulf to Shaw this year. Earlier the University received a $5,000 unrestricted grant from Gulf.

Butcher said, "The Gulf Honors Scholarships are part of more than $3 million Gulf is investing in higher education this year. Other facets of the program include capital grants, departmental assistance grants, and unrestricted grants to colleges and universities, and a number of Gulf Fellowships awarded to graduate students."

Kee said that the students will be named at a later date.

EUPHORIA

BY D. J. HOFFMAN

Euphoria, my unborn child in heaven, Do not pout.

For I love you with a precious love your, Mother brought about.

Yes dear, I do love your Mummie, And dear Mummie, she loves me; So we planned you from the start, And that is why you have to be.

Euphoria, your mother loves you, Just as much as I, and she'll Love you 'til she leaves this earth, And you are forced to cry.

For the sweet things she will show you, And the love she will bestow on, Our Euphoria, Euphoria, and dear, We love you so.

Your Weekly Horoscope

July 9 thru July 15, 1970

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Don't allow flesh merchants to involve you in any unworthy schemes. You are too fine a person to fall for exploitation jazz. On third and fourth days try to simmer down emotionally. Last three days of week could be most profitable careerwise. Keep ears open for important remark made by higher-up.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You are a stubborn sonofagun Taurus. This you know. And in week ahead you will encounter one who will be equally as opinionated as you are. The battle of wills should prove most stimulating. Odds are that in final analysis the victor will lie down with the vanquished.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Don't allow hostilities to get the upper hand in week ahead, Gem. Last week was a heller, but if you don't keep the lid on the pot week coming up could be even worse. You think that's not possible? Come on Gem, you know better than that. Things can always get worse. On last two days of week energy cycle should reach high, and creatively you'll be most productive.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Tendency to petulance will be strong first three days of week Moonlover. Watch it. To become overly irritated by trifles is bad on the old ticker. Not to mention your relationships with day-to-day associates and/or mate.

LEO (July 23-August 22): Week coming up is one for Leo baby to do some real soul-searching. You know, the hence, the why and the whither bit. In these days of instant everything, you would be wise to get away from the maddening crowd and seek wisdom from Nature. Physically and psychically you will find rejuvenation. If you haven't tried it, don't knock it.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22): Knotty problems may arise before fifth day Virg. First impulse will be to seek simplistic solution. But this will never do for Virg. Virg is too complex. Explore possibilities of spiritual communion with one whom you respect. This person will possibly be of opposite sex and perhaps a Scorp.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22): Emotions and subconscious will be stirred by unexpected news before week is over. News not necessarily written or spoken. Perhaps news will be transmitted by nonverbal experience. Vibes will be working overtime.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21): You could encounter one in week ahead, Scorp, to whom you will respond first on a physical level (your usual first response) but before long you will discover intellectual, and perhaps even metaphysical attraction. Sound too far out for a Scorp? Not on your life, baby. You are capable of many and varied experiences. Shut no doors.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21): In week ahead, do what you want to do. And when you want to do it. Providing no one is hurt by your actions. Consider Saj first and most importantly. Your imagination will be challenged. Blow your little mind, if you can find it.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19): My wonderful Cap, you've had your ups and downs in past few weeks. However, it is old Olga's pleasure to inform you that events are about to take a real turn for the better. Especially that part of your life which you have had feeling was incomplete. In short, Cap, you are about to make a connection to end ALL connections. Don't miff it.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18): Endurance is key word for survival in week ahead, Aquarius my sweet. Now don't look so depressed. If you promise to plod during coming week, old Olga promises you a nice surprise. Soon. Maybe even sooner.

PISCES (February 19-March 20): There is one who will be a pain in the you-know-what, but offer any aid and comfort you are able. The rewards will be beyond belief.

Dr. Thorpe Invited To D. C. Talks

ELIZABETH CITY - Dr. Marion D. Thorpe has been invited to attend a meeting of Southern College presidents and student leaders to be held in Washington, D. C., during the latter portion of July.

According to a letter from Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm, "This meeting is vital if we are serious about the survival of Black educational institutions.

ECSU's president met with Representative Chisholm (Dem., N. Y.), and other members of the Black Caucus last month during the aftermath of the crisis at Jackson State College.

"It is hope that from this meeting will evolved a meaningful and relevant approach toward dealing with the tension and frustration of Black students," Representative Chisholm stated in her letter to Dr. Thorpe.

Prior to this vital meeting, Dr. Thorpe is scheduled to attend a special meeting of representatives of the National Association for Equal Opportunities in Higher Education, June 26, in Atlanta, Ga.
