

JOHN LEWIS HEADS VOTER REGISTRATION PROJECT-Atlanta: For John Lewis, the struggle to change the South has been a long, and sometimes bitter personal experience. But as head of a voter education project here, he sees the key to future progress in the ballot box, not in the streets. (UPI).

Carrolls Entertain Guests At Village Dinner Theatre

A theatre party, given by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carroll, on Friday night, Sept. 24 at the Village Theatre was a gracious and gala affair for their guests. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carroll are from Harrisburg, Pa. Their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Irving are also from Harrisburg. The other guests are from Raleigh. While waiting in the lobby for the caterer to escort the guests to their respective tables, the host, Mr. Carroll, pinned a red rosebud corsage on each of the ladies and a white rosebud on each of the men. At last, the caterer took the party inside to their tables. There was an appetizing arrangement of food to please the most scrutinizing gourmet. Besides being attractive and varied, the meal was very palatable. The guests ate their fill. Guests here enjoying the theatre party with the Carrolls were Mr. and Mrs. James Mann, Mesdames Charlotte Groene, Ernestine Wright, Mary Marable, Mildred James, Nora Lockhart, Gertrude Har-

Alexander, Dean, The Shaw University Divinity School.

6-Year-Old Straight Bourbon

Over a hundred years ago, the best bourbon—the one you put on your table when friends came over—was called table whiskey. It was always made in a small distillery. By just a few people. But in the early 1900's, mass production became a fact of life. And table whiskey disappeared somewhere along a conveyor belt. All except one. Henry McKenna Bourbon. Today we make it in the same distillery it was made in 115 years ago. And only 16 people have a hand in making it. Progress didn't trip us up.

he served as an instructor in the Raleigh School System and with The Neighborhood Youth Corps before that.

Belk was born and raised in Statesville, N.C. where he attended elementary and secondary schools.

Phillip H. Mason, vice-president for development and university relations, the division in which Alumni Relations is located said that Shaw has moved to clarify its mission, of building and strengthening institutions to meet the needs of the poor, the black and the disadvantaged.

He said the university proposes to be the launching pad to achieve this objective. Mason said there are primarily two existing institutions which need to be undergirded, they are the black church and the black institutions of higher education. He said there has been much rhetoric but little follow through "there are to be black institutions, they must be controlled and supported by black people. Understanding this principle should dictate a challenge to the Shaw alumnus.

According to Mason, of the 3,700 alumni, less than 10 per cent participate in university affairs. He said the development division and the Alumni Relations Office is proposing that the alumni participation be raised from 10 per cent to 70 per cent within the next two years.

Belk said in terms of the mission the Alumni Office will be seeking alumni participation in the areas of adjunct professor out walls and Cooperative Education. "We want the alumni to play major roles in identifying institutional models and concepts to be used as intern placements for the UWW and Cooperative Education students. Alumni who are actively participating in political institutions and experiences call upon the University community for assistance through such mechanisms as a Center for Political Studies. We also intend to ask the alumni to participate in greater numbers in Founder's Day - Homecoming activities, Convocation and Commencements."

Mason said the university is

CHURCH NEWS

GRACE AME ZION - Sunday School opened at 10 a.m. with the superintendent, Mrs. Ella Hinton, in charge. The topic of the International Sunday School lesson was entitled, "God Calls Men", taken from Exodus 3:1-14; Second Timothy 1:8-9.

The morning worship services began at 11 a.m., with the pastor, Rev. L.P. Perry, presiding.

Rev. Perry read for the scripture lesson a portion of the 15 chapter of St. John.

Mr. Wayland Dunn prayed a very fervent prayer for the consecration period.

The choir sang beautifully as always, under our minister of music, Mr. William Vandergriff. Mr. Vandergriff favored us with a special selection entitled, "His Eye Is On A Sparrow", in which he presented another one of his outstanding talents. Mrs. Vandergriff favored us with another selection, entitled "Yes, God Is Real." As you already know Mrs. Vandergriff is a talented soloist. Rev. Perry's sermon was entitled, "A Sense of Divine Mis-tion." To emphasize what thought-provoking means would be to relate what Rev. Perry's sermon points out. He opened by saying, "In creation, God had a divine mission for man to perform. The church should mean, love, liberty, freedom, and justice for we are all God's children trying to make it into story. What have I done for God other than talk about Him? You have to live the life also. Last, although God has a divine mission for us, we are subject to errors or mistakes. The sermon was most beneficial and most appropriate for all who listened.

Thought for the week: "Let each man think himself an act of God. His mind a thought, his life a breath of God." -- Bailey-Festus Remember, everyone is always welcome to come and worship with us. Miss Ella L. Jackson is church reporter.

$8 Million Two Yr. Goal Underwritten

NASHVILLE, Tenn., -Seventy-one percent of a two-year, $8 million goal for 12 black United Methodist colleges has been formally underwritten by approximately the same percentage of annual conferences within the denomination according to a report released here Sept. 24.

Dr. Dennis Fletcher, New York, and Dr. Clayton Calhoun, Nashville, co-directors of the Negro Colleges Advance, said the latest tabulation represents formal commitments from the conferences.

An $8 million goal for the 12 black colleges was set by the 1970 General Conference for the 1971 and 1972 calendar years. And additional goal of $1 million for each of the two years was adopted for scholarships and loans. Most of this amount has been raised and distributed by reordering priorities of the church's boards and agencies.

Dr. Calhoun said about three-fourths of the annual conferences have either accepted a goal and assigned the responsibility to a group of implementation or they have assigned the responsibility of an official group which has accepted a goal.

The 71 percent figure represents only those conferences which have officially communicated their intentions to the Negro College Advance offices, he added.

Calhoun said he is confident the remaining 28 percent can be raised if annual conference leaders understand the need and act soon. "Several annual conferences and local churches have followed the example of the general boards and have recorded their own priorities and budgets," he said.
