St. Aug's Students Enjoy Employment

Several Saint Augustine's College graduates and students secured meaningful summer jobs in the Raleigh area. The 1971 graduates have been employed in the following areas: Miss Dorothy Jones is a summer intern at the North Carolina Correctional Center for Women at the reception and diagnostic Community Council of Wake County, Inc. Miss Peyton plans to teach in September. Miss Phyllis Harden had a summer position as a receptionist for Rep. Henry E. Frye. Miss Harden plans to attend graduate school in September. Eddie Smith, a chemistry major, is working with the North Carolina State Department of Agriculture, Chemical Analysis Division. Smith plans to pursue studies at Temple University in September. John Monroe is a counselor at the Central Youth Center. Monroe will study at the Howard University Law School, Washington, D. C. In September, Benjamin Neal is an intern at the N. C. State Institute Government State Public Health Department.

The enthusiasm of the Holding Tech students who are working local U. S. Postal Service. Bob Maltes, director of Career Planning and Placement stated that the jobs listed are only a few of the many summer positions held by Saint Augustine's students.

Holding Station Reaches Russia

Licensed last January and beginning with a simple dipole antenna only 20 feet above the ground, the Holding Technical Institute Amateur Radio Station, WB4TOP, contacted a station in Wisconsin during its first transmission on Feb. 23. Later contacts with this simple antenna included stations as far away as England. Today there is a 50 foot tower supporting a 4-element beam antenna and the students are receiving good signals from such countries as Poland, Russia, Rumania and Czechoslovakia. When the students complete the building of a linear amplifier for the station, the HT37 transmitter, currently operating at approximately 180 watts, and the Hallierafter SX101 receiver will enable WB4TOP to come out with the full 1,000 watts strength authorized by the FCC for amateur radio stations.

The enthusiasm of the Holding Tech students who are working with two radio station is at an extremely high level and all look forward to getting their own "ham" licenses. Those involved with WB4TOP learn much about the practical aspects of electronics and they look forward to one day having their own "ham" gear.

WB4TOP joins the National

Junior College Amateur Radio Network each Thursday afternoon to exchange news of their various transmission and Jun- various transmission contacts and to discuss educational projects with other Technical Institutes and Junior Colleges across the country.

WIDOWS CLUB WORSHIPS-The Widows Club worshipped recently with the Providence Holiness Church at their morning services. After the service the group was entertained at the home of Mrs. Carrie Lou Burgess and was served a very appetizing dinner. Members present were: front row; Mesdames Louise Evans, Edna Chalmers, Roberta White, Emma Feller, (second row), C. J. Edwards, Lula Hopkins, Carrie Lou Burgess, Mildred Rogers, Rosa Delaine and Edna Haywood.

BY MRS. J. T. HOOD

The Bazzle Creek Sunday School opened at its usual hour with the supt., Mr. Robert E. Norris, in charge. The prayer was led by Deacon Burt. The subject of the lesson was "Why the Family?" The lesson was chosen from the Book of Genesis.

After a 45-minute study, the classes came together and a review was made by Mrs. D. S. Hicks.

Following Sunday School the senior choir held its regular monthly meeting with the president, Mrs. Mazie Baldwin, presiding. Regular practice followed.

At this writing there are no reported sick friends.

We were very happy to see Mrs. T. P. Washington and Miss Carolyn Spence at Sunday School.

COMPLETED BASICS - Airman Gerald L. Monk of 2326 Everlina Ave., Fayetteville, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. He is remaining at Lackland for training as a security policeman. Airman Monk, a 1968 graduate of E. E. Smith Senior High School, attended Fayetteville State University. His wife is the former Janet Lucas.

CABERET HELD- The Car-rals Kings Social Club recently gave their annual Caberet Dance on June 19th. It was held in the Carolina Room at the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium. This year dance was unique in that it featured a fashion show. The latest in mod clothes was displayed at intermission to the delight of the large audiences. Members of the club acted as models. Ladies fashion wear was modeled by the Car-rals Queens, a sister club to the Car-Ral Kings. Clothes were donated by the Mod Shop, S. Wilmington Street. Acting as mistress of ceremonies was Miss Clemis Noble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Winston. Miss Noble holds the distinction of being the first Miss Black Raleigh and is at present attending Winston-Salem State University.
