Jacob Hayes Given Rites In Raleigh

Jacob (Jake) Hayes, a prominent church layman and retired businessman of Raleigh, was funeralized Monday at the St. Ambrose Episcopal Church (Rochester Heights) with Father A. J. Calloway, rector and Father Clyde Beatty, chaplain at St. Augustine's College, in charge of the services.

Mr. Hayes, who was born in Wake County in 1881, was a brickmason by profession, having attended St. Augustine's Normal School. He built many of the old houses and places of businesses on Hillsboro, Hargett and Fayetteville Streets and also New Bern Avenue. Along with his father, they built the St. Augustine's College Chapel on the St. Augustine's campus. Having retired from work about eight years ago, Hayes was a devoted member of the St. Ambrose Church, which he joined some 60 years ago. During spare time, Hayes traveled to Topsail Beach where he owned a cottage.

REV. T. C. HAMANS

Served 37 Years At One Church

BY W. A. "PETE" WILDER
The Rev. Tecumseh C. Hamans, beloved pastor of Manly St. United Church of Christ, shocked his hearers last Sunday morning with his undated resignation.

After thirty-seven years of untiring service, the minister began feeling the stress of age. "I'm not walking out on the church," said the minister. He stated that he was willing to continue until a successor could be found. He expressed admiration for the church at large, the "Deacon Board, the choir, every individual member and all the children."

Rev. Hamans came to Manly Street Church in 1933. At once, he set himself to build for himself and the church, the kind of congregation and facility which he felt might serve the needs of the area and the city. His accomplishments toward that end are legend. A church station wagon, with Mr. Lucius Minter at the wheel, provided

Feelings "Run High" In Pitt County City

GREENVILLE-A Pitt County Superior Court jury found a white man not guilty last week in a rape case against a young white woman, while a Negro man was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment in the same case, two weeks ago. Judge Joshua James presided over both sessions.

Feelings were reported "running high" over the alleged one-sidedness of the verdicts.

Thomas Earl Stocks, a 24-year-old white man, and Elmo Barbee, a 21-year-old black man, were charged with the April 24 rape of Mrs. Ann Baker Barry, a Brook Valley housewife.

Barbee was tried in a separate two-week court term earlier this month and found guilty. The jury deliberated only an hour and 15 minutes before returning the not guilty verdict against Stocks.

Mrs. Barry, who is the mother of one child, took the stand at both sessions of the separate trials. She testified at both trials that she awoke to find two men in her bedroom. The attackers covered her eyes and held a knife at her throat, threatening to kill her and her baby, she testified.

The CAROLINIAN learned Tuesday that Stocks is now free (See GUILTY OF, P. 2)

The guidelines, adopted by the Commission on Religion and Race emphasize the use of the funds of self-determination, for empowerment and for "helping persons to help them-

Program Of SOBU Asks
Total Unity

GREENSBORO - Stepping ahead towards solidarity for Black people and positive outlets for Black student resources, the Student Organization for Black Unity (SOBU) this week announced its program for the 1970-71 school year.

Outlined in a 12-page brochure mailed out to over 1,200 persons and organization on both Black and white campuses and in the community, the information was augmented by various background materials and letters of explanation.

Nelson N. Johnson, former student body vice-president at North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University in Greensboro and SOBU's national chairman, took care to explain that SOBU's approach was one which sought to remove the traditional seeds of disunity which have constantly kept the Black campus community divided and dysfunctional.

Towards this end, SOBU was careful to send packets of information to not only student

Black Caucus Not Surprised At All

WASHINGTON, D. C.-Congressman John Conyers, Jr., of Michigan and other black members of Congress last week commented on the Report of the Civil Rights Commission.

Conyers said, "This report comes as no surprise to us. It is further evidence that the racist attitudes in our society are a direct result of the failure of the Federal Government to effectively enforce legislation already on the books, legislation which could discourage a great deal of the racism that presently exists."

"One of the most frustrating aspects of my career as a Congressman is to participate in the legislative battles that finally result in additional civil rights laws only to see them assigned to the library shelves to collect dust."

"The Civil Rights Commission Report is another one in a series which accurately examines the efforts being made in nearly every Federal agency in connection with race relations. This 1,115 page report can be summed up by stating that very little has been accomplished by the majority of the agencies of the Federal Government. We intend to carefully study this report and make specific recommendations to President Nixon as to how the Federal Government can eliminate the racial injustices once again brought to our attention by the Civil Rights Commission."

Shriners Settle Grievances

FAYETTEVILLE - A story that appeared in last week's issue of THE CAROLINIAN, pertaining to the Shriners of the Desert of N. C., as predicted, was the key to an amicable settlement of a question that had been debated for three years.

The matter was the last item on a two day agenda, which brought members from throughout the state-where the 1971 Gala Day Ceremonials would be held. The anticipated trouble began to disappear when influential members of the organization began to extol the virtues of the organization and agreed that harmony was one of the principles upon which the Order was built.

Deputy Thurman J. Smith asked that the matter be heard in all its ramifications. When the discussion was over and

225 Students Walk Out Of School At Wilson

WILSON - A group of about 50 black students who are members of the Fuller Student Movement in Wilson, boycotted the Wilson Fike High School Monday for the second time in recent weeks when the administration, according to the students, "failed to comply satisfactorily" to a list of demands presented to the administration October 8.

Approximately 225 black students left the school Tuesday, October 13 morning around 10:30 as the first step of the boycott which is aimed at achieving several things within the school. However, the students returned to school the next day and gave the administration until Monday, October 19 to meet their demands.

Among the grievances presented to the administration were the abolishment of an unfair point system, the organization of Black History classes, the return of the Judiciary Board with equal representation and a better relationship between teachers and the black students.

This list of demands was first presented to the administration October 8 in a letter from the Fuller School Movement. Another letter from this organization was presented to the principal, W. Willard Woodard an October 16 with the deadline date for meeting these demands set as Monday, October 19.
