CHILDREN'S BOOK WEEK ANNOUNCED The Richard B. Harrison Branch Library, 1313 New Bern Ave., will celebrate National Children's Book Week by presenting Suzanne Newton, a local author of Children's books, and Ann Hunt Jones, music teacher at Ligon School, at the library on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 14 at 2:00 p.m.

Your Weekly Horoscope

November 6 through November 12, 1971 ARIES (March 21-April 19): Though you may not be alone in week ahead, Ari, you will experience a touch of loneliness. As you sit back and observe, distinctions blur. Old symbols seem to take on new meanings. A very personal week, which ends quietly. But with hope.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Wonderful week for you, Taurus, since your capacity for loving will be exceptionally great. You will be most vital. Inspiration comes from unusual person and/or situation. However, by last day, energy wanes, so avoid impulse to cuddle in a corner. Read a good book instead.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Desire to get ideas down on paper will be particularly strong, almost compulsive. Do it. You are a special breed, dear, and the very act of writing will not only dissipate feeling of ennui, but may very well pay personal dividend. Week ends ceremoniously.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Urge to be generous in both word and deed should not be ignored. If you hesitate, wondering and worrying about "what others may think," you miss marvelous chance to do good. Be what you ARE, a beautiful Moonflower.

LEO (July 23-August 22): Shadows of doubt nag and nag, Leo. But they are only shadows, nothing more. "Screw your courage to the sticking-place" and you wind up on top of the heap, again. As usual.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22): Holy mackerel, Virg, fun and friendships are yours for the asking in week ahead. Just watch it, lest you become involved in the cut rate variety. Virg is first class, so settle only for the finest.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22): You have a fine intuitive mind, Lib, and before end of fourth day you would be wise to make definite decision concerning very personal affairs. Trust your hunches. Remainder of the week fruitful in your career.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21): Dream your little dreams, Scorp. They are vitally important to you at this particular time. Mid-week favorable for a bit of nonsense, but avoid stimulants, for your present situation is already complicated enough. No sense in putting your head on the chopping block willingly, is there? Last day a ring-ding-dinger.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21): Platonic relationship looms on the horizon, Sag, which may very well turn into a long-term thing. Mind you, Olga said "platonic." Under NO circumstances allow it to evolve into anything more. At this juncture, Sag, you need a buddy, NOT a lover.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19): Sweet and sour week ahead, Cap, so prepare yourself. Perhaps you have grown accustomed to more than your share of honey, and may have to do a bit of adjusting. It is true that sweets satisfy quickly, but they also rot your teeth, make you fat and ruin your skin. Chin up, dear hear, you'll muddle through.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18): Establish priorities in days ahead, Aquari, though this is not the easy task you may assume it to be. Long-range career goals must sometimes be side-tracked temporarily for short-term personal satisfaction and family harmony. Think about it.

PISCES (February 19-March 20): If you took good care of yourself last week, Pisces, you should be in a position to take three giant steps forward. Simon says so. Olga says so. And so do the stars. Career matters, which have been murky, clear. Domestic scene calms. As weeks go, this one should be totally terrific.

THE GOSPEL WORLD

BY JAMES THOMAS

Friends, giving credit where credit is due, I must say here that the Great Harmonizing Four of Richmond, Va., are to be commended for their very successful 44th Anniversary at the Richmond Coliseum on last Sunday. There were approximately 14,000 persons present, and nine of the nation's top recording gospel groups sang on this program, including Raleigh's own Capital City Five.

Sunday, November 7, at 3:30 the Capital City Five, the CLINTON Sisters, and the Joy Bells will sing at Mount Zion Church in Lenoirville.

Rev. George Jones, Jr. will be guest speaker at Maple Temple United Church of Christ Sunday afternoon at 5. The Malabys Cross Road Choir will render the music.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK "God is not impressed by our status and power symbols; He looks at the spirit of the heart."

W. Mance Gilliam, retired executive of the N. C. Mutual Life Insurance Company, will be in charge of the program. The Rev. W.E. Turner, pastor, Willis Creek A.M.E. Zion Church, Cumberland County, the first church Mr. Barnes joined, will deliver the memorial sermon. Music will be furnished by the Gospel Chorus of Kyles Temple Church and a youth choir from the Cumberland County church.

The program is designed to begin a drive that will enable the congregation to build a new edifice that will serve the community, not only as a spiritual center, but will include a nursery, along with Christian Education and recreational facilities for every segment of the population.

Mrs. McLester Is Speaker For Good Hope Women's Day

BY MRS. CORINNA DUNN Mrs. J. B. McLester, first vice-president of the Woman's state Baptist Convention of North Carolina, delivered the annual Women's Day address at the Good Hope Baptist Church last Sunday morning at 11 a.m. Her subject covered the convention's theme-"New Paths For These Significant Seventies."

Mrs. McLester is a native of Mobile, Alabama but she has resided in Durham for a number of years. She is currently a guidance counselor at the Shepard Junior High School in Durham. Her background in church and school leadership is rich.

To enhance her knowledge, she has traveled extensively in the United States and abroad. Mrs. McLester holds the AB and MA degrees from Talladega College and Columbia University. Many hours have been earned above the Master's level in English and Dramatics and in student personnel administration with emphasis on educational guidance. Sunday School was held at 9:45 a.m. with the superintendent Mrs. Laura Hinton presiding. Mrs. Bertha Mialis is secretary and Mrs. Leatrice Heighsmith was in charge of the music.

Call to worship was given by Annie R. McCullough. The choir sang the opening hymn followed by scripture by Mrs. Barbara Robinson. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Annie Bryant. The offering was lifted by Mrs. Elmira Pace followed by the captain's reports.

Following the offertory prayer by the congregation, the announcements and welcoming of the visitors were given by Miss Susie Hinton.

Mrs. Easter Sanders introduced the speaker and Mrs. Dorothy Ellis sang a solo. Remarks were made by the pastor, Rev. C.R. Trotter and the benediction was given by Mrs. Tillie Williams.

BTU was held at 6 p.m. with Mrs. Virginia Dingle serving as president and Mrs. Watson serving as secretary. A poem was read by Mrs. Edith Evans and music was rendered by the women of the church. Bibles were presented and remarks were made concerning our sick. The sick include Mrs. Jane Adams, Mrs. James Hinton in Wake Memorial Hospital and Miss Barbara Dunn.

The Good Hope Baptist Church is holding the Centennial program which began October 17 and will run through November 14.

The 4-H Club will meet Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dunn. Our home demonstration meeting meets every first Thursday night in the month.

"Pop, how do they catch crazy men?" "It's easy. A little rouge and lipstick, a new hair-do and a pretty dress."

Miss Marie Jenkins Dedicated To Science

It is the general consensus of opinion that we live in a materialistic world. Miss Marie Jenkins, however, an 18-year-old sophomore at St. Augustine's College, is an anomaly in this case and doesn't believe that money talks when it comes to science.

Miss Jenkins, who hails from Charleston, S. C., is a mathematics and physics major at St. Augustine's, who finds time each week from all that an active college student has to do, to assist students with their lab work in the chemistry lab. She is patient, enthusiastic and zealous in her efforts to be of real assistance. What she does not do, is get paid.

Marie says she genuinely loves science and math. She loves it in working in the chemistry lab she has contact and communication with science.

"I can be around scientific data and apparatus," she said, "and I am happy around things pertaining to science and math." She also feels that helping other students and showing them the whys and wherefores of her favorite subject will help them to appreciate science and math in the same manner that she does. To her, it matters little that there is no stipend, one does not need pay to do something that gives so much pleasure.

Miss Jenkins is a well-rounded student. She plays basketball with the St. Augustine's Falconettes, is a library assistant, a member of the math club and has been on the Dean's List.

After graduation from St. Augustine's, Marie hopes to continue her education and, perhaps to teach. She says that she might like to eventually do lab work. "What's because I love working on science equations and math problems," she said.

Selma Church Plans Sunday Celebration

SELMA - Local citizens and persons from other sections of the state will hold a special service at Barnes, Chapel A.M.E. Zion Church at 11 a.m. Sunday, in memory of the late Edgar Daniel Barnes, founder of the church.

It will mark the fourth anniversary of his death. It was his deep devotion to the tenets of the A.M.E. Zion Church that motivated him to organize a group of local citizens, in 1909, into a congregation and have the late Bishop J.W. Hood admit it into the Central North Carolina Conference. The church became the head of the Selma Circuit, which was composed of two other churches, one at Locomo and the other at Avery's Grove. He moved to Durham in 1924 and was one of the founders of Kyles Temple A.M.E. Zion Church.
