rites were said at Mount Pisgah United Presbyterian Church USA, Sunday, for the community's oldest known colored American of mixed ancestry. Joseph Willis Parker St., whose age is variously stated as being from 95 to near 100 years, was the son of the late Jeffrey and Mary J. Parker and a native of Nash County, where he spent his early life. After several years in New York, where he studied law and real estate management during his early years, he returned home to help form the first Negroowned Parker - Fuller Realty Company which operated until the depression years of the 1930s.

Parker, in addition to having been one of the early members and officers of the local Presbyterian Church (later silencing himself voluntarily), became the pioneer leader of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAA-CP) here during the pre-World War One years, later helping to revive the third (present) NAACP effort here which has been active since early 1939. During those years, Parker had chartered a railway coachas was the custom in those years-to take a group to NAACP national conventions when they only met in NYC and other big cities northward.

The writer visited Mr. Parker a few months ago in the Rest Home where he spent the last several months. We found him cheerful and still able to relate historical events with much larity.

Parker was married to the former Cora Hines, who preceded him in death, as did their on Dr. Joseph W. Parker, Jr., who died in an auto accident several years ago.

Dr. Parker's widow, four randchildren, three great grandchildren, a foster daughter and a niece survive.

The Rev. Lloyd Belton Morris, Mount Pisgah minister, conducted the final rites.
