Dramatic Group Sets Three Plays

GREENSBORO - A trilogy of one-act plays by black playwrights has been selected for presentation on May 17-22 by the Richard B. Harrison Players of A&T State University.

Entitled, "An Evening of Three One-Act Plays," the productions will be staged in the new Paul Robeson theatre on the campus.

"These artistic endeavors represent our attempt to produce plays which reflect and dramatize the black experience in America and Africa," said Dr. John Marshall Stevenson, head of the Department of Speech and Drama at A&T.

Plays to be presented by the Players include "Dutchman" by LeRoi Jones, "The Reckoning" by Douglas Turner Ward, and "Wine in the Wilderness" by Alice Childress.

"Dutchman" is a play with two characters: Clay, a black man played by Charles W. Harris, a rising senior from Tazewell, Virginia. The second character is Lula, a white woman played by Catherine Clifton, instructor of English at A&T.

"The Reckoning" is a farce in which whites are played by blacks in clown white. The characters are Scar, a pimp, played by Don Fields, sophomore English Major from Dallas, Texas; Baby, a prostitute, played by Charlene Hayes, junior nursing major from Shelby; Governor, played by LeRoy Gaither, rising senior English major from Statesville; Governor's son, played by Bruce Franklin, sophomore psychology and speech major from Richmond, Virginia; Missy, played by freshman, Betty Higgins Physical Ed. major from Charleston, S. C.; and Josh, the Governor's manservant played by Franklin Turner, a rising senior speech & theater major from Norfolk, Virginia.

"Wine in the Wilderness," a comedy by Alice Childress has Clifton Carmon, a freshman from Charlotte, playing the role of Billy Jameson, Al Atkins, a rising senior from Gary, Indiana, majoring in Industrial Education plays Old Timer; Frank-

Ginger Beef With Raisin Sauce

Who said Chinese cooking, just because it's exotic, had to be difficult? This one is so simple it practically cooks itself. Tender beef is browned quickly; a sweet-sour sauce, simmered in seconds, is soy sauce, catsup and plump sweet California raisins. A little box of raisins, the kind you keep on hand for snacks, is just the right amount, incidentally.

You need only one pan. All is ready in a jiffy, to serve over hot steamed rice. A fresh green vegetable or salad completes the pretty picture.

|------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| 1 1/2 pounds tender beef steak | 3 tablespoons oil |
| 2 tablespoons flour | 1/2 cup dark or golden raisins |
| 1/2 teaspoons powdered ginger | 2 tablespoons butter or margarine |
| 1 teaspoon paprika | 1 teaspoon soy sauce |
| 1 teaspoon seasoned or garlic salt | 3 tablespoons catsup |
| | 1/2 cup bouillon or water |

Cut the steak into thin strips. Dredge in flour mixed with ginger, paprika and salt. Brown meat from pan and keep hot. Add remaining ingredients to pan in which meat was cooked. Stir to gather up all the rich brown pan drippings. Bring to a boil; simmer 2 to 3 minutes. Add steak strips and heat briefly. Serve with rice.

Makes 4-6 servings.

lin Turner, a rising senior from Norfolk, Va., plays Sonny Man; Jimmy Claire Walker, a rising senior from Roanoke, Va., plays Cynthia; Lorey Jane Hayes, a freshman professional theater major from Wallace, plays Tommy.

The number of employed women rose from 17.3 million to 29.1 million, a jump of 68 percent, between 1950 and 1969.

Have you ever had the strange feeling that someone was watching you? Well your "vibrations" were absolutely correct! The fact is, young lady, someone is always watching you—and don't you ever forget it. He or she may just come up with the opportunity of a lifetime!

Now, isn't that reason enough to always look your best? Besides, the way you look tells a lot about the way you work. Chances are if the way you dress and groom yourself are careless, people will think you'd be careless in a job situation. This is something no Barbizon girl ever forgets—and you shouldn't either, regardless of your profession.

How's your posture, for example? Did you ever stop to think that poor posture really shows a lack of confidence and pride? Stand up straight! People will have more confidence in you when you stand erect and show more confidence in yourself!

And what's your neatness quotient? It helps to make points, you know! It's certainly no coincidence that the most successful models are invariably the best groomed, so take your cue from them. Anything less than perfect just won't do!

To look model perfect you have to go at it like a model. This means discipline. At Barbizon our successful models establish a routine and then stick to it—no matter what. That's what makes them successful. Follow their example! Schedule one night for shampoo, another for manicure, and so on, and it won't be long before you start looking like a model, new you!

Weed Labs Take On New Look

WINSTON-SALEM - Today cigarette development laboratories often take on the air of a test kitchen, with blend experts mixing tobaccos as if they were preparing a chef's salad.

Beginning with small amounts of burley, flue-cured and turkish tobaccos, blend experts try numerous "recipes" in developing a blend for a new cigarette. With the average cigarette containing 60-70 different grades of tobacco, this obviously is no simple task.

Even the menthol version of an established brand requires its own distinctive blend. Contrary to common belief, there is more to coming up with a mentholated version of any cigarette than simply adding menthol. Adding menthol affects the taste of the basic blend, so adjustments have to be made.

Such was the case with Vantage Menthol, introduced nationally on May 3 by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. "It was so small said William F. Karnbach, product manager for Vantage and Vantage Menthol. "But we came up with the right combination of the Vantage filter, a distinctive tobacco blend and full menthol taste."

Coach Earle Edwards, fully aware of the statistics picture, spent considerable time during spring drills emphasizing the necessity of eliminating the shortcoming.

750 Grads Will Hear HU Prexy

GREENSBORO - Dr. James E. Cheek, the dynamic young president of Howard University, will deliver the principal address at the annual Baccalaureate-Commencement exercises at A&T State University on Sunday, June 6.

and 75 graduate students will receive their degrees during the 11 a.m. services in Charles Moore Gym.

Cheek, a nationally prominent scholar, educator and theologian, has gained more recent fame as an advisor on higher education to President Nixon.

Prior to being called to the presidency of Howard, Cheek had headed Shaw University, gaining national recognition for that college with a series of imaginative programs for disadvantaged students. Cheek is the brother of Dr. King V. Cheek, the president of Morgan State College.

In addition to the commencement exercises, A&T has outlined plans for its annual three-day Alumni Weekend program.

A highlight of the alumni activities will be the annual meeting and election of national officers in the Memorial Student Union on Saturday, June 5, at 10 a.m.

Candidates for president of the organization include the incumbent, Mrs. Julia S. Brooks, a Philadelphia school teacher; and David S. Coley, an insurance executive of Greensboro, N. C.
