

MAPLE TEMPLE'S JUNIOR CHOIR IN FIRST CONCERT - Maple Temple United Church of Christ held its Annual Youth Day services on Sunday June 13. On the Youth Day program was Waymon Burton and some of the boys from Camp Polk Youth Center. As guest soloists Miss Treanda Smith and Mr. Charles Copeland were at the organs. Along with the Youth Day program at 7:30 p.m., the Junior Choir held their first Junior Concert, under the direction of Mrs. Jessie Copeland, Mrs. C. Gill, pianist, and Charles Copeland, organist. The Lord's Prayer was sung by Mrs. Sandra Vinson, followed by the 23rd Psalm, sung by Mrs. C. Gill and Mrs. Rosa High Smith. The juniors did ten songs. The main highlight of this event was the ticket selling for "Miss or Mr. Spring Review." "Miss Spring Review" was Miss Lisa Copeland, selling the most tickets. She was crowned queen and Miss Stephanie Stewart got first prize for having the most patrons for the program. Mascots were Robert Fitzgerald Thomas, and Miss Lisa Copeland. After the concert, refreshments were enjoyed by all. Junior Choir members are as follows: left to right - Gloria Byrd, Anita Harris, Brenda Winston, Mamie Branch, Valeria Winston, Baron Bailey, Irene Thomas, Stephanie Stewart, Loraine Bailey, Sallie Winston, Sandra Vinson, Rosa Highsmith, C. Gill, Rosa Highsmith, Vincent Taylor. Not pictured are Myrtle Smith, Rosa McClain and Jean Alston. The Juniors have planned to make the concert along with the observance of Youth Day an annual occasion.

From Class To Coliseum

For those students who, prior to enrolling in the summer session of the Upward Bound Program at Elizabeth City State University, thought that their participation would be a hot and boring experience, they instead have been surprised.

The classes in language arts, headed by Mrs. Betty Dunn and Mrs. Hazel Spellman, stuck to the "humanizing" concept of Upward Bound. Thursday morning's program, in the G. R. Little Theatre, revealed that these senior high school students from the 10-county Albemarle Area can reach a surprising level of achievement in the expression of logical and creative thought.

Backed by the live sounds of a local jazz combo, the language arts panel sought to answer the question, "What Is Jazz?" The program, moderated by Charles White, dug into the history, classification and description of this American music, in a manner that made the audience, which also included participants in the Freshman Summer Improvement Program, understand clearly the nature of jazz.

Members of the panel included Helen Freeman, Gates County, and Sharron Gallop, Emma Jackson, Juanita Shannon, and Janice Barcliff, of Elizabeth City. The combo, headed by Ronald Barnes, featured Willie Gatling, Wayne Bowser and Jackie White, three local Upward Bound students.

To reinforce this learning experience in the language arts, participants in the ECSU Upward Bound Program journeyed to the Hampton Roads Coliseum, for the Friday evening feature of the Jazz Festival. There they saw and heard such jazz artists as: B. B. King; Les McCann and Eddie Harris; Cannonball Adderly; Dave Brubeck and Gerry Mulligan; and the Vibration Society.

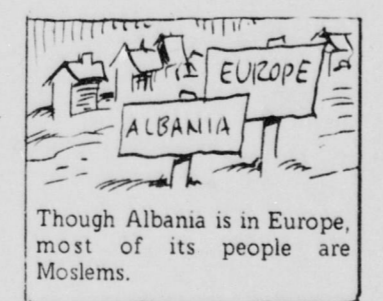

Between 46,000 and 50,000 disadvantaged young men and women go through Job Corps programs administered by the Labor Department's Manpower Administration each year. The programs provide them with job skills, training and other assistance they will need to prepare for responsible and productive adulthood.

Condemns S. African Policies

WASHINGTON, D. C. - Attacking South Africa's "vicious and inhumane" policies toward blacks, Senator George McGovern, the only announced candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination, called on Congress to cut off that country's sugar quota supports.

Speaking in Congress, the South Dakota Democratic Senator said, "We are being asked to grant a favor to a nation which has become synonymous with the most repressive kind of racism," and he added there is "no justification" to continue any assistance such as this to South Africa.

Senator McGovern said as long as South Africa maintains a policy of trying to "keep itself white," this country should supply it with no assistance at all because that would mean "continued white domination of the black majority."

Though Albania is in Europe, most of its people are Moslems.

FSU Will Share In Two Federal Grants

FAYETTEVILLE - Fayetteville State University will share with several other North Carolina Universities in a Title

I Grant of $56,000 plus $7,000 in matching funds. The funds were provided by the North Carolina Board of Higher Education as a result of an environmental educational proposal prepared jointly by the cooperating universities.

agencies sharing in this grant include UNC at Chapel Hill; North Carolina State University at Raleigh; North Carolina Department of Administration; the Charlotte Model Cities Programs and the Greensboro Redevelopment Commission.

these grants FSU will get but Dr. R. L. Hamon, director of development and University relations is serving as liaison agent for FSU. The funds will be used to conduct an environmental education program and to continue the Supervisory Developmental Training Institute for supervisors, department heads and potential supervisors beginning in the fall semester.

Tuttle Center Observes A 'Church Sunday'

Sunday, June 27, was designated as "Tuttle Community Center Church Sunday" by the campaign officials of the Tuttle $165,000 Survival Fund. Pastors and congregation members of the various churches in the Raleigh area were asked to pray for the success of the appeal on Church Sunday.

Dr. H. Edwin Pickard, pastor of White Memorial Presbyterian Church, and Dr. Charles W. Ward, pastor of the First Baptist Church serves as clergy co-chairmen in the Survival Fund campaign.

In conjunction with Church Sunday, June 27, the public was invited to an "Open House" at the Tuttle Center, 310 N. Tarboro Road, from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m.

CP&L Declares Dividends Here Its Quarterly

Much Information Available On Benefits For Veterans

A wealth of information on veterans benefits under the G.I. Bill is available at any Veterans Administration office or veterans' service organization. Pamphlets cover benefits and opportunities for Vietnam Era veterans; medical, dental and hospital benefits; education assistance for sons and daughters of veterans; group life insurance conversion plans; details about disability compensation and pension payments; information on the American Flag for burial or memorial purposes; facts on the purchase of mobile homes; and guaranteed loans, as well as many other subjects.

While most returning servicemen and veterans receive these pamphlets, frequently they fail to take the time to read them and they become lost or discarded, the VA has learned. New copies are available by writing the local VA office.

Offices of the VA are listed in the white pages of telephone directories, usually under the heading of U.S. Government.

Did you know that 80% of learning depends on vision?
