

Black NC Doctors Back Med School

ALLEGED COP KILLER UNDER HEAVY GUARD - New York - Suspected Black Liberation Army member, Andrew Jackson (C) is under heavy guard as he is taken from FBI headquarters June 8, Jackson, 26, wanted in connection with the killings of four New York City police officers, was arrested in a pre-dawn raid on his west side apartment. (UPI)

Three-Point Program Is Accepted

The Old North State Medical Society, the oldest black medical organization in the country, meeting here last week, at the Sir Walter Hotel, adopted a three-point program, expressing a pro-people attitude and their concern Engineering will introduce distress for medical help will go unheard and unheeded.

The Old North State Medical Society based its resolutions on the shortage of physicians in North Carolina on a recent documented, comprehensive study which was done by a sub-committee of the Board of Governors of the organization. The study concluded that even with recommended expanded programs, the need for doctors cannot be met by existing schools of medicine. The study went on to point out that a further increase in student enrollment would adversely affect the operating efficiency and would jeopardize the quality of medical education presently being offered by the existing schools. Further, the report showed and included in the resolutions adopted by the Old North State Medical Society, the association voiced its opposition to the expansion of existing institutions and the society endorsed the establishment of a new degree granting school of medicine as a most logical and feasible approach toward a solution to the problem of physician shortage in North Carolina. The Resolution Committee also had some strong words concerning the absence of (See N.C. DOCTORS P. 2)

Secret Of Long Life

THE CAROLINIAN

North Carolina's Leading Weekly

VOL. 32, NO. 33 RALEIGH, N.C. WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, JUNE 16, 1973 SINGLE COPY 15c

Youth, 17, Accused As

I Shot, One Missed

67 Blacks To NCSU School

Say Youth Fired Rifle From Auto

BY STAFF WRITER
The name of Rodger Muldrow, 17, 1002 Smithfield Street, seemed to have been on the lips of several local people's minds last Thursday around 9:35 p.m. as he was the person accused in a shooting fracas, armed with a .22 calibre rifle. All of these incidents took place at 227 1/2 E. Lenoir Street. (See SHOOTINGS P. 2)

MRS. MARY CARTER CASWELL CARTER

2 Separate Education Meets Set

North Carolina State University's School of Engineering will introduce 67 young black students from North Carolina high schools to engineering education programs available to them and to opportunities for engineering careers in June. Two five-day sessions will be held. Thirty-three students will attend the first session scheduled June 11-15; the remaining will be on campus June 18-22. The summer program will give black students an opportunity to learn about engineering through direct personal experience, according to Dr. R. G. Carson, associate engineering dean for academic affairs. Joining forces with the NCSU engineering school in sponsoring the event are the North Carolina plants of the Western Electric Company and the General Electric Company plants at Hickory, Hendersonville and Wilmington. The young visitors will live in dormitories and eat at the University Student Center during their stay on campus. (See 67 BLACKS, P. 2)

Franklin Man, 106, Says 'I Done What God Told Me To Do'

Roman Kearney was born in Franklin County, near Franklinton, N.C. According to Social Security Administration records, he was born on June 15, 1873. However, if you ask him when he was born, he'll tell you it was "two years after the surrender." He will be celebrating a birthday this week, perhaps his 106th.

The earliest event Roman remembers is watching the horses walk around, threshing the wheat. There were no threshing machines then, so the wheat had to be placed on the ground and the horses walked around a post threshing it. He went to school until he was twelve. The school was held in one big room. The floor was built out of poles, instead of flat boards. The poles were put together with hand-made nails. He has worked on the farm most of his life. First, he helped his father and then he became a sharecropper. When farmers were first covered by Social Security in 1935, he was still farming. He reported his farm income under Social Security and was able to begin receiving Social Security benefits in 1956. At the present time, Social Security is his only source of income. Social Security records are confidential, but Mr. Kearney gave his consent to publish his story so that others might know the importance of reporting farm income under Social Security.

Check For Chapel Is Presented

With the presentation of two checks, totaling $50,000 came the realization of a dream. The 1969 Legislature had given $50,000 for the construction of a chapel for Dobbs School for Girls - provided that an additional $50,000 be raised through volunteer contributions. The North Carolina Federation of Negro Women's Clubs and other interested citizens took the task as a challenge. The 1971 Legislature then added $85,000 to the project. In a ceremony held in the conference room of the Office of Youth Development, James M. Paige, Commissioner, received the $50,000 - the signal to go ahead. Mrs. Fannie T. Newsome, former president of the North Carolina Federation of Negro Women's Club, Mrs. Julia Taylor, vice president and manager of the Mechanics (See DOBBS CHAPEL P. 2)

ney, and Vida Brodie, all of Franklinton. He makes his home with his daughter, Willie Lee Lawrence. When asked how many grandchildren and great grandchildren he had, Mr. Kearney laughed and said he couldn't count them all, but he did know he had two great-great-grandchildren. Roman still attends church at Hawkins Chapel in Franklinton, where he is a deacon. In past years, he has also served as a Sunday School teacher there. When asked why he thought he had been able to live so long, he said "I attend church and love church and try to do good (See MAN 106 P. 2)

STUDENT BELIEVED KIDNAPED

East Lansing, Mich. - East Lansing Police say June 11 they believe 21-year-old Henry Baltimore, Jr. of Jackson NAPER - East Lansing, Mich. - East Lansing police say June 11 they believe 21-year-old Henry Baltimore, Jr. of Jackson has been abducted. Officials say the Michigan State University honor student testified in May against a man in an armed robbery pretrial examination. According to authorities, Baltimore was last seen May 30th as he left his apartment to go to the MSU Library. (UPI)

NABBED IN PRE-DAWN RAID - New York - Andrew Jackson, 26, and Denise Oliver, who police call a Black Liberation Army spokesman, were arrested in a pre-dawn raid at their brownstone apartment here June 8. The FBI said June 8 the strength of the B.L.A. has been "considerably diminished" with the arrest of key members. "It is no coincidence that four members of the Black Liberation Army were arrested in three days," regional FBI director John Malone said in a joint news conference with N.Y.C. Police Commissioner Donald Cawley. (UPI)

Raleigh Man Attends Teacher Displacement Conference In Atlanta

As a result of a two day seminar in Atlanta, Ga. recently on the plight of the black educator in a unitary school system and the recent federal cut back in the Title I program, it was revealed that school desegregation in the seventeen Southern States has caused approximately 31,500 black teachers and principals to lose jobs at a cost to the black community of approximately $240 million dollars it was asserted by Bernard Allen, Raleigh, Field Consultant for the North Carolina Association of Educators, a participant at the conference. Allen said the conference attracted representatives from all 17 southern states. The conference was sponsored by four organizations which have expressed a concern for the genocide of black educators. The Southern Urban League, the Southern Regional Council, the Southern Center for Studies in Public Policy and the National Education Association. The seminar also dealt with issues on the mass suspension and expulsion of black students in the public schools and the issue on what is happening to the black state colleges and universities in terms of maintaining their identity under the "New Consolidated University (See EMPLOYMENT, P. 2)

Appreciation Feature Has No Winners

For the second straight week no winners claimed their prizes in THE CAROLINIAN'S new Appreciation Money Feature. However, the $30 jackpot is still available for three potential winners this week. Just look for your name on the Appreciation Money page in this week's edition. You too may be a winner. Check the advertisements on page 12 of this week's paper. Persons who see their names in the column on the Money page, SHOULD NOT go directly to the merchants involved but come FIRST to the office of this newspaper, located at 518 E. Martin Street, so that we can identify you FIRST. Please remember that the deadline for claiming your money in the feature is noon on (See APPRECIATION, P. 2)

BULLETIN!

Edward Carson, who served as State Director of the Office of Economic Opportunity here for several months, was called into the office of Dr. Jacqueline Renee Westcott, black Commissioner of Social Services for the State of North Carolina, where he was relieved of his duties, effective immediately. This action took place on Wednesday morning, June 13. Carson, who was on leave from the IBM Corporation, where he could not be determined as the CAROLINIAN was going to press when this information was released. Carson, who once headed the Raleigh Citizens Association, is also black (See MORTICIANS, P. 2)

Husband, Wife Named 'Outstanding' Tutors

Caswell (Buddy) and Mrs. Mary Carter, outstanding local teachers, were recently selected by the students at Millbrook Senior High School as "1973's Teachers Of The Year." The recent election of Mr. Carter represented the second time he has been the favorite teacher of the students at Millbrook. In 1968, he was chosen as commencement speaker by the students. Carter was, for twelve years, mathematics and physics teacher, and dean of men at Shaw University, his alma mater. He taught at Berry O'Kelly High School, Method, 1959-64; West Cary High School from 1965 to 1967, and has since been mathematics teacher at Millbrook Senior High School and chairman of the Mathematics Department. Mrs. Carter has been an English teacher in the North Carolina public schools since 1942. She transferred to Millbrook Senior High in 1968, and has been co-chairman of the English Department since then. Shaw University is Mrs. Carter's alma mater. Both Mr. and Mrs. Carter are members of Davis Street Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Carter is organist, a deacon and a member of the United Presbyterian Women's Organization. She is a member of Beta Lambda Sigma Chapter of the Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority, Raleigh, member of the YWCA World Fellowship and National Council of English Teachers. Mr. Carter is a trustee in his church and clerk of the Session. He is a member of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity. The students at Millbrook Senior High school often quote Mr. Carter. He is called the philosopher of the school, and advisor to all. He gave the school its present motto: "The Great Millbrook where learning and hospitality are trading (See CARTERS ARE, P. 2)

Robinson New Prexy Of Colleges
Dr. Prezell R. Robinson, president of Saint Augustine's College, has been elected president of the board of directors of Cooperating Raleigh colleges. Robinson succeeds Dr. Nash N. Winstead, associate provost at North Carolina State University. Serving with Robinson will be Dr. John E. Weems, president of Meredith College, who was elected vice president of the board. Cooperating Raleigh Colleges is a joint arrangement between the six institutions of higher education in Raleigh: N.C. State University, Shaw University, St. Augustine's College, Meredith College, St. Mary's College and Peace College. The purpose of the organization is to conduct cooperative (See DR. ROBINSON, P. 2)

CRIME BEAT

From Raleigh's Official Police Files
EDWARDS NOTE: This column or feature is produced in the public interest with an aim towards eliminating its content. Numerous individuals have requested that they be given the consideration of overlooking their listing on the police blotter. This we would like to do. However, it is not our position to be judge or jury. We merely publish the facts as we find them reported by the arresting officers. To keep out of the Crime Beat Column, merely means not being registered by a police officer in reporting his findings while on duty. So simply keep off the "Blotter" and you won't be in the Crime Beat.
SAYS HUBBY CHOKED HER
Mrs. Betty Davis, 30, 6-B Hoke Street (Walnut Terrace), told Officer E. Williams at 10:18 p.m. Saturday, that her husband, Samuel Davis, 27, came home that night and, for no apparent reason, began choking and throwing her around the house. An assault warrant was advised and the woman stated that she would sign one. She suffered a bruised neck. (See CRIME BEAT, P. 3)

Appreciation Money SPOTLIGHT THIS WEEK VILLAGE INN PIZZA PARLOR For The Most Appetizing Pizzas In The Area

Charge Of City Rape Pondered

BY STAFF WRITER
A 25-year-old woman, Miss Alberta Banks, 635 Dorothea Drive, allegedly told Officers R. W. Miller and O. T. Perry at 12:30 a.m. last Monday, that she had been raped by 40-year-old George McDaniel, who reportedly has a record of sexual assaults. As the story unfolded, Miss Banks informed the cops that she met Mr. McDaniel in the Teddy Bear Lounge, directly behind the Andrew Johnson Hotel, at about 11 p.m. The woman then admitted that she agreed to meet the man in his room at the above-mentioned hotel, Room 605, "for the purpose of intercourse," with a fee involved. At this point, the general offense report ends, but on the left hand side of this same report, it states that McDaniel "hit the woman with his fist and choked her, resulting in intercourse." Miss Banks suffered cuts on the fingers of her left hand and minor bruises on the right side (See RAPE RAP, P. 2)

Mrs. M. Blalock, Humanitarian, Is Given Last Rites

BY CHARLES R. JONES
Funeral services for Mrs. Maggie Horton Rivers Blalock, 79, 214 Camden Street, were conducted at 4 p.m. Tuesday, June 12, at the St. Matthew A.M.E. Church with the Rev. David L. Morrison, Sr., officiating. Burial followed in Mount Hope Cemetery. A lifelong native of Raleigh, she was born December 31, 1893. Mrs. Blalock professed an abiding faith in Jesus Christ at an early age. She attended the Maple Temple United Church of Christ, then she transferred (SEE, MRS. BLALOCK, P. 2)

Morticians Put 'Life' Into Confab

URHAM - Mrs. Ernestine Scarborough Bynum, president of the N.C. Funeral Directors Association, in her address at the opening session of the 46th state convention Tuesday, told the specialists in the art of preparing for death ceremonies that they must develop a "togetherness" so that they can become more viable in life. Mrs. Bynum, believed to be the first non-male president, told the convention that last rites should not be the utmost design of its members. She pleaded for community involvement, political involvement and religious involvement. The three-day meet will end Thursday when new officers will be elected and installed. There is much speculation as to who will be chosen to head the organization for the next twelve months. With a woman having served for a year, it was the belief of many that youth should be served. The pollsters predicted that yountrui J. C. Gilmore, Winston-Salem, would be tapped. Mrs. Bynum, the daughter of the late John Clarence Scarborough, Sr., who founded Scarborough & Hargett Funeral Home in 1907, and to whose memory the convention souvenir program will be dedicated, asked for the "spirit of togetherness to bind the black (See MORTICIANS, P. 2)

FBI HEAD "RAPS" WITH 'LIBBY' KOONTZ - Columbus, O. - Acting FBI Director William Ruckelshaus (R) speaks to Dr. Elizabeth Koontz (L) of Salisbury, N.C., during the commencement ceremony at Ohio State University June 8. Ruckelshaus, who spoke to 606 graduates, said the legislative and executive branches of the government should exercise greater control over the FBI. (UPI)