Miss Quarles Marries Garland Thompson

The marriage of Miss Maureen Diane Quarles of Ettrick and Garland Jerome Thompson of Richmond, Virginia was solemnized Saturday, June 26, 1971 in Gillfield Baptist Church at half after four o'clock in the afternoon.

MRS. THOMPSON

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walker Henry Quarles Jr. of Ettrick, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin L. Thompson, Sr. of Richmond, Virginia.

The Reverend Father Odell G. Harris officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mr. Clarence Whiteman, organist for Virginia State College, and Mrs. Maryanne Mc Elroy soprano, of the music faculty of Virginia State College, presented the nuptial music.

The bride given in marriage by her father was attired in a gown of Ivory silk organza and Alencon lace. The empire bodice was designed with a sheer yoke Victorian neckline and long sleeves. The bodice and sleeves were applique with lace. The hemline of the gown had a wide scalloped lace border.

Mrs. Daniel Brown, of Baltimore, Md. and Miss Kathy Powell of Washington, D. C. were honor attendants. The bridesmaids were, Miss Laurette Blakey, of Ettrick, Va; Miss Olivia Batts, of Hyattsville, Md; Miss Norma E. Keck, of Raleigh, N. C; Miss Patrice Gilliam, of Hopewell, Va; Miss Joan Thompson of Richmond, Va; Miss Vashli Sutherland of Hartsfield, Va; Miss Dennis Carter, Cranford, N. J; Miss Zenobia Johnson, of Richmond, Va. Their gowns were identical to the honor attendants. All carried nosegays of mixed summer flowers.

The flower girls were cousins of the bride, Jennifer Parker, of Silver Springs, Md. and Wanda Richardson, of Richmond, Va. Their dresses were of off white silk organza trimmed in Apricot. They carried baskets of mixed flowers.

The ring bearer was Charles Crump, Jr. of Richmond, nephew of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, the bride's mother wore a street length dress of lime green, designed and beaded by Mrs. Garrett Laws, of Raleigh.

Dilemmas Face Teachers

ORANGEBURG, S. C. — South Carolina State College has become a training coordinator center for displaced teachers.

The center, financed by a grant of $67,220 from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, is designed to provide full-time advanced training assistance for teachers and administrators who have been or may have been displaced as a result of the desegregation process.

The center will serve both North Carolina and South Carolina with each state having a field coordinator.

S. K. Dean, a principal for 35 years in Edgefield County, has been named the coordinator for South Carolina; and W. N. Porter, a former principal in Harnett County, is the coordinator for the Tar Heel State.

The field coordinators will canvass the state in an attempt to discover the persons who have been "displaced."

According to Donald Buckner, chief adviser, Division of Program Resources, of the U. S. Office of Education "displaced" is interpreted to include not only teachers and other educational personnel who have lost their jobs, but also those who have been demoted, transferred or otherwise reassigned to lower paying, less satisfying positions, including those outside their area of certification.

It was also pointed out that it was not intended to imply that persons displaced or demoted as a result of desegregation are less well-trained than their colleagues who have not been displaced.

In addition to identifying the displaced personnel, the program is designed to offer placement in other areas to those persons, preferably in the same school district. It also will seek to assist some persons in upgrading their training leading to a master's degree, sixth year diploma or a doctorate degree in the field of education.

Just For Fun

THE HORSE'S LAUGH

We have heard a lot of talk about President Nixon and his trip to Peking. For some reason, we hope he doesn't carry an umbrella. If Peking is like some places in this country, he had better have one handy.

WELL, Maybe!
The story goes that Vice President Agnew complained that the United States is educating too many thinkers when it should be training bricklayers and carpenters. Why not thinking bricklayers and carpenters? Just checking up on the generation gap in communication that's all.

Let's Do Like-Wise
Jesus said, "Deny thyself!" Well, this is what two men did. To contribute an annual camp fund for underprivileged children, one man gave up smoking and is sending around $10 a month. Thus he paid for one week at camp for some needy boy. Another man has been donating one day's lunch money each week. Now two boys can go to camp next summer.

TRICK BY TRAFFIC LIGHT
Have you ever had a traffic light to play a trick on you? Well two weeks ago-- the left turn light played a cute trick-- it flashed on and off before the people from the previous light could even get up to it! This is not funny, or is it?
