Great Blacks In History

BY MISS ELLA L. JACKSON

Each week, we shall write about one great black person in history. Here is our third personality:

DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR.
(Father of Our Civil Rights--1929-1968)

So many things have been said about the late Rev. Dr. King. Although he is dead, we must continue lauding him.

The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., was born January 15, 1929, in Atlanta, Georgia; the son of a Baptist minister. He attended Morehouse College in Atlanta and, in his junior year decided to be a clergyman. He received his Bachelor's degree from Morehouse. In 1947, he was ordained in the Ebenezer Baptist Church where his father, the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Sr. was pastor.

Before Dr. King, Jr. had his own church, he pursued his studies at Crozier Theological Seminary in Chesterfield, Pa. He became the first black class president and was named the outstanding student. At Crozier, he earned the Pearl Plafner Prize for a scholarship to study for a doctorate. He received his PhD degree from Boston University in 1955 and DD degree from both Boston Theological Seminary and the University of Chicago's Theological Seminary. During this period he also pursued courses at Harvard University.

While working on his doctorate, he met Miss Coretta Scott, a graduate of Antioch College and a native of Georgia. They were married in 1953, and had four children, two boys and two girls.

In 1954, he became pastor of the Dexter Avenue Baptist Church in Montgomery, Ala., and, in 1955, became a crusader for racial equality, with a sermon that led to a court ruling that the Montgomery buses be desegregated.

In 1963, at a rally climaxing the civil rights march on Washington, Dr. King made his now-famous "I Have a Dream" speech. The enormous impact of his words was one of the reasons he was present at the capitol when President Johnson signed the Voting Rights bill, which struck down literacy tests, provided federal registrars, and assured the ballot to unregistered blacks. He was the youngest black man and youngest person ever to win the Nobel Peace Prize for his contributions toward the ultimate passing of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Dr. King's belief in non-violent action led him to state, "Non-violence is our greatest weapon. It may get me crucified, I may even die. But I want it said, even if I die in the struggle: 'He died to make me free!'" Another of his final statements before he died was this: "All of God's children will be able to join hands and sing... Free at last, free at last... Thank God, Almighty, we're free at last."

Lastly, with all of his vast knowledge and achievements, Dr. King was a man of the common and poor people as well as the intellectual people. Of all the black leaders that we have heard about, read about and listened to in person, truly Dr. King was the greatest black leader in our long history.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:
"Wherever there is a human being, I see God-given rights inherent in that being, whatever may be the sex or complexion."

Sgt. Austin Is Part Of Recent Show

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C.-Staff Sergeant Edward R. Austin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Miles B. Austin of 108 Webb St., Fayetteville, participated in a recent U. S. Strike Command joint forces demonstration at Pope AFB and Fort Bragg, N. C. Sergeant Austin, a munitions specialist with his unit at Myrtle Beach AFB, S. C., was part of the Tactical Air Command element that operated fighter, airlift and reconnaissance aircraft during the three-day display.

The demonstration--nicknamed Brass Strike VIII--provided officers attending military service schools and other select military and civilian dignitaries a first-hand look at the latest in defense hardware and equipment. The display was climaxed with an air show and joint firepower demonstration.

The sergeant is a 1966 graduate of E. E. Smith High School and attended North Carolina A&T University at Greensboro, North Carolina. His wife is the former Rubie N. Bean.

Some people can save enough on heating this winter to cover the cost of cooling next summer.

It costs around $40 to run two window air conditioning units for the summer.*

And it is possible for some people to actually save this amount on their heating bills this winter.

Exactly how much you will be able to save depends on where you live, how cold the winters and how hot the summers.

But regardless of where you live, and the type of heating system you now have, the following suggestions can help you reduce the cost of heating your home this winter.

The trick is to keep the cold air out, while keeping the warm air in.

You can begin by doing little things like closing your fireplace damper, opening the drapes on windows exposed to sunlight (and closing them at night), and caulking or taping around all windows and doors.

Wilmington: $1.25

Raleigh: $1.50

Asheville: $2.00

See how much money you can save each heating season by installing storm windows (3'x5').

You can reduce heating costs by as much as 15 percent simply by installing storm windows and doors. Not a bad investment.

Investing in insulation is like investing in the bluest of blue chips.

According to the President's advisor on consumer affairs, fuel savings for homes insulated to the minimum FHA standards soon pay for the total cost of insulation.

ON EDUCATIONAL TOYS

Chicago--A noted pediatrician, Dr. Richard I. Feinbloom, told members of the American Academy of Pediatrics that parents waste their money buying scientifically designed crib devices and educational toys for their infants. None, he says, are more effective than plastic rattles, rubber balls or other traditional objects.

EXPENSIVE VISIT

Portland, Ore.--Portland's Mayor Terry Schunk said recently the city may not be able to afford visits by presidential candidates in 1972. A recent 24-hour visit of President Nixon Sept. 25 cost the city $12,000 for police overtime pay.
