NUL Has Fear Over Fair Trial

NEW YORK, N. Y.-The National Urban League this week expressed "grave concern" that Angela Davis may not receive a fair trial and called on all citizens to "join in demanding a fair trial for Miss Davis, for when the rights of but one person are compromised, then the rights of all are endangered." The agency's Board of Trustees declared: The National Urban League expresses its grave concern that Angela Davis may not receive the fair and impartial trial to which she is entitled. We well know that the system of criminal justice in America often discriminates against black people, and in the Davis case, the public has been bombarded by prejudicial and sensationalistic media coverage that presumes her guilt. The seriousness of the charges against her, combined with the sparse evidence yet made public, do not justify the widespread presumption of guilt that endangers her right to a fair trial. Angela Davis is on trial (See NUL HAS, P. 2)

It is said that first impressions are often lasting. If this is the case, then Dr. J. Archie Hargraves, president-elect of Shaw University has little to be concerned about when he assumed his official duties in February.

Evidence Said To Contradict

Nathaniel Harvey Taylor, a 17-year black student at Garner High School, was convicted on contradictory evidence in Wake County District Court last Thursday of making a threatening telephone call to the school principal.

Taylor, a resident of Route 1, Garner who was not represented by counsel, had a six-month active sentence suspended on the grounds he make payment of $50 fine and court costs and on conditions he remain on good behavior for two years.

Judge N. F. Ransdell passed sentence on the youth after hearing testimony in the case. Two of the state's key witnesses gave contradictory testimonies in the case.

Following the close of the case, Bill Smith, Assistant Solicitor, told the judge that the case was "weak." However, Judge Ransdell passed judgment anyway.

William E. Terry, school principal at Garner High School, testified first in the case and told the court that while he was driving home from an out-of-town basketball game, he observed that a car was following him.

He further stated that after he stopped in front of his home, the car went on down the street, turned around and came back with the head lights off. Terry said he then followed the car and got the license number and turned it over to police.

Five minutes after he got home, he received a telephone call from a young person, who sounded like a Negro. Terry said the caller asked, "Is this Mr. Terry?" he said, "Mr. Terry you are a G. d. s. o. b.," and hung up.

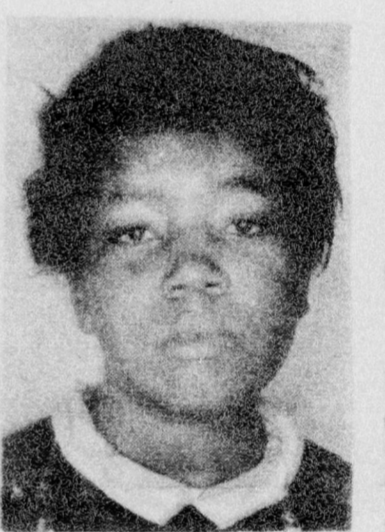

Terry said he was told by Garner Police Chief Percy McIver the driver of the car was Bruce Deaver, also a student at Garner High.

McIver testified that after he stopped the car driven by Deaver, Deaver told him that Taylor had made a telephone call to the school principal from a pay telephone booth.

Deaver, also a witness for the state, was called to the stand. Deaver denied that he told McIver that Taylor had made such a call to Terry's home. He further testified that he was with Taylor all evening, that they had followed the principal (See CONTRADICTION, P. 2)

CRIME BEAT
From Raleigh's Official Police File
EDITOR'S NOTE: This column or feature is produced in the public interest with an aim towards eliminating its contents. Numerous individuals have requested that they be given the consideration of overlooking their listing on the police blotter. This we would like to do. However, it is not our position to be judge or jury. We merely publish the facts as we find them reported by the arresting officers. To keep out of the Crime Beat Columns, merely means not being registered by a police officer in reporting his findings while on duty. So simply keep off the "blotter" and you won't be in the Crime Beat.
