Going futher back to the time Paul, we find mention of the same conditions. We face today. The catalog of sins in Romans, chapter one, does not omit any type of sin being practiced today. These things may seem new and shocking to us, but they are no surprise to God. A particular sin may be described as big or small, but it is still evil in God's sight. We may not engage in spectacular public sins, but all of us are guilty of offending God. By sincerely repenting and humbly acknowledging our wrongdoing to Him. He forgives us and we and we know we are forgiven. Let us pray.

O Lord, let Thy teaching be grafted in our hearts so that our lives will be dedicated to the needs of others and to Thee. We confess that we have sinned against you many times by thought, word, and deed. Forgive us our sins. Instill within us a hatred of all evil and give us a sense of righteousness. Help us each day to talk to Thee and to learn to lean upon Thy unfailing wisdom. As we come on the first Sunday in each month to commence avoide. Thy table may this Holy time of communion with Thee bring peace to our often troubled hearts we pray in Christ name. Amen.
