

Garner's Benton Haywood Receives MD At Meharry

GARNER—As you reach adulthood so often the dreams and ambitions of your days of youth have been bypassed, but not so with Dr. Benton D. Haywood, Garner, native, and son of Mr. and Mrs. William Rogers, 206 Purvis St.

On Sunday, June 7, Dr. Haywood realized his dream of becoming a medical doctor, a dream which he first expressed at the age of thirteen and a dream which at times has seemed almost an impossibility.

Young Haywood graduated from Garner Consolidated High School in 1953 and went on to Shaw University where he graduated with honors and a degree in chemistry. Following those years, he taught school for a while in Weldon, N. C. and then at Charlotte. Not satisfied, the young man went on to earn his Master's degree at North Carolina College in Durham and then was head of the Chemistry Department at Winston-Salem State Teachers College for several years.

He found his work gratifying and enjoyed the work in the classroom, but always there was the urge to do something more and finally he decided that he would once more seek the role of the student and make an attempt to fulfill those dreams of the past years. So it was that he enrolled at Meharry Medical School in Tennessee four years ago.

He and Mrs. Haywood, the former Myrtle Ownes of Columbia, N. C., have one daughter, Carla, who is now eight years old.

DR. BERTON HAYWOOD

At the graduation exercises Dr. Haywood received the Upjohn Achievement in Gynecology and Obstetrics and a plaque for his excellence in clinical and academic obstetrics and gynecology.

The future plans at the moment are indefinite for the Haywood family. They will remain in Nashville for the time being, but the driving force which led him to become a doctor could also lead him into becoming a North Carolina physician.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers attended the graduation exercises in Nashville.

CORRECTION!

In last week's edition, The CAROLINIAN inadvertently carried a photo indicating the person to be 10-year-old Miss Tommino Jo Tomlinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy W. Tomlinson, 1216 Bunche Dr., this city. This story did not have a photograph attached to it, therefore the picture in the paper was not that of Tommino Jo. She traveled alone last Tuesday by train to Miami, Fla., where she was the guest of her uncle and aunt-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donzo L. Tomlinson. The CAROLINIAN apologizes to the Tomlinson family for this error, and especially to Tommino Jo.

Jest For Fun

BY MARCUS H. BOULWARE
THEM LADY BUGS

That Seattle Newsman had better not let those lady bugs get in his bed.

Here's why I say this:

Jim Heckman portioned 100,000 ladybugs to fellow workers who preferred the insects to pesticides.

If you do not know it, ladybugs eat aphids and other plant-destroying insects. Heckman ordered his bugs to deal with garden problems on which he didn't want to use pesticides. Before ordering the bugs, he posted a notice on the city room bulletin board for anyone else interested.

A number of colleagues responded, and Heckman wound up sent $41 to a California firm for the ladybugs, then distributed them to his co-workers. His major problem was getting the bugs into packages.

What would he do, if 25,000 ladybugs got inside his house?

Pete's Pickin's

Since I last appeared in print I had a chance to get a card from an old friend, Saint Anderson Lewis, New York City. He was for a number of years "the runner" for the Wake County Savings Bank, this city. It was real nice to hear from him.

"Old" "Skink" Browning called me up to see if illness had been the cause of my failure to write for a couple weeks. Well, at least I found out that some one missed the old column when it falls to appear.

I'm indebted to the friends of Fayetteville Street Baptist Church in general and to Mrs. Effie Rogers class for "considering" me on Men's Day. It was most enjoyable. An the same day Tupper Memorial Church, under Rev. Leola Debnam, gave me "sing-ing" recognition at the morning hour of worship. Would you believe it?

Mrs. Lydia Smith, E. Edenton St., visited relatives in Greenville, S. C., Chester, Pa., and New York City. When last heard of here address was XXX. Her family is confident of a safe and early return home.

Mrs. Essie Dunmore, Walser St., was happy to be at her church last Sunday after a siege of illness. Her many friends were happy to see her.

Mrs. Viola Pearson, Camnister St., visited relatives and friends in Hamlet and High Point during the holiday.

Mr. James O'Neal, Jr., Camden St., visited friends and his parents here last week. He is an instructor in Oslo, Sweden and plans to resume his work there shortly after visiting his sister in Pennsylvania and a brother in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Maggie Blalock, Camden St., continues on the sick and shut-in list. Her many friends hope for her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Foster of Philadelphia, Pa., spent the holidays with his mother, Mrs. Marie Green, Southgate.

Was this the week for birthdays? Well, every week is birthday week. Sister Gary really had a birthday celebration and as usual, it was well attended. Persons came all the way from New York City to help show their admiration. We're not going to ask how old, I can really say that if the cake had one candle, it was right.

My old stand by friend, Callie Berry, 105 Bart St., noted her birthday on July 6th. Really it started on July 4th and finally came to a successful close, with the highlight of a most appetizing dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Goodson, Garner.

Watch this column next week for complete coverage of the Rev. J. D. Lockley Silver Anniversary.

Women's Bureau Releases Study On Child's Hospital Facilities

WASHINGTON - A growing number of hospitals throughout the country are finding the operation of child care centers an effective tool in recruiting and retaining needed personnel, Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan Koontz, Director of the Women's Bureau, Wage and Labor Standards Administration, Department of Labor, reports.

The results of a Women's Bureau survey illustrate that provision by hospitals of adequate child care facilities for their health personnel benefits both employers and employees. Recruitment is improved, and absenteeism and labor turnover are reduced. More mothers are free to work, and part-time employees can work more hours a day and more days a week. Moreover, knowledge that their children are receiving good care makes the mothers more effective employees.

care programs may aid considerably in meeting the increasing demand in many segments of our economy for trained personnel as well as in alleviating one of the problems encountered by many mothers who work or who would like to work.

The survey findings are published in Women's Bureau Bulletin 295, "Child Care Services Provided by Hospitals."

In noting the implications of the survey for other types of employers, Mrs. Koontz pointed out that development of child

THE PASSING OF THE FOURTH OF JULY BY ELVAULTIA (EVE) MIAL
1 MECKLENBURG TERRACE

The 4th of July has finally passed; And some dear souls didn't last; They went on to rest in that eternal place, Because they didn't win that final race.

(EVE) MIAL

But by God's grace some did win; Only to go farther down into sin; Blinded by our selfish desires so, Had God called, we wouldn't have been ready to go.

Now there's 4th of July blood on our streets; With puddles of blood as big as sheets; Young and old died night and day, Some went to Heaven, some the other way.

I know dying is nothing new; But there's only a first time for you; And racing cars isn't what you should do, Being true is what'll pull you through.

If you think racing your car is right; Ask your parents about late at night; When they're in bed trying to sleep, They're praying to God YOUR souls to keep.

BROWNS' KELLY ON TWO WEEK ARMY TRAINING STINT—Columbus, Ohio: Leroy Kelly, star running back for the Cleveland Browns who works a wrench on an Army wrecker July 2 during his two-week summer camp at Fort Hayes, said he thinks the realignment of the National Football League will make a better team out of the Browns. Kelly, who is attached to the 83rd Army Reserve Command, said "I think the guys will be better prepared mentally this year because of new conference." (UPI).
