Black Mayors Speak

Dr. Edmonds Of NCCU Is A Delegate

DURHAM - Dr. Helen Gray Edmonds, dean of the graduate school at North Carolina Central University, will join the U. S. delegation to the United Nations, it was announced Saturday night.

The appointment, made by President Nixon, was announced by NCCU president Albert N. Whiting at the school's annual faculty banquet ending the faculty institute.

Dr. Edmonds became a professor in the faculty of North (See DR. EDMONDS, P. 2)

Hatcher, Lee Will Be Heard

DURHAM - Mayor Richard Hatcher of Gary, Indiana and Mayor Howard Lee of Chapel Hill, N. C., will be the principal speakers at the North Carolina Voter Education Project's Fourth Annual Leadership Training Conference in Durham, Sept. 19th.

Mayor Lee will deliver the keynote address at 9:30 a.m. at the Durham Hotel. Mayor Hatcher will address the closing session at 5 p.m. in the B. N. Duke Auditorium on the campus of North Carolina Central University.

John W. Edwards, Director of the North Carolina Voter Education Project, said the purpose of the one day conference, "is to bring together Black leaders from across the state to discuss ways on how they can participate more effectively in the political system." Edwards stated that invitations have been extended to both political parties to send Black representatives.

In addition to the speeches by (See TWO MAYORS, P. 2)

Closed TV Will Link Democrats

WASHINGTON-Democrats across the nation will join in an unprecedented closed-circuit TV campaign conference Sept. 26, Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien has announced.

Sponsored by the Democratic National Committee and the Senate and House Democratic Congressional campaign committees, the "Campaign '70 Democratic Caucus" will bring together elected Democratic officeholders, candidates, state party officials and party workers in 18 major cities for a mid-campaign strategy meeting on issues and campaign techniques for the final six weeks of the critically important 1970 elections races. Panthers Of Nation Said 'Mad'

In an effort to ascertain what effect the confrontation between Black Panthers and law enforcement officers of New Orleans, La., in battle of high-powered rifles, automatic weapons and handguns, earlier this week, THE CAROLINIAN attempted to invade the haunts of the militants in the North Carolina area, in an attempt to find out what the reaction would be.

Efforts to locate members or sympathizers proved futile. Persons who have watched the (See PANTHERS, P. 2)

Victim Of Mine Improves

TOWNSVILLE - Even though the rescuers, the owners of the mine and even the wife of the trapped victim, Richard Owens, 36, in the tungsten mine, for almost 12 hours Tuesday, were greatly relieved when he (Owens) emerged from his bed of mud, his daughter, Phyllis, ran to a nearby car and sobbed heavily.

Phyllis had kept vigil with her mother and the excited crowd, while the rescuers worked furiously from 11 a.m. until 9:30 p.m. They waited very patiently through these grueling hours. And when the daughter glimpsed her father being brought to the surface, she could not hold back any longer.

When her grief abated, she got into the car with her mother and became another anxious part of a number of persons that journeyed to the hospital, behind the ambulance, to determine how seriously Owens was hurt and whether he would survive the ordeal of having been buried in eight feet of mud and rock, in a drift at the 1,500 foot (See VICTIM'S, P. 2)

Parade Of 'Unity' To Precede Classic

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. - The cause of "unity" among people of all races will be dramatically demonstrated on Saturday morning, Sept. 26, as the American Unity Parade, massive prelude to the First Annual National Black Unity Football Classic, swings down Broad Street in celebration of the accomplishments of the Philadelphia area's "black effort."

Nearly 200 musical and marching organizations from throughout the Delaware Valley area will be presented in the parade with floats, choral groups and bands from the 26 participating cities and towns.

Billed as a "stomach wheels," the parade will feature integrated choirs from nearly 100 churches and religious institutions; and floats with wrestling exhibitions, presentations by the Philadelphia Lyric Opera Company and the Pennsylvania Ballet Company, and illustrations (See UNITY, P. 2)

'Forces Working Against America Are Self-Destroying'-Dr. Jackson

NEW ORLEANS, La. - "The forces working against America today are self-destroying because they have no basis in faith or justice. Americanism is our salvation." Dr. Joseph H. Jackson said today at the National Baptist Convention, USA, Inc., in the Rivergate auditorium, New Orleans.

Dr. Jackson, president, addressed his remarks to 20,000 delegates representing 30,000 Baptist churches with a membership totalling 6.3 million, the largest Negro organization in the United States.

Jackson said many leaders in American culture have felt guilt and yielded to the demands of destructionists who advocate the complete annihilation of our cities and government. He quoted from Jerry Rubin's book "DO IT" which declares that the Yippie idea of fun is overthrowing the government and that kids will lock their parents out of their homes and use them as guerrilla bases. A socialistic country would not allow the printing of such a book, Jackson said.

"We must remain free to protest, to criticize and find fault with that which is wrong, but we must be judicious. We must work within the framework of the laws of this land to correct certain principles in our system. . . not because of our color but because we are right.

"I am for the polarization between the would-be destroyers of America and those who work seek to save the nation's life. I believe in dissent, but I do not believe in destruction." Referring to the Old Testament (See DR. JACKSON, P. 2)

COCU Now Moving Fast In Durham

DURHAM-In response to a call sent out by a committee, headed by Rev. John Rogers, associate minister of First Presbyterian Church, and Robert Stillwell, minister of Youth, Trinity Methodist Church, 10 blacks and 20 white church leaders met at Trinity Methodist Church, Sunday, Sept. 13, and formulated plans that tend to properly explore the Plan of Union, projected by the Consultation on Church Union, that will include 9 denominations and bring under one banner, 25,000,000 Christians.

The initial meeting is one of many that are being held throughout the province of the 9 consulting denominations. Copies of the Plan were distributed to those present and they were instructed to take them to their respective communions, for a study that will enable the Durham churches to approach the union, with some knowledge of the proposal. A city-wide meeting has been scheduled for Nov. 1, which will bring three of the planners to the city. They will go into detail about the meeting.

Committees were appointed to plan the meeting, which will be held at Trinity Methodist, First Presbyterian and St. Luke Episcopal Churches. It will begin at 3 p.m., when panels will be set up. The panels will meet for perhaps one and one-half hours. They will adjourn for a luncheon that will be held at St. Luke Church, where discussion will continue and then a joint worship service will be held, with Dr. William A. Benfield, Presbyterian Church in the US, delivering the sermon.

The Rev. Stillwell will head the Program Committee. Other (See COCU, P. 2)

BEATEN AT HOME

Miss Gwendolyn LeVonne Powell, 28, 510 Smithfield St., told Officer Jimmy Max Glover at 8:48 p.m. Saturday, that William Poole, 31, 724 S. Saunders Street, came into her house and started hitting her in the face, back and side. She said she also pulled the sink from the wall in her bathroom. Miss Powell went to the magistrate's office, then decided not to sign assault on a female and damage to property warrants against Poole. "They made up" and she told the cop that she would not sign any warrants. She suffered bruises on the back and side. Damage to the sink was placed at $10. (See CRIME BEAT, P. 3)
