

Acme Cab's James P. Freeman Slain In Raleigh

Woman Free On Bond In Death Of Cab Co. Head

JAMES P. FREEMAN

MRS. LUCY H. BECOAT

'Bond Set At $5,000 - Hearing Held Next Day

"It looked to me as though he had been shot right in the heart," stated Wake County Coroner Marshall W. Bennett, early this week in commenting on the death of James Palmer Freeman, who was shot to death around 3 a.m. Jan. 1. Mrs. Lucy Harris Becoat, 55, 3052-A Woods Place, was charged with murder in the death.

Released under a bond of $5,000 in the custody of bondman M. E. Williams of W&W Bonding Company, 305 Pace Street, Mrs. Becoat was given an earlier hearing on Saturday, Jan. 2. She is believed to have been a dispatcher for the cab company, owned by Mr. Freeman, who also operated Acme Auto Service and other business enterprises here.

According to a witness, she observed Mrs. Becoat and Mr. Freeman walking out of the dispatcher's office, heard sounds of an argument, then heard a gun go off. Officer E. B. Baucum was the first to arrive at the scene of the shooting, 529 S. Blount Street. She also said she saw Freeman lying in the street, then saw two men pick him up and place him in an automobile. According to officers, when they arrived at the scene, Freeman was sitting in an upright position in the car. It could not be ascertained just how the hearing was held on Saturday, since that was a part of the New Year's holiday weekend. However, according to Jailer W. E. Bagwell, Mrs. Becoat was freed on the $5,000 bond at 2:45 last Saturday. The coroner said the weapon used is believed to have been a .22 calibre pistol. Only one shot was fired.

The Acme Cab Company was founded by Freeman in 1935. He made his home with a sister, Mrs. Pearl F. Williams, at 211 N. Tarboro Road. Funeral services for Mr. Freeman were conducted Sunday, Jan. 3 at the First Baptist Church with the pastor, Rev. Dr. Charles W. Ward, and Father Arthur J. Calloway, rector of Saint Ambrose Episcopal Church, presiding.

Report Gainful Work For Minority Bodies

NEW YORK, N. Y.—An increase in the proportion of gainful employment by minority workers on State-aided housing developments during the first year of operation of the State Division of Housing and Community Renewal's Affirmative Action program was announced last Thursday by State Housing Commissioner Charles J. Urstadt.

"Our Affirmative Action program," said Commissioner Urstadt, "was initiated in an effort to promote maximum employment opportunity, without discrimination, during construction of these projects. Although the State does not hire, or place, construction workers on these State supervised projects, we feel a strong responsibility to aid minority group construction workers in gaining employment consistent with the availability of such workers in the area of the project."

The statistics cited by Commissioner Urstadt are based on an analysis of data on minority employment in the major employment categories of foreman, journeyman, laborers and apprentice compiled in the field and reported by the general contractor on 18 State-aided middle-income housing projects under construction during the four quarters beginning July 1, 1969 and ending June 30, 1970. The Division's program uses man-days as a unit of measurement rather than a simple head-count to ascertain actual amount of gainful

"Preach The Gospel Of Liberation," Emancipation Day Audience Is Urged

DURHAM - Osofo LaFayette McDonald challenged the ministers of the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance of Durham and vicinity and the general audience to "preach the gospel of liberation to every man, woman and child until justice runs down like a mighty stream" as he delivered the speech for the Emancipation Proclamation one hundred and sixth anniversary service which was held at West Durham Baptist Church at 11 o'clock on New Year's Day.

McDonald, who is pastor of the Northside Baptist Church in Durham and also college minister at Durham Business College, was a last minute substitute speaker for Dr. Sandy F. Ray, pastor of the Cornerstone Baptist Church in Brooklyn, New York. Dr. Ray was unable to get to the services because of the inclement weather.

Learning he was to be the speaker for the services about an hour and a half before the

Council Sees Huggins Refuses To Grant Request

Harry Huggins appeared at the regular bi-monthly meeting of the Raleigh City Council Monday afternoon and requested that the council set-up a civilian review board to review his case of charges leveled against Black patrolman Floyd Lee Rountree for police brutality.

The council decided not to take any action on this matter until after the case is heard in the Raleigh District Court Feb. 3.

Increased Cash Set For Vets

Increased payments, averaging between 9 and 10 per cent for approximately 1.6 million veterans and survivors on the Veterans Administration pension rolls, are provided in a bill signed into law by the President on Dec. 24.

The bill, VA reported, also raised income limitations that determine if, and how much, VA pension can be awarded to disabled veterans, and widows and children of deceased veterans.

VA pension is paid for disabilities and deaths not due to military service.

The new law was designed to avoid a drop in income for those "current law" pensioners whose Social Security increased during 1970 and who would have had veterans pension benefits reduced beginning Jan. 1, 1971.

An increase in benefits was also given to parents receiving dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC).

The income limit controlling the receipt of pension was increased by $300 for both "protected" and "current law" pensioners, as well as parents receiving DIC.

Increases of 10 per cent were also authorized for veterans on the current law pension rolls entitled to aid and attendance, as well as for widows receiving death compensation, DIC or current law pension. The household rate for veterans entitled under the current pension law was also increased by 10 per cent.

The new law also removes the requirement for persons age 72 or older who have been in receipt of VA benefits for two consecutive years to file annual income questionnaires, although they are still required to report changes in income or net worth. This provision applies to income reports to be filed at the end of 1971.

Cops Given Assistance By Military

JACKSONVILLE—Military police assisted city policemen for the city of Jacksonville, North Carolina in breaking up fights here last Thursday morning at the local bus station.

More than 60 Marines were loaded on a truck and returned to Camp Lejeune early Thursday morning after a brawl broke out between a white and black Marine in the bus station around 12:30 a.m.

After this one incident occurred, the bus station developed into a "massacre." Twelve Marines were held briefly for questioning, but no charges were preferred.

Charles Miracle, city police department detective, said racial tension had been growing high in the city since Pvt. Alonza Watts, a black, was arrested and charged with the Nov. (See 60 MARINES, P. 2)

Publishers Will Hear Jas. Farmer

CINCINNATI - James Farmer, fiery civil rights leader who recently resigned from the Nixon sub-Cabinet as Assistant Secretary of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW), will address the Mid-Winter Workshop of the National Newspaper Publishers Association here, Jan. 20-22.

It will be Farmer's first major address since leaving his administration post. He will speak at a dinner meeting on Jan. 21 at the Netherland Hilton Hotel where the Workshop is to be held.

Others who are to speak before the body are: Gov. John J. Gilligan of Ohio; Michigan Secretary of State Richard Austin; and Abraham S. Venable, director, Office of Minority Business Enterprise of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Additional features of the Workshop, says John H. Sengstacke, head of Sengstacke newspapers and president of NNPA, will be discussion sessions aimed at further improving the black press and making it more useful to its readers.

In addition to discussing civil rights, black political power, and black capitalism, the publishers will concern themselves with: special editions, cooking schools, new styling, new editorial and advertising approaches, and the role of the black press in the 1970's.

Editor's Note: This column or feature is produced in the public interest with an aim towards eliminating its contents. Numerous individuals have requested that they be given the consideration of overlooking their listing on the police blotter. This we would like to do. However, it is not our position to be judge or jury. We merely publish the facts as we find them reported by the arresting officers. To keep on the Crime Beat Columns, merely means not being registered by a police officer in reporting his findings while on duty. Do simply keep off the "Blotter" and you won't be in the Crime Beat.

USE AXE, KNIFE

William Roger Ray, 34, 534S. Saunders Street, told Officer R. L. Johnson at 2:18 a.m. Friday, that he was in a fight with Donzell Williams, age and address not listed. Ray said he had an axe and Williams was in possession of a knife. Warrants were signed against both men, charging engaging in an affray where a deadly weapon was used. The cop was unable to locate Williams, but Mr. Ray was jailed after being treated and released at Wake Memorial Hospital for numerous cuts and lacerations about his head, shoulders and left arm. The melee occurred at Ray's house.
