Another week is with us for which we should be thankful to have lived to see. So many have traveled the path, never to return.

With love, grace, and a closer faith in God, remembering we should remember again that Jesus is patiently watching and waiting for all of us to enter that Home of Grace.

Throughout the country, griefs of love and tears followed the death of Mahalia

NCCU Will Present The 'Owl And The Pussycat'

DURHAM - The Department of Dramatic Arts of North Carolina Central University has selected the Broadway and Hollywood comedy hit "The Owl and the Pussycat" as its next major production. One unique feature about the show, which will run Feb. 22-24 in the school's B. N. Duke Auditorium is that the director, Harvey L. Patterson, is a student.

Drama department chairman, Dr. Randolph Umberger, feels that Patterson has proven through his outstanding work in theatre his ability to handle such a feat. Patterson, an honor student from Cherryville, has worked in some capacity on every production the university has offered since his freshman year. In 1970 the youthful director was chosen to be an exchange student in theatre at Jackson, who left a map for young people. Parents should tell their children of the wonderful life Mahalia Jackson lived, encourage them to be of use in this world, so when they have crossed the river, there will be a token of love, a token of usefulness, the world forever will remember.

Her body was flown to New Orleans for burial. A life that had ceased its beautiful songs where only God is listening as she was known as the "Queen of Gospel Singers." President Nixon spent moments of Tribute in honor of this beautiful character.
