Jest For Fun

BY MARCUS H. BOULWARE THE "TRIMMER"

It just so happened that I was reading one evening late a portion of the Gospels in the New Testament, and the story dealt with Jesus in the Wilderness where he was tempted of Satan. Well, when I got in bed, naturally I had a dream about the devil - oh, I mean Satan.

In the arms of dreams, the devil carried by a descending elevator to his Kingdom of Hell to see what it was like. He spoke of it in glowing terms. In one department were a large group of people who were to be cast into our darkness. But the group which interested me most was "the Trimmer." They were the individuals who had not made up their minds - they were not for the devil or for God. They were running to and fro - screaming in pain - that hurt the eardrum.

Since they were not for God or the devil, I asked Satan what would be their fate. He said, I don't care. I'll turn them over into the hands of God even if he doesn't want them.

Worrying over what would be done with these people who could not decide for themselves followed me all the next day.

Why should I be worrying - I had no business with the devil anyway.

Some City Tags Are Defective

City officials this week became aware that some city auto tags are defective. Less than a dozen plates have been returned because of paint peeling off. All defective tags will be replaced by the City. Citizens should remember to bring their damaged plates with them to the second floor of the Municipal Building. The City tags are manufactured by the Prison Enterprises Department of the State Department of Corrections.

Assistant Director of the Enterprises Department, L. B. Powell said that this is the first time something like this has ever occurred and that it is still a mystery, but that his people are investigating it.

Powell also said that all defective tags will be replaced at no charge to the City. Raleigh residents are reminded to have City tags displayed by February 15.

CHURCH NEWS

TRINITY FREEWILL BAPTIST - Services were held Sunday, Jan. 21 at 1 p.m. at the YMCA on S. Bloodworth St. with Rev. Mills of Shaw University in charge. The pastor, Rev. C. C. Alford of Fayetteville, was attending a funeral. After the call to worship, the congregation sang a beautiful hymn, Yield Not To Temptation. Pastoral prayer was made by Rev. Mills. There is a Fountain was then sung. The scripture was taken from the third chapter of Isaiah 1-6. He used as a subject I'll Go. From that theme, he preached a soul-stirring message. Bro. William Banks offered prayer. Accompanying Rev. Mills and his wife were two students and another minister, all from Shaw University. We invite you to worship with us on the first Sunday in February with Rev. C. C. Alford, presiding.

UNITED HOUSE OF PRAYER FOR ALL PEOPLE - On Sunday, Jan. 21, Sunday School began at 9 a.m. The subject of the lesson was I Come To Do Thy Will found in St. John 10:9-22. The lesson was taught by Missionary Sis. Smith. It concerned Jesus Christ and the New Covenant. A general discussion was given by Elder Dillard.

Gospel service began at 11. The subject of the lesson was Is God Satisfied With Me? which was taken from Gen. 18:20-21. The sermon was given by the pastor, Elder T. Dillard.

At 5 p.m. the youth service was held and at 7:30 evening worship began. Services are held Sundays and nightly at 7:30 p.m. You are cordially invited to attend our worship services.

the normal hours of the library. Mon. Wed. 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Tues. Thurs. Fri. 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Sat. 1 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.; Telephone: 832-2942.

The new juvenile books are designed for children, teen-agers, and young adults and cover hundreds of subjects and interest areas. The professional books, which deal with many of the problems confronting education today, will have special appeal for teachers, librarians, curriculum specialists, and school administrators in general. The concerned parent and citizen also should find the exhibit at both levels a rewarding one to visit.

The exhibit is locally sponsored by Wake County Public Libraries and Wake County Public Schools in cooperation with Books on Exhibit, a national exhibiting service now in its 22nd year.

Spencer Shaw To Lead Session

DURHAM - Master storyteller Spencer Shaw will conduct a one-day workshop in oral literature for children for the Early Childhood Library Specialist Program at North Carolina Central University, Friday, January 26.

Shaw, who is associate professor at the School of Librarianship, the University of Washington, Seattle, is the author of "I'll Tell You a Story," and "Tell Me A Story," published respectively in "Wonderful World of Books," and in "Recreation Leadership."

His lecture is sponsored by a Carnegie Corporation grant to the program.

Mrs. Tommie M. Young, director of the early childhood program, announced that the workshop will begin at 9 a.m. Friday, with luncheon scheduled from 12 to 1, and will end at 3 p.m.

Mrs. Young said professionals, paraprofessionals, parents, and teachers are invited to attend the workshop in Room 205 of the James E. Shepard Library. Shaw will tell stories to children as part of the workshop.

COLLEGE WOMEN MEET

The new year began with a new dedication by the women of National Association of College Women, for service in education, civic affairs, and human relations.

The January meeting of NACW was held at the lovely home of Mrs. Merlyn Lytle, 1817 Waller Place. We were graciously entertained by this month's hostesses - Mesdames Thelma C. Heartley, Gaybelle Harris, Ethel Jones, Merlyn W. Lytle and Pearle McDonald. These hostesses served a delicious light supper.

Mrs. Mary B. Graham, program chairman, presented Mrs. Lillian Alston, Housing Manager of Glenwood Towers Housing Towers, a high rise housing complex for senior citizens, is one of Raleigh's newest and finest facilities. Mrs. Alston told about the facilities to acquaint us with the program so that recommendations could be made for people needing these facilities and to solicit assistance from NACW. Some members rendering service there already are Ethel Jones, Maggie Holly, Merlyn Lytle and Mary B. Graham. Other members showed enthusiasm to render service.

Other projects are to help with Community Day Care Center, sponsor a child to camp, and sponsoring groups from Women's Prison.

Final plans are in the making for Founders Day activities which will be held February 16-18. It will begin with a banquet at St. Augustine's College, Mrs. Alberta Forte Saunders, speaker and conclude with church services at Eagle Rock United Church, speaker Rev. George Latham.

Members present were Mesdames Grace W. Kennedy, Annie M. Rich, Ruby McKinney, Margaret L. Hayes, Mary B. Graham, Elizabeth M. Jordan, Etta S. Solomon, Ura Jones, Mable P. Casey, Annie T. Webb, Gaybelle Harris, Catherine E. Quick, Jeanette Beckwith, Pearle S. McDonald, Winnie Laceywell, Maggie J. Holley, Mabel P. Casey, Alberta F. Sanders, Fannie Taylor, and Beverly V. McClain.

Holley To Participate In Program

ELIZABETH CITY - Leonard Holley, a junior at Elizabeth City State University, has been selected to participate in the Brookhaven Semester Program, during the spring of this semester. The selection of Holley, a physical science and mathematics major, increases the selection of ECSU science majors for participation in scientific training programs. Last summer, Alma Jenkins, sophomore biology major, participated in Meharry Medical College's bio-medical sciences program.

The program at Brookhaven is being sponsored in cooperation with the 13-member Regional Cooperative Association in Science and Mathematics. Representing ECSU in the Association is Dr. Sekender A. Khan, Chairman of the Biology Department. In making the announcement, Dr. Khan also revealed that LeGrand Newman, biology major, class of 1966, is employed by the Brookhaven National Laboratory.

While at Brookhaven, Holley, a native of Aulander, N.C., will work with an experienced research team in chemistry, attend classes conducted by members of the laboratory's professional staff and attend formal and informal seminars. Courses of study during the 16-week program, will include such areas as biochemistry, cellular and molecular biology, general physics and physical chemistry.
