What can the Carolina Cougar front office staff do to restore large audience crowds at games played in Raleigh?

Mr. Jesse Andrews
"I think if the Cougars offered some promotional nights in Raleigh, they could get the crowd attendance up again. Now that they have better facilities at N. C. State, maybe this will increase the attendance this season."

Black GOPs Give Paper On Position

CHARLOTTE - The North Carolina Black Republican Caucus recognizes that the plight of the Republican Party in North Carolina is due to the fact that it has not gone after the black vote and has not properly recognized, nor attempted to reward, those who have worked in its interest, throughout the years.

The Black Caucus, due to its dedication to the principles of Republicanism and believing that it is the one agency that can lift North Carolina from the doldrums of mediocrity, is determined to flex its muscle in making this possible.

Its first job is to acquaint

RCA Takes Stand On City Schools

At its regular November meeting, held at the East Raleigh YWCA, great concern was expressed about the situation facing black students in the Raleigh school system. The general discussion centered around the lack of achievement. The president said that many students had failed and that many lacked motivation.

It was suggested that RCA appoint a special committee to study the problems in the schools as well as to stimulate interest in vocational education, and to become more knowledgeable in determining the type of courses and equipment necessary for the varied and best training possible to meet the vocational needs of

From Raleigh's Official Police Files

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column or feature is produced in the public interest with an aim towards eliminating its contents. Numerous individuals have requested that they be given the "consideration of overlooking their listing on the police blotter. This we would like to do. However, it is not our position to be judge or jury. We merely publish the facts as we find them reported by the arresting officers. To keep out of the Crime Beat Columns, merely means not being registered by a police officer in reporting his findings while on duty. So simply keep off the "Blotter" and you won't be in The Crime Beat.

WOMAN IS ROBBED

Miss Dianne Marie Tuck, 916 S. Bloodworth Street, told Officer R. Devone at 1:21 p.m. Friday, that she laid her wallet on the bed in her room. "There were two colored males in the living room, which is next to my room," the young lady told the officer. She also said that she saw one of the males kept looking in her room and also said she later saw him coming out of her room. She did not identify the two men. Stolen was $56 in cash.
