Blacks Face Tough Job Of Survival Author Tells Audience At Meeting

GREENSBORO - The most imminent danger facing blacks in the United States is the practice of genocide on them by whites. A black author last Thursday charged that the most imin'nent danger facing Negroes in the United States in the practice of genocide on them by whites.

"We are on the edge of chaos in America," Said Samuel F. Yette, a black correspondent of Newsweek magazine. "We are now a police state in this country."

Yette, the author of the controversial book, "The Choice-The Issue of Black Survival in America," was the opening speaker at the annual Spring Week celebration at A&T State University."

Repeating charges made in his book, Yette said: "We stand at a difficult time. We stand where the Jews of Nazi Germany once stood.

"As the decades of the 1970's broke open, the country was officially but unconstitutionally engaged in two wars -- one against the colonized colored people of Indo China and one against the colonized black people of the United States,"

"We are the soul of a police state," Yette said. "The theoretical America of the Declaration of Independence and Constitution has been undermined."

He said he could draw a num ber of parallels between where the black people stand today and where Hitler's victims stood. One example of this is the "gathering of psychic support. . .for genocide" in an idea that minority people are innately at fault, inferior, and weighing heavily on the major-

Yette expressed distress at not finding young blacks using the libraries at the colleges he visits around the country. Instead, he must go into the "dark corners" of the "hangouts, . . to find my brothers and

DEEP CREEK ROAD The boys and girls had an interesting week of experiences in regards to the lengthy discussion on foods. They followed it with an all-day outing and picnic at Pope Recreation Park. This gave the boys and girls an opportunity to par ticipate in a variety of outgoor activities. Among the activities that they were engaged in was watching Mrs. Bacote and Miss Coats try to catch tadpoles from a small stream, Laughter was heard near and far as both tried unsuccessfully to get the tadpoles for the

At Rowan Street Park, the children were greeted by more swings and slides. They played in a huge sandpile where castles and pies were made. They rode upon a large stone green turtle and slid down the back of a huge concrete blue whale.

Later, after lunch tired but happy, the children piled back into the bus and the station wagon, and sang all the way back to the Center.

By DEBRA NIXON The Environment Week activites ended with a BANG. A BE-IN was held in Rowan Street Park from 2 to 5 p.m. on last Sunday. Dr. Crut-chfield of Methodist College and Hector Ray, chairman of the Cumberland County Board of Commissioners, were the speakers for the Earth Week Rally. Several local bands furnished music for the entertainment of those attending. Among the bands performing were "Valley", "Skye", "Anson Blues Band", and "Rush". Byron Paul sang some folk songs. During the week of April 18 through April 24, Environment Week, the education committee on environmental action prepared leaflets, pamphlets and other materials for the area schools. These materials were for the teachers and students use during the class discussions. Pollution is one of the gravest dangers facing us to-day. All across the country organizations are fighting the destruction of our natural resources; in Cumberland County the Environmental Action Committee has undertaken the job of cleaning up existing pollution and stopping the recurrance of these conditions. We feel that if people are educated to this problem their awareness can help to bring about a halt to this Please help us in the fight against pollution. Do your part to make the community aware of the problem and its solutions. Become aware through involvement, and make others aware through action.

Mac McKeithan is in charge of the Youth Week project. This year during the week of May 17-22 the youth will take over different positions in the city government.

The Youth Council basketball season is over and the winners in the boys league were the Pine Forest Bucks, and in the girls league the Reid Ross Bombshells.

The YCNC convention was held this weekend in Asheville. All the youth councils in the state attended.
