

Rev. McCallum Named District Supt. By Methodists

District To Cover 56 C'ties

REV. JAMES H. MCCALLUM

Reverend McCallum is a native of Robeson County, North Carolina. He graduated from the R. B. Iwan High School in Maxton, Fayetteville State University, and A. T. University, with the B. S. and M. S. Degrees. He studied at the School of Evangelism at Scarritt College, Nashville, Tennessee, and at Southeastern Seminary, Wake Forest.

McCallum, 53, has been in the pastorate for 29 years. For 21 years he also served as teacher and principal in the Robeson County Schools. He has served churches in Columbus, Cumberland, Hoke, Pichmond, Polk, and Wake Counties. After a pastorate of six years at John Wesley Church

Sets Fete For Thurs.

NEW YORK - In pursuit of peace and justice, freedom and dignity for all people, the Young Women's Christian Association of the U. S. A. will be joined by some 100 national organizations in a YWCA National Convocation on Racial Justice on Thursday, June 15 at the Americana Hotel in New York City.

Sets Fete For Thurs.

Approximately 2,000 persons representing government, in-

R. J. Brown Will Appear Here Sunday

First Cosmopolitan Baptist Church, 1515 Cross Lark Rd., Raleigh, will have its Annual Men's Day Program Sunday, June 18. The featured speaker

R. J. Brown Will Appear Here Sunday

First Cosmopolitan Baptist Church, 1515 Cross Lark Rd., Raleigh, will have its Annual Men's Day Program Sunday, June 18. The featured speaker will have its Annual Men's Day Program Sunday, June 18. The featured speaker

ROBERT J. BROWN

SEEKING CONGRESSIONAL SEAT - ATLANTA, Ga.: Atlanta Community Relations Chairman Andrew Young (striped suit) smiles in state Democratic Headquarters on June 12 as he announces that he is seeking the 9th congressional seat. (L-R) Jesse Hill, Joan McClinton, Jean Young, wife; Andre Young, daughter; Chris Berry, secretary to Democratic Party. (UPI)

Former NUL Head Asks For An Agency

WASHINGTON, D. C. - Vernon E. Jordan, Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, last Friday, called for establishment of a federal agency to develop and implement a national policy of urban development, with power to override local zoning regulations.

In testimony prepared for delivery before the House Subcommittee on Housing of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, Mr. Jordan pointed to the problems of rising land costs, net loss of housing units for low and moderate income families, and conflicting jurisdictional policies. He said that "a small percent of developable land be set aside for the planned use of land for urban growth," and suggested a National Urban Growth Agency be formed.

Jordan stated: "A National Urban Growth Agency as I have described should have the power to acquire land in advance of need. Such a land-banking phenomena could have the greatest impact in less developed areas standing in the line of potential urban growth. By rationally planning the improvement and development which must inevitably occur, such an agency could maximize the opportunities to create sound and balanced communities, and adjust the competing needs for residential, commercial, and industrial uses.

"There is no shortage of models. We need only to look to

Whiskey Cited As A Motive

A 25-year-old woman, Mrs. Delois Jackson Bullock, 711 Jamaica Dr., has been accused by her 'husband' and a witness of trying to kill the 36-year-old 'husband,' Aaron Holmes, Jr., some address.

Officer A. C. Munday reported at 9:11 p. m. Tuesday, that he received a call to 304 Pugh Street. "When I arrived on the scene, the complainant (Holmes), stated his wife had stabbed him."

Carlon Phillip Winters, 958 Harp Terrace, (Hallfax Court), the witness, said he was in the Pugh Street room with them and said Holmes started to go and get some more whiskey, "and Delois Bullock didn't want him to get any more."

Mr. Winters declared, "An argument started and Delois stabbed Holmes in the chest with a butcher knife. "Delois had been carrying the butcher knife all day and stated on one occasion that if Holmes bothered her that day, she was going to kill him."

Miss Bullock, who was last seen wearing a flowered blouse and white slacks, is reported to be five feet tall and weighs approximately 100 pounds. She is reported to be a native of the state of Mississippi. She is reported to be a native of the state of Mississippi. She is reported to be a native of the state of Mississippi.

He said the participants, most of them connected with agencies or institutions serving the Black community, will explore, from a Black point of view, cultural linkage of Black people throughout the world, definition of Black life styles and the Black value system. Means by which to serve the community better will be among the major things to be discussed. H. F. Monsieur Andre Coulbary, Ambassador from the Republic of Senegal to the United States, will keynote the Institute at 9:30 a. m. on July 10. His topic will be "Black Man". Thereafter, each morning, Mondays through Fridays, different speakers will address the participants on topics ranging from politics and economics to

Francis Employed At Shaw University

Director Of Apollo Heights Succumbs

KNELLA G. FRANCIS

Funeral Held For A&T Grad

Funeral services for Knella G. Francis, Cooperative Education Placement Counselor at Shaw University, were held Monday afternoon at the St. Ambrose Episcopal Church with Father Arthur Calloway, officiating. Burial followed in Carolina Biblical Gardens.

Francis died on Friday, June 9.

Francis was born in Barbuda, British West Indies, son of the late James T. and Thekla A. Francis. He came to the United States to attend Hampton Institute before transferring to A&T State University where he received the B.S. degree. North Carolina State University awarded him the Master of Education degree in 1970.

He returned to the West Indies. (See FRANCIS OBIT P. 2)

E. Williams Prexy Of Joint Center

WASHINGTON, D. C. - Eddie N. Williams, vice president for Public Affairs at the University of Chicago, has been named president of the Joint Center for Political Studies in Washington, D. C. The announcement was made by Louis Martin, vice president and Executive Director of the Chicago Daily Defender and chairman of the Board of Governors of the Center. Williams is expected to assume his new duties early in July.

Martin also announced the resignation of Frank D. Reeves who has served as executive director of the Center since its establishment two years ago.

The Joint Center for Political Studies is a non-profit, tax exempt body co-sponsored by Howard University and the Metropolitan Applied Research Center. It is funded by a grant from the Ford Foundation.

"The Board of Governors is very pleased that Eddie Williams has accepted the position and we are confident that he will do an outstanding job," Martin said. He also noted that a growing number of minority elected and appointed public officials across the country look to the Center for information and assistance.

Mitchell Sviridoff, vice president of the Ford Foundation, welcomed the appointment of Williams and voiced the hope for a Speciality In Food For Diabetics -- (Sweetstake)

Appreciation Money SPOTLIGHT THIS WEEK NATURAL HEALTH FOODS

TO BE HONORED - Left to right are: Moss H. Kendris, Mayor Clarence U. Henderson and Frank P. Thomas. These three will be honored by the National Newspaper Publishers Association at its annual convention in Miami, Fla., June 21-24. Mayor Henderson will receive the NNPA Distinguished Service Award; Kendris, a noted public relations counselor, will be cited for founding Black Press Week in 1958; and Thomas, editor-publisher of the Mobile Beacon and Tuscaloosa Citizen, will be presented the Distinguished Publisher's Award. (See story above).

NNPA To Cite 3 At Confab

MIAMI (NNPA) - Mayor Richard G. Hatcher of Gary, Ind., will receive the Distinguished Service Award of the National Newspaper Publishers Association (NNPA) at its 32nd Annual Convention here, June 21-24, President Garth C. Reeves, Sr., of the Miami Times announced this week.

To be honored along with Mayor Hatcher are Moss H. Kendris, information officer of the Pilot Police Relations Project of the District of Columbia, and founder of Black Press Week in 1958; and Frank P. Thomas, editor-publisher of the Mobile Beacon and Tuscaloosa Citizen, who has been on the civil rights firing line ever since he first escorted Autherine Lucy to the campus of the University of Alabama in 1953 and started down a mob that threatened to lynch him.

Presentation of these honors at the Sheraton-Four Ambassadors will climax the publishers' awards banquet at which on June 23, $12,000 in scholarships from M. J. Reynolds Industries and Coca-Cola USA will be given to eight deserving high school graduates, and $14,000 in prizes will be awarded to member newspapers and their staffs for journalistic achievements in 1971.

The scholarship funds will be supplemented by NNPA which devotes one-fourth of all membership dues to journalism

(See NNPA TO P. 2)

Lt. Hinton Finishes Top School

Lieutenant Otis L. Hinton, Jr., Raleigh Police Department, was graduated from the University of Louisville's Southern Police Institute in ceremonies held Friday, June 2.

The Southern Police Institute

Top School

Lieutenant Otis L. Hinton, Jr., Raleigh Police Department, was graduated from the University of Louisville's Southern Police Institute in ceremonies held Friday, June 2.

The Southern Police Institute in graduating its forty-seventh class, now has trained 1,641 law enforcement officers in its administrative officers course. Another 2,570 officers have attended the Institute's seminars.

The course, which lasts 12 weeks, includes 330 hours of classroom instruction. Subjects taken by the officers for college credit are police administration; police personnel management; constitutional law, evidence and criminal procedure; and psychology for law enforcement personnel.

During the Southern Police Institute's 21 years of operation, 805 police departments from 47 states, the U. S. Army, the U. S. State Department, and 28 foreign countries have sponsored law enforcement officers in the Institute's program.

Graduates of the Institute serve as chiefs of police, superintendents of state police, or heads of county law enforcement agencies in 163 organizations. Hundreds of other graduates work in top staff positions in their respective agencies.

In addition to the fees paid by students, the Institute re-

(See LT. HINTON P. 2)

CRIME BEAT

From Raleigh's Official Police Files

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column or feature is prepared in the public interest with an aim toward eliminating its contents. Numerous individuals have requested that they be given the consideration of overlooking their names on the police blotter. This we would like to do. However, it is not our position to be judge or jury. We merely publish the facts as we find them reported by the arresting officers. To keep out of the Crime Beat columns, merely means not being registered by a police officer as reporting his findings while on duty. So simply keep off the "blotter" and you won't be in The Crime Beat.

'WHOLE FAMILY JUMPED ME'

Miss Salida Neil Sanders, 13-05 Walnut Street, told Officer E. Williams at 9:08 p.m. Saturday, that she had attempted to pay Miss Deborah Primous some money and said Miss Primous refused to accept it. The woman said at this time, the whole family "jumped on me and beat me up, causing injury to my left arm." Arrested and charged with assault were Misses Deborah Primous, 16, Marcia White, 17, Josephyn Primous, 16, and Miss Sanders, Jr., all of 1305 and 1306 Walnut St. They were charged with engaging in an affray. Miss Sanders was treated for a three-inch laceration of the arm.