Number 08663, second, is valued in the amount of $15 worth of trade at Briggs' Hardware Store, 220 Fayetteville St.; and 08869, third, will bring its bearer $10 worth of trade at Bosse Jewelers, 401 Fayetteville Street.

The Spotlight this week is on Smith's Shoe Shop, 1811 Old Garner Road.

It is important that the persons who have these lucky tickets understand that he or she SHOULD NOT go to the businesses involved but first present them to The CAROLINIAN for verification. Deadline for submitting any winning house number to this office is Monday, July 13, at 5 p.m. If on one claims the merchandise the week that it is offered, then when that particular merchant's number is drawn again in the revised Sweepstakes feature, amounts indicated will be added to it.

Nixon was a friend to the Negro. It further stated that Nixon's program was being directed to aid all Americans, with special interest being given the Negro.

It was reported from reliable sources that the telegram irked Spottswood and that there were rumors that the matter was being referred to the legal department, for study, to determine whether it contained libel. Tucker intimated that many of the leaders of the NAACP were on the payroll of the Democratic party and even though they espoused the cause of freedom, they were duty bound to defend the Democratic leaders and play the Republican down.

A telephone interview by The CAROLINIAN, with Bishop Tucker revealed that he was not disturbed by the threat of court action and felt that he could support his accusations with documented proof.

Tucker is one of the surviving victims of hate. He boasts of the fact that he wears battle scars, inflicted by the Ku Klux Klan, while he was pastoring in Florida, many years ago, because of his stand on civil rights. He was recently attacked in his home when he answered a call at his door in the thick of the night.

Spottswood has an available record also as a fighter for freedom. He served as the president of the Washington, D. C. NAACP Branch for a number of years and was elevated to the post of chairman of the National Board of Directors, where he has become an emblem of freedom.

Mr. Parker was arrested about 6 p.m. last Saturday by Durham Detective Frank McCrea.

The reason for Hopkins taking the money and fleeing was not determined at CAROLINIAN press time, but he was allegedly losing heavily at the time he "swiped" the stakes and ran.

A thorough investigation into the case is being pressed by members of the Durham Police and Detective Departments.

Funeral services had not been announced at the time this newspaper went to press.

was elected member-at-large of the Executive Council.

In the areas of national commitments, Links, Inc., honored its pledges of $100,000 to the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, and $100,000 to the National Urban League. Dr. John W. Davis, educational director of the NAACP and EF, emphasized in his acceptance that Link women had been genuinely concerned in the extension of democracy, desegregation in the public schools, and the plight of Negro teachers and administrators during the transition to integrated educational settings.

Whitney Young, Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, accepted the $100,000 to his organization for the employment of college youth in the ghettos of the large metropolitan areas in the League's "Upward Bound and Outward Thrust" summer program.

Links launched new thrusts in subscribing to national needs in Education and Health. In view of the fact that the black private colleges have produced 95 percent of today's black leadership and are struggling for survival in the educational competitive market with state-supported colleges, Links made the pledge that the United Negro College Fund would now claim their serious attention as a national project.

In addition, Links heeded the call of the Sickle Cell Disease Research Foundation when it was revealed that the disease affected blacks largely and no subsidies had been forthcoming in financial aid to those so afflicted. Again, Links pledged that sickle cell diseases would claim their serious attention as the twin part of their national project.

The organization presented the first all-black Art Show in 20 years under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Hough. The University of Cincinnati extended the use of the Alms Galleries for the exhibit where it will hang until September 1, 1970. Links turned the Art Exhibit over to the City of Cincinnati and it was accepted by Negro councilman H. Bush, accepting for the mayor.

The National Endowment for the Arts participated through Leonard Kandolph, Assistant Director of Community Programs, who addressed the Assembly and joined as host for the opening of the Exhibit, Don Sowell, art supervisor in the Cincinnati public schools, also served as host.

Mayor J. Ruhlman of Cincinnati welcomed the Assembly and three black municipal officeholders were featured: William MacClain, Solicitor of the City of Cincinnati; and Vice Mayors Mrs. Athalie Range of Miami, Fla., and Maynard H. Jackson of Atlanta, James Mann of Atlanta, Ga., and Link Lois Towles Caesar of San Francisco were featured in musicales. Link Bernice Muncie was honored for having structured Links' first program, Services to Youth.

For the first time in its 24 year history, Links inducted into membership honoree Etta Moton (Mrs. Claude Barnett) of Chicago, Illinois. Well-known for her achievement in the music and movie world, Miss Moton best illustrated American women at work in the area of international service and goodwill, a facet of Links' program emphasis. She and her husband (deceased) worked in the establishment of native newspapers in all black nations south of the Sahara, West Africa. Miss Moton continues the interest, visits and the contacts.

LINIAN until 1965 when his health forced him into an early retirement.

Mr. Swain was born in Southport, but was reared in Wilmington. He was a graduate of Hampton Institute in Virginia, and, for a number of years, sang with the famed Hampton Singers.

Later, he worked with the U. S. Health Department. A noted gourmet of choice foods, Swain also served as manager of the famed Delmarocco Club in Wilmington. He was also a member of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Margaret R. Swain of the home; a sister, Mrs. Madeline Galloway, Wilmington; a 90-year-old uncle, Mr. Ed Swain, Southport; and a host of other relatives and friends.

from which he received his secondary training, and Shaw University, from which he received the Bachelor of Science degree.

His professional experiences, included teaching positions in Zebulon and principalships in Warrenton, Roper and Littleton. He was a dedicated member of the First Baptist Church, where he served faithfully as pulpit assistant until falling health kept him from his duties.

For many years, he was employed by the State.

His influence was felt in many church and civic-affiliated groups, such as the Sunday School, Church Group No. 11, Fourth Ward Progressive Club and the Young Men's Christian Association. He was a member of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, having been initiated in the Delta Psi Chapter in 1924.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Blalock Lester, two daughters, Mrs. Dorothea L. Chavis, Newark, New Jersey; Mrs. Gloria L. Feinster, Raleigh; two sons, William Alpheus Lester and Lawrence Rufin Lester, both of Raleigh; three sisters, Sophia L. Baskerville, Miss Clara A. Lester and Mrs. Wilhelmina L. Johnson, all of Virginia; four grandchildren and many other relatives and friends.

The life of Rev. John A. Lester serves as a memorial to his family and friends for it was one of devotion, unselfish and unshakable commitment to true Christian living and service.

More than 3,500 delegates and guests are expected to attend the 60th National League Conference, a race relations forum concerned with techniques of organizing the black community to bring about social, economic, educational and political change in a troubled Nation.

Barbecue with Molasses

For the simplest of barbecue sauces for any season, spoon or brush Brer Rabbit Light Molasses over meats and fish being broiled or baked... over outdoor coals or in the house. When brushed on beef, poultry, or other meats before cooking, light molasses seals in the juices and gives a wonderful "charcoal-broiled" flavor even to meats cooked in the stove. This simple sauce enhances the flavor of meats and fish. Keep a bottle of light molasses handy in the kitchen for adding fine fillips to your summer cooking.

Dillard To Become Repository For Civil Rights Manuscripts

NEW ORLEANS, La. — Dillard University will become the repository of one of the world's outstanding collections of original manuscripts on the history of the civil rights concept in the United States. Dr. Broadus N. Butler, Dillard president, announced last Tuesday.

More than three-million manuscripts, letters and other items comprising the newly created Amistad Research Center will be permanently located on the Dillard campus. The nucleus of its vast documentary holdings is the American Missionary Association archives containing over 300,000.

The Amistad Research Center materials are now being uncrated in the William Alexander Library of Dillard, where they will be housed until a permanent building is erected on the campus by the Center.
