Race Relations Center Announces Expansion

lations Information Center has announced expansion of the center's publication and reorganization of the editorial staff. Jim Leeson, who was elected executive director by the RRIC board on Nov. 1, said the semimonthly newsletter, Race Relations Reporter, will be expanded to include six magazine-size editions a year. Leeson also is editor of the center's publications.

"Beginning in January, the first issue of "Race Relations Reporter' every other month will be a 32-page magazine, featuring comprehensive articles reporting and analyzing racial developments in the nation," Leeson said. "Other issues of the 'Reporter' will continue in newsletter form, keeping our readers up-to-date on the current racial developments," he said.

In a reorganization of the editorial staff, Frye Gaillard was named assistant editor for the magazine editions of "Race Rel'ations Reporter.' Mrs. Pat Braden was appointed assistant to the director and will be assistant editor for the newsletter

"The need for reporting on race relations has changed considerably since our predecessor, Southern Education Reporting Service, began its coverage of school desegregation back in 1954," Leeson said. "In the 1950's and 1960's, the job was one of listing the day-to-day developments, primarily in education. But, today, the issue of race relations has spread into every aspect of American life and activism has begun in all the nation's racial and eth-

RALFIGH, N. C., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1971 Zeta PhiBeta Sorority's Annual Blue Revue Termed Success

Omicron Zeta Chapter of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. presented its annual Blue Revue at the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium with Basileus Ellen Spivey Gaddy bringing greetings ta and Soror Hazel L. Sorrellnarrating the program.

In keeping with the theme "Zeta-Lites In An Era Of Black Awareness," outstanding blacks in the area were honored guests of the Zeta-Lites and the sorority. Spotlighting the various leaders in the fields of religion, education, politics, govbulbissimo? ernment, sports, economics as well as leaders in Greekdom, gave all a deeper sense of ethnic pride in the greater Raleigh area. Along with these out standing blacks, Zeta-Lite parents, "Women of the Year" and community workers played a key role in the presentation. Black art in music, song, dance and drama by local black artists recreated and reflected the life style of their creators. Each Zeta-Lite was a "Queen" in her own right, but among them, anyone could tell by looking at the five finalists, anyone of them could qualify for the coveted regal role of 'Miss Blue Revue,' or anyone of them would make a gracious lady in waiting. However, the finalist chosen were as follows: Fourth runner sup, Cheryl

CLAYTON BY MRS. CARRIE R. WATSON

CLAYTON - Mount Vernon Christian Church of Christ opened Sunday School at 10 a.m. with the hymn, "Precious Lord', and prayer by the superintendent Deacon Melvin Whitley. The lesson was discussed by our pastor, Rev. G. R. Gates. A solo was rendered by Deacon Lelo Lombert and wife Fran. The morning worship service began at 11 o'clock. The choir sang, "What A Fellowship.' Scripture lesson was taken from Hebrews 11:6. The prayer was given by Deacon Lee Mitchell accompanied by the hymn, "I Love the Lord." The ushers then took up the mission offering. Announcement of visitors included the following guests: Mrs. Lucy Mae Williams, Raleigh; Mr. Billy Rand, New York, the son of Mrs. Euzelia Holder. The Rev. G. H. Gates then came forth with the mes-He took his text from sage. Psalm 22:37. His subject was, "Get the word around out in the community, and everywhere you go.' We had a wonderful time in the spirit. At 4 p.m. we had as our guest speaker the Reverend L.E. Young from Red Hill Christian Church. He brought us a wonderful sermon, and his choir sang for their o-pening hymn, "I'll Tell It pening hymn, Wherever I Go." Prayer was offered by the Reverend Thomas Davis after which Rev. Young took his text from St. Matthew 18:16-17. His subject was, "Upon this rock I'll build my church.' He injected that we are coworkers of God for Christ. The collection was raised for the day. Hot coffee was then served with dougnuts. A CONCERNED CONGRESSMAN Congressman John A. Blatnik (D.-Minn.) is concerned about some of the new, non-phosphate detergents. He wrote in a recent magazine article: " . a wide ar ray of low quality but higher priced hoaxes, some of them dangerously caustic, is being fobbed off on American housewives under the banner 'Look - no nasty phosphates!'
