North Carolina's Leading Weekly

VOL. 30, NO. 36 RALEIGH, N. C., WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, JULY 10, 1971 SINGLE COPY 15c

NEW YORK, N. Y. - Forty-six North Carolina students received scholarship assistance from the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF) last year to attend formerly segregated, state-supported colleges and universities, or to study law.

According to a report compiled by John W. Davis, former President of West Virginia State College, and director of the LDF's educational program, more than 300 scholarships - ranging in size from $400 to $2,100, with an average grant of $900 - were awarded to southern black students who were able to demonstrate both scholastic ability and a financial need.

The North Carolina undergraduates under the LDF educational program include Eli Brown, III (U. of N. C.) of Durham, Jacqueline E. Brunson (U. of N. C.) of Wilmington, Michael D. Cheek (U. of N. C.) of Wilmington, Arthur J. Clement (N. C. State U.) of Durham, Joe Dean Crawford (U. of N. C.) of Asheville, Alice Y. Dixon (U. of N. C.) of Durham, Traymond Evans (U. of N. C.) of Durham, Al Jerry Fisher (U. of N. C.) of Durham, Linda Florence (U. of N. C.) of Hillsborough, Minnie B. Flowers (U. of N. C.) of High Point, Joyce Goss (U. of N. ### Man, 33, Locked Up In Gunning

An apparent good hearted woman who wanted to visit her cousin at 11:27 p.m. Friday, told Officers J. D. N. and D. G. Joyner that she left her home at 1002 Mark Street. She

Dr. P. R. Robinson Honored In Africa

Dr. Prezell R. Robinson, president of Saint Augustine's College, has been awarded Liberia's second highest medal, "The Star of Africa." He received the honor earlier this month while attending a meeting of the International Association of University Presidents in Monrovia, Liberia. The Liberian government recognized President Robinson for his consultative work with higher education in that country.

Miss Hauser President Of Gov.'s School

WINSTON-SALEM - Lois P. Hauser was elected president of the student body of the North Carolina Governor's School last Monday.

Miss Hauser thus became the first black and the first girl president in the school's nine year history. The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Hauser, she is a rising senior at Richard J. Reynolds High School. Other officers are Paul Tuttle of Raleigh, first vice president; Craig Maddox of Elizabeth City, second vice president, and Donna Benson, a black of Charlotte, secretary.

The Governor's school is an all expense - paid, eight-week summer institute for talented juniors and seniors in the high schools of the state of North Carolina. Students are recommended by their school system or chosen through audition and concentrate in the humanities, an academic subject or one of the performing arts. Miss Hauser is concentrating in chemistry. The school is held at Salem College.

At Reynolds High School, Miss Hauser is a member of the National Honor Society, past secretary of the Student Council, a member and choreographer of the Dancing Boots and Majorettes and is the school's student representative on the County-wide Citizens Advisory Council, a group which advises the County Board of Education.

In the Community, Miss Hauser is past president of the Teenage group of the Winston-Salem Chapter of Jack and Jill of America, and is presently

Drug Prevention House in South Raleigh

'He He' Tries To Stamp Out Drugs By Substitution Of 'Glamour' Here

BY CURETON LEE JOHNSON

It is well known in the black community that drugs are nothing new. While the tempo of alarm has reached new highs around the nation, the rate of abuse among blacks has been ever-present but largely unnoticed.

But what about Raleigh? Is there a drug problem here? Only two weeks ago a Shaw University student was killed in his dormitory. He was believed to be involved in the drug scene. The findings by Shaw officials uncovered an alleged internal drug world matter.

Even though Detroit is a long way from Raleigh, seven black persons were found shot and killed in a house there recently. On the premises were weapons much like the ones found in the Shaw students room -- heroin, syringes, needles and cash -- weapons of death through the arm.

Drug action in Wake County and the city are now in the beginning stages. The House of Life at 500 W. Cabarrus St. here opened its doors in March to those seeking assistance. Its director is Miss Stella Horton, a graduate of A & T University.

The facility was formed following the creation of the House, where white drug users could go for help. However, the directors of Drug Action of Wake County, Inc., realized that the black community needed its own center.

The House of Life, better known as "He He" (Swahili for House of Life) was formerly

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column or feature is produced in the public interest with an aim towards eliminating its contents. Numerous individuals have requested that they be given the consideration of overlooking their listing on the police blotter. This is not our position to be judge or jury. We merely publish the facts as we find them reported by the arresting officers. To keep out of the Crime Beat Columns, merely means not being registered by his police officer. In reporting his findings while on duty, he simply keep off the "Blotter" and you won't be in the Crime Beat.

STRIKES WOMAN IN ROOM
 Howard Rudd 518 Dorothea Drive, told Officer R.H. Phillips at 8:53 p.m. Saturday, that his girlfriend, Miss Mary Lee Steward, 518 Dorothea Drive asked him for his money. He said he then told her 'no' and they sat down in chairs to watch television. "She went out of the room," Rudd said, "got a bottle came back in and hit me." Mr. Rudd said he would come to the police station and sign an assault warrant against Miss Steward, whose age was listed as 40. Rudd exhibited damage to his scalp requiring five stitches.

Kornegay Named To Position

Grand Rapids, Mich. - Dr. Wade M. Kornegay, 35 Hickory Road, Sudbury, Mass., was last week elected a member of the national Executive Council of the United Church of Christ. Dr.

DR. WADE M. KORNEGAY Kornegay, who is on the staff of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is chairman of the board of directors of the Massachusetts Conference of the United Church of Christ. SEEKS NEW URGENCY - Minneapolis: Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP, called for unity among blacks in an address before the NAACP National Convention July 6. Wilkins said "a new urgency" for such unity. He added it was not just a call for blacks to get together but also "A cry for unified action to save mankind." (UPI)

Nation's Ministers' Wives Meet In State

The Thirty-first annual convention of the National Association of Ministers' Wives, Inc. was held at the Timmie Plaza Motor Inn in Wilmington last week.

On Monday afternoon a poolside reception was given for the delegates who arrived early. The first general session was officially opened Tuesday, June 29 at 9 a.m. with the national president, Mrs. Julia F. Keaton McCormick, presiding.

The theme for the convention was "The Charge - Prepare, Serve, Endure." The theme song was "A Charge To Keep."

In attendance were over five hundred ministers' wives and widows with delegates from as far as Colorado, Arkansas, Illinois, Michigan, Florida, Connecticut, Ohio and New York. Classes in leadership, worship, and the ministers' wife were held. Post graduate courses in parliamentary procedure, counselling, and "How To Get Along With People" were offered. Mrs. Jennie E. Hall of Washington, D. C. is dean of the school.

On Tuesday evening a very warm and inspirational welcome program was presented by the North Carolina Alliance which was host to the convention. Mrs. Edna P. Pearce of Wilmington presided. The state president, Mrs. Dessie Whitfield and Mrs. Katie B. Grady of Wilmington were among those to bring greetings. Mrs. Rebecca Young of Raleigh gave the invocation and Mrs. Bertha Wilson also of Raleigh gave the scripture. Very inspirational music was by the St. Mark Church of Christ, under the direction of Mrs. Ada K. Melvin of Goldsboro. Mrs. Josie E. Fuller, state president of Ohio, made the response to the welcome.

Lawyers, Judges Set Meet

WASHINGTON, D. C. - In what is expected to be the largest and most significant gathering of the Black legal community, the National Bar Association is convening Black judges, attorneys, law professors and OEO legal service attorneys for extensive discussions on "Racism and the Law."

These discussions will be major highlights of the 46th Annual Convention of the National Bar Association in Atlanta, Ga. from August 3-7.

This will be the first and founding convention of the Judicial Council of NBA, which consists of Black judges from throughout the country.

Burial Held For Late C. Marriott

A great educator and religious leader has died, Rev. Charles A. Marriott, a former resident of Raleigh, departed this life June 18 in Trenton, N. J.

He was a great supporter of local and national education and belonged to many progressive organizations for parents, teachers and principals.

Professor Marriott purchased the first school bus for black boys and girls to go to school on in Wake County. He also gave large donations to

REV. C. A. MARRIOTT Shaw University. He received his A. B. degree from Shaw University, his M. A. degree from Columbia University, New York City, and his B. D. degree from Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, N. J.

Rev. Marriott served in active school work more than thirty years. He served as principal of the following high schools in Wake County: Zebulon, Garner Consolidated and

Economists Hold Annual Conference

Over 6,000 home economists from all over the country convened at Denver's Convention Complex to explore Today's Frontiers: Tomorrow's Realities - the 1971 theme.

Mrs. Spang said that Dr. John A. Hannah, administrator for the Agency for International Development, set an exciting stage for the remainder of the program by making the first public announcement of $118,000 grant to AHEA to determine the role home economists might play in the world-wide family planning effort.

He said, Home economists can play a particularly important part in family planning programs, by incorporating the question of family size into the total picture of family life.

Jules Bergman, science editor and well-known member of the American Broadcasting Company, headed Tuesday's general session program, according to Mrs. Spang.

Bergman told his audience that we are at a cross road where we can truly tackle what must

BULLETIN Officer Artis Accidentally Wounded

Officer Joseph Blalock reports answering a call at 10:56 a.m. Wednesday of this week to 127 Lincoln Court, the home of Officer Norman Artis.

Artis told Blalock that he'd just shot himself while cleaning his weapon - a .38 calibre pistol. "I was just taking the bullets out of the chamber, forgot and left one in, and was pulling the trigger when one went off."

Officer Artis was found lying in the hallway floor, leading to the back door. The officer looked through the back window and went through the window to unlock the door. Officer Blalock then called an ambulance.

The .38 calibre pistol wound was located in the left chest. Rumor had it early Wednesday morning and afternoon that Mr. Artis had committed suicide, and many other allegations against the officer, who had served Raleigh and its environs for many years.

ATTENDING THE 31ST ANNUAL NATIONAL MINISTERS' WIVES CONVENTION IN WILMINGTON - Mrs. Artella M. Perry, Mrs. Bertha Wilson, Mrs. Rebecca Young and Mrs. Josephine Edgerton of Raleigh, were in attendance at the Timmie Plaza Motor Inn in Wilmington last week. The theme of the convention was "The Charge-Prepare, Serve, Endure."
