DEAR SALLY

BY SALLY SHAW

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young woman of 31 and have been dat-34 for almost three years. My problem is that he seems allergic to the idea of matrimony. Whenever the subject comes up (invariably prompted by me) he has some excuse -business worries, finances too low, health below par, etc. I'm not getting any younger, and this stalemate worries me. please don't tell me to break off with him, because I happen to love him very much--but I do need advice. NOWHERES-VILLE.

Sorry, but you've ruled out the only bit of advice I can offer. In my book, any man who has had the exclusive claim on a girl's time for three years and still shies away from any talk of marriage should be given his walking papers. ***

DEAR SALLY: My husband has become a bridge fanatic. He took up the game only a year ago, and now he lives, eats, and breathes it. He attempted to persuade me to take lessons with him, but I was too busy with the care of our houseold and two snall children. Now I find myself a bride widow.

DEAR LEFTFIELD: Take some bridge lessons as soon as you can, find your own foursome, learn to play the game adequately, and then some evening surprise hubby with a bridge party in which you participate. He's found a hobby, so why not join him in it? Much better to be a bridge bride than a bridge widow.

DEAR SALLY: When my wife DEAR NOWHERESVILLE: and I married six years ago we agreed to wait until our financial situation was sound enough before we would start a family. However, we have now been financially solid for three years, and she is still delaying matters -- always urging me to "wait a little longer." In fact, she's even accusing me of marrying her for the sole purpose of breeding kids, and says

A - Yes. A recent law permits a widow who has lost her pension or compensation because of remarriage to have this benefit restored if that m'arriage ends in death or divorce, provided she is otherwise eligible. Your son's pension would have no bearing on your compensation based on the death of your first husband.

USDA Gives More Food To The Needy WASHINGTON, D. C .- Foods donated to the States by the U.

S. Department of Agriculture to improve diets of needy families, stitutions, and school children totaled nearly 1.1 billion pounds in the first half of fiscal year 1971 (July-December 1970), This is an increase of some 16.4 percent over the 945 million pounds for the same periods in fiscal 1970 (July-December, 1969).

USDA food donations for needy families during July-December 1970 climbed to nearly 635 million pounds, an increase of 15. 5 percent over July-December 1969. The foods donated cost $161.8 million, nearly 26 percent more than in the same six-month period in fiscal 1970.

Pineapple Whip Dessert helps to cool these warm and balmy Indian Summer days. The velvetized evaporated milk is chilled, whipped, then mixed with a spicy gelatin mixture. The result is a lighter, smoother, more delicate flavor and texture; the kind you would want on a warm fall night.

PINEAPPLE WHIP DESSERT

1 cup quartered canned or fresh seedless grapes

1/4 cup chopped maraschino

3/3 cup undiluted Carnation

4 drops yellow food coloring (optional)

cherries

1/4 cup chopped nuts

Evaporated Milk 1 tablespoon lemon juice

(Makes 6 to 8 servings) 1/3 cup converted rice

- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 cup (81/2-ounce can) crushed pineapple
- Pineapple syrup plus water to make 11/4 cups
- 1 package (3 ounces) lemon flavored gelatin
- 3 tablespoons sugar

Stir rice, cinnamon and nutmeg into boiling water in saucepan. Cook rice 20 to 25 minutes. Drain, rinse and cool. Drain pineapple; reserve syrup. Add water to syrup to make 1¼ cups. Heat to bolling. Add gelatin and sugar. Stir to dissolve. Chill to consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Fold pineapple, grapes, cherries, nuts and rice into gelatin. Chill evaporated milk in refrigerator tray until soft ice crystals form around edges of tray (10-15 minutes). Whip until stiff (about 1 minute). Add lemon juice and food coloring. Whip very stiff (1 minute longer). Fold whipped evaporated milk into gelatin mixture. Pour into 6 cup mold. Chill until firm (2-3 hours). Unmold and serve.
