Wilbon-Bazzle Creek Community News

The Bazzle Creek Baptist Church Sunday School assembled at the usual time with our supt., Mr. Robert Norris, in charge. Rev. J. O. Stinson, pastor, reviewed the lesson. Mr. Norris thanked Rev. Stinson for such a wonderful review of the lesson. Our subject was "What Is Unique About Our Faith?" The lesson was chosen from Acts 17:22-28.

Following Sunday School, our morning worship began at 11:15 with the Rev. Price Rogers in charge. His text was taken from the Book of St. Matthew 8:11. He used as his subject "Redeemed Of the Lord." It was inspirational and a message that came from Rev. Rogers' heart. Everyone really enjoyed it. The senior choir was in charge of the music with Mrs. Mazie Baldwin at the organ.

At 2 o'clock the Bazzle Creek Tents gave a program. The scripture was read by Mrs. D. S. Hicks; prayer by Mrs. Golia T. Burt; welcome address by Mrs. Tiller Richardson; music was furnished by the Mt. Calvary Baptist Chorus of Durham. Everyone seemed to have enjoyed the program. The singing was wonderful. Miss Tawanda Jackson was soloist for the Tents.

We, the members of the Bazzle Creek Baptist Church, wish to thank our many visiting friends who motored from Kingston, Durham and Smithfield and Mr. Daniel Lawston of New York.

It was very nice to have Mrs. Christine Thorpe back to church and able to fill her seat in the choir again. Mrs. Thorpe has been ill in the hospital.

We were happy to see Miss Fay Spence home from N. C. Central University, Durham over the weekend and also Miss Maryland Baldwin from Shaw University in Raleigh. It's so nice to know they are enjoying attending the colleges of their choice.

Our sick and shut-ins are as follows: Mrs. Nevie Betts is home from Wake Memorial Hospital. We are proud you were able to come home after such a long stay. Mrs. Betts, Mrs. Jeanett Stewart, Fuquay Varina and Mrs. Jude Beckwith are at home, but reportedly not too well at this writing.

A THOUGHT

"My Savior will not let me fall; His strong and loving arms enfold me; to Him I trust my life, my all, and know that He will safely hold me."

Miss Gilchrist, Bill Farrow To Ohio Convention

Miss Loretta Gilchrist and William Farrow, seniors at St. Augustine's College, will participate in the First National Humanities Convention at Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea, Ohio, on Oct. 7-10.

Students from colleges of 15 states will be represented. Morehouse and Hampton are the other predominantly black colleges participating in the learner's convention.

The learning experiences and environment will be developed at the Humanities Center of the Baldwin-Wallace College campus and nearby Cleveland, Ohio. It is the intent of the National Association of Humanities Education to present students, artists, teachers, and friends of the humanities on an equal footing to learn better ways of approaching the subject and dealing with human beings who are students and teachers.

Miss Gilchrist is a senior majoring in English from Cameron, North Carolina. She is a member of the Phi Kappa Alpha Humanities Society and award winner of the Junior - English Award for the the 1969-'70 school term.

Mr. Farrow is a senior English major from East Orange, New Jersey. He is editor of the school's newspaper, "The Pen."

St. Aug.'s Prexy Welcomes 6 Consortium

Dr. Prezell R. Johnson, president, Saint Augustine's College welcomed the participants to the Orientation Session of the Six Institutions Consortium held recently in the Amphitheatre of the New Classroom Building.

Dr. Joseph Jones, Jr., Vice President for Academic Affairs, explained the purpose of the project. Said he: "The Consortium is a three-year program in African and Afro-American Studies. The thrust of the first year's project was on history and literature, which began last academic year. This year's emphasis is on humanities and next year's emphasis will be on the life sciences."

Bennett College is the headquarters. Barber-Scotia, Livingstone, Saint Augustine's, Shaw, and Winston-Salem State University are the other participating institutions.

Participants of the Consortium are required to compile bibliographies, structure course syllabi and engage in in-service training. Two faculty representatives from each of the institutions engage yearly in the activities of the Consortium.

Yes, We All Talk

BY MARCUS H. BOULWARE, PH. D.

QUESTION: There is considerable talk about "body language"; please explain what is meant by this term?—Mrs. C. M.

ANSWER: Not only do we listen to words, but bodies talk, too! Thus, many times people are saying more to the listener than they are saying with their mouths.

For example, on a stage—warring men—a young couple started nonchalantly. The woman turned into a great snarl. He capped his feet repeatedly on the carpet.

One woman sitting in a corner crossed her legs.

In another corner sat a man alone, watching people and looking bored.

When the young woman looked into the man's eyes, he began to tap his feet. All this attention made him restless.

Why did the man sitting in the corner look bored? Well, the guests had already stayed over their time. It was now 4 a.m.

Maybe the lady who crossed her legs was just simply exercising her ladylike wiles without knowing it—or it could be that she knew perfectly well what she was doing.
