Annual Freedom Day Set Here By State's NAACP

Candidate Chisholm In State

New York Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm, the first black woman ever to run for the presidency of the United States, is back in the Tarheel State this week.

She arrived at the Asheville airport at 11:17 a.m. Wednesday for a rally and speech. She addressed a large group at the University of North Carolina at Asheville and walked in the neighborhood there.

From Asheville, she went to Thomasville, where she arrived at 11:30 a.m. Then Mrs. Chisholm went on to High Point and on to Winston-Salem, where a giant rally was held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Winston-Salem State University. She went from there to North Carolina Central University, Durham, where she has scheduled at 9:30 p.m. rally.

On Thursday, Mrs. Chisholm is scheduled to have breakfast at Fort Bragg at 8:30 a.m., tour the Army post and go on to Fayetteville State University for an 11 a.m. press conference. She will address the student body at 12 noon (Thu. day). At 1 p.m., she is slated to have lunch with CELEBRATES 100th BIRTHDAY HERE - Mrs. Carolina Pierce Woods of 815 E. Hargett Street, celebrated her 100th birthday on Monday, May 1st. Mrs. Woods, who lives with a daughter, Miss Odell Woods, has lived at this address for some 85 years. She is still active (when she feels up to it) in a vegetable garden, which is located in her back yard. Married in Raleigh to the late William Woods, Mrs. Woods received her present home as a wedding present from her husband. Since she likes to quilt, she has worn glasses for only about ten years. Many black and white friends called to say hello and happy birthday last Sunday, and Monday and are still dropping by to see her. The centenarian-plus has most of her original teeth and can be seen smiling whenever someone drops by to see her. She is a native of Duplin County, but has spent about all of her adult life in Raleigh. Happy birthday, "Aunt" Carolina.

Candidate Writes To The Editor

DEAR SIR:
May I salute you for last week's Front Page editorial, "THE OVERLOOKED 80 PERCENT." As a former reporter and editor (The Raleigh Times) I know that a crusading journalist must frequently stand alone on behalf of the readership he serves. At times he almost appears to be talking to himself because of the indifference of others.

The purpose of this letter, however, is to assure you that you do NOT stand alone in your insistence upon a technical training program in North Carolina's high schools. Please know that I stand with you. I am sold on your concept of equipping high school graduates to step into good-paying tradesmen's jobs upon graduation from high school. If only 20 per cent of our high school graduates go on to colleges then let's get busy and do more to prepare the remaining 80 per cent to share in Wake County's growth and prosperity. I am seeking one of Wake County's six seats in the House

BOBBY SEALE INTRODUCES CHISHOLM-San Francisco: Black Panther Chairman Bobby Seale clasps hand of Rep. Shirley Chisholm (D-N. ATLANTA - Black servicemen at Myrtle Beach Air Force base in South Carolina are victims of housing discrimination, and Air Force procedures based on the 1968 Fair Housing Law seem ineffective to combat it, according to South Today.

At least one Negro airman has been court-martialed for going AWOL because he was unable to obtain decent off-base housing from local whites.

The description of conditions in Myrtle Beach appear in an article in the May, 1972 issue of South Today, a publication of the Southern Regional Council. The article was written by Bill Winn, an Atlanta freelance writer.

CRIME BEAT

From Raleigh's Official Police Files
Surrendered: A man whose name is not given in the public interest with an aim towards obtaining his contents. Numerous individuals have requested that they be given the consideration of overlooking their listing on the police blotter. This we would like to do. However, it is not our position to be judge or jury. We merely publish the facts as we find them reported by the arresting officers. To keep out of the Crime Beat column, merely means not being registered by a police officer in reporting his findings while on duty. So simply keep off the "blotter" and you won't be in the Crime Beat.

(SLICED) BY THREE

Raymond Thompson, 6 N. State Street, told Officer M. H. Hicks at 4:32 p.m. Saturday, that he was walking down the street, in the 700 block of E. Davis, "and I was jumped on from behind a row of box bushes." He said three subjects attacked him and he was unable to give any descriptions. Thompson said the trio did not get any personal property from him. He received a knife laceration on the left shoulder.

JOSEPH BLALOCK
Policeman
Has Art On Display Here

Police Officer Joseph Blalock, a native of Raleigh and now a member of the Raleigh Police Force, has his one-man art show on display at the New Bern Avenue Richard B. Harrison Library auditorium this month. The library is located at 1313 New Bern Avenue.

Having grown up in the Lincoln Park area and attending Lucille Hunter Elementary School, Blalock took up drawing and painting in elementary school as a hobby. During his elementary days, Officer Blalock was a CAROLINIAN newsboy, serving under the supervision of Charles R. Jones, now managing editor. He graduated from Berry O'Kelly High School in 1960 and joined the military service. Blalock was a member of the 82nd Airborne and spent two years in Germany during his six-year tenure in the armed services. He was well-known for his many parachute exhibitions.

After receiving an honorable discharge in 1965, Blalock joined the Raleigh Police department. (See POLICEMAN, P. 2)
